BALK PLOT TO KILL KING CAROL

IRON GUARDISTS FIRE AT PALACE; REVOLT FOILED

Rumanian Soldiers Seize Attackers.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 4, Wednesday (AP).—Gunmen attempted in vain to assassinate King Carol last night in an alleged Iron Guardist plot to seize power and place Crown Prince Michael on the throne.

King Carol.

While the would-be assassins broke thru the palace guard and fired seven shots at a lighted window in Carol's palace, other groups of Iron Guardists attacked the Bucharest radio station and the American owned telephone company's central office. The Iron Guardists are pro-Fascist, but strongly nationalistic.

Similar coups were attempted at Brasov and Constanta, but were quickly crushed.

Iron Guardist Shot.

One Iron Guardist and one palace guard were reported shot in the assassins' attempt to storm the palace here, but neither was wounded fatally.

Many shots were fired in the palace grounds before the attackers were overcome and hustled away by soldiers in the car in which they had arrived at the palace. The attempt on Carol's life occurred at 8:55 p. m. within sight of hundreds of persons, who were strolling in front of the palace.

Several men entered the telephone exchange and wrecked some of the switchboards with hatchets. Most local lines were put out of order. The radio station went off the air after a group of men in uniform burst in and tried to destroy the equipment. All were arrested.

Minimize Assassins' Effort.

The fact that a coup had been attempted was acknowledged in an official communique, but the effort to kill King Carol was minimized.

"On the evening of Sept. 3 an attempt was made at a disturbance of public order," the government communique said. "A group of young men dressed in military uniform forced entry into the radio station pretending to be a military guard. Members of this group did minor damage to the radio station apparatus.

"At the same time at the headquarters of the telephone company similar operations were attempted by a few young men.

"A young man at the same time fired a series of shots from a revolver in front of the palace in a demonstrative way. Similar attempts were made at Brasov and Constanta. Those implicated were arrested and the authorities are inquiring into the matter."

Throw Out Manifestoes.

The various groups made no secret that they were Iron Guardists. In the palace grounds they threw out hundreds of manifestoes signed by Horia Sima, the Iron Guard fuehrer who recently resigned from the cabinet.

These leaflets called for immediate abdication of Carol and for Prince Michael to be proclaimed king in his stead.

[Prince Michael will be 19 in October. He ruled as king from May 10, 1929, to June 7, 1930, while his father, the present king, was in self exile in Paris.]

Assail Transylvanian Grab.

Another circular, signed "Iron Guard," said:

"The nation demands capital punishment for those to blame for Rumania's present troubles.

"We demand an extraordinary tribunal to judge those who brought the country to disaster. They are selling out the country. It is treachery. Those to blame are still in the government and are persecuting the Iron Guard, the only political force which can cope with this difficult moment."

Other manifestoes reviewed the situation which led the government, under pressure of Germany and Italy, to give up northern Transylvania to Hungary.

The situation thru the country became increasingly critical. Immedi-

CARRYING THE MESSAGE TO THE MOUNTAINS

A Housewife's Place Is Out Getting Votes!

BY MARCIA WINN.

What can a woman—an average Chicago housewife—do in the current political campaign?

This question, in the first person singular, is one which many Chicago women, heretofore apathetic toward politics, are asking in rising frenzy this fall. Many, their partisanship at high pitch, wish to make that fact not only known but useful. But how?

In answer, Illinois' two women leaders of the regular political party organizations—Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, Democratic national committeewoman—yesterday each described five ways in which a housewife can become a political asset.

G. O. P.? Here's How.

A Republican woman can:

1. Canvass her precinct to see that all eligible voters are registered.
2. See that every bride, no longer able to vote under her maiden name, goes to room 308 of the city hall and re-registers.
3. See that her friends who have moved, even if from one floor to the next, re-register.
4. Buy a 10 cent scrapbook, paste in it articles on Willkie and other Republican candidates, study these, and work her gleanings into conversation with every one she knows.
5. Attend the A-B-C free school of politics, which will open Sept. 12 in the Hamilton hotel, 18 South Dearborn street, and learn such essentials as how to mark a ballot.

"Every housewife is a stockholder in her government," Mrs. Baur said, "and ought not only to go to the stockholders' meeting on Nov. 5, but should work to get every one else there."

Democratic? Here's How.

A Democratic woman can, in the words of Mrs. Conkey:

1. Raise money.
2. Distribute or disseminate facts to debunk propaganda.
3. Hold neighborhood meetings, nothing being as effective politically as personal contact.
4. Offer her services as a speaker, if she speaks well, or as a publicity writer, if she can do that.
5. Organize radio groups to listen to political broadcasts and call on her neighbors to discuss the campaign and the candidates.

"The housewife can be our most effective worker," Mrs. Conkey said. "I prefer to work with her myself. She is sincere. She is much concerned because of her family's security."

445,000 PUPILS FLOCK TO CITY SCHOOLS AND DO A FULL DAY'S WORK

An estimated 445,000 Chicago public school pupils flocked to school yesterday, and were put to work immediately. Supt. William H. Johnson does not hold with the old system of tapering off summer vacations with half a day spent in finding new rooms. There was a full day of classwork yesterday.

Elementary school enrollment continued to decline, following the birth rate trend, to 294,000, as compared with 296,486 last year. Even the high school enrollment, which is expected to be 142,000, will show a slight decrease. Other branches will increase: special schools from 10,286 to 10,500; junior colleges from 6,567 to 7,200, and the teachers' college from 1,875 to 2,100.

In schools outside of Chicago in Cook county enrollment was estimated at 104,700, an increase of about 2,000 over last year.

FOUR PRISONERS NABBED TRYING TO BREAK JAIL

A desperate attempt at escape by four prisoners—two of them under life sentences—was foiled last night by Thomas O'Malley, assistant superintendent at the county jail, and Raymond Karoleski, a jail clerk. The prisoners had locked Joseph Joyce, a guard, into a cell after tricking him into leaving his post in the control room just off tier B-1 on the main floor of the jail.

They then broke up a heavy bench and were pounding at a cell window with it when O'Malley arrived on his regular rounds. He ran back to the warden's office and obtained two pistols, with which he clubbed three of the men into submission, firing no shots.

The prisoners are Joseph Dallia, 38 years old, 3455 Madison street, who goes to trial this morning on charges of robbery and assault to murder; John Sharpe, 39, of 1702 Jonquil terrace, a fugitive from Pennsylvania; Mathew Vitale, 23, of 1016 South Winchester street, under life sentence for robbery, and William Kobley, 40, of 3018 North Parkside avenue, also under life sentence for armed robbery.

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP).—Germany has introduced time table methods in its air raid defensive measures. A Country Boy Teaches a Zoo About Skunks

This is a story of how James McGee was kind to a skunk and vice versa.

McGee, who lives at 1858 Adams street, was returning from Cedar Lake, Ind., Monday in his car. He was driving in route 30, some miles south of Chicago, when he saw an animal struggling to free itself from a wire fence. He pulled off the road and went to its aid.

McGee used to be a farm boy, so there was no chance of mistaken identity. He knew it was a skunk. But he borrowed a burlap bag from another farm boy, gently freed the exhausted animal from the fence, and dropped it in the sack. Then he tied the bag to the door of his car and resumed his journey. McGee had decided to see that the skunk got a good home.

Wakeful Over Skunk's Fate.

He parked in front of his residence at midnight and went upstairs. But he couldn't sleep. He kept thinking of the skunk, alone and probably frightened, still hanging in the bag. McGee sat in front of a window and watched the bag until 3 a. m. He was afraid some one might steal it. Then he went down to reassure the skunk.

As he did so a squad car drove up. McGee asked the policemen where he could find a good home for the animal. One officer told him to ask Sergt. George Parker at the Warren avenue station.

McGee and the skunk went trustfully to the station. But they left hurriedly when Sergt. Parker, up to his ears in a murder case, roared at them. McGee went back home, parked his car, and sat at the front window watching his friend in the bag until dawn. Then he set out for Brookfield zoo, arriving there before the doors opened.

Skunk Finally Loses Patience.

The skunk, a young fellow apparently born last spring, had been on his best behavior all during the time he was with McGee. But McGee was gone now. And when two keepers began examining the animal's injured leg, the little fellow lost patience and went into action.

Edward H. Bean, zoo director, said the new arrival brought the Brookfield skunk population to three. The other two, a pair, are deodorized. Bean, who was not with the keepers when the skunk became angry, said he thought McGee had made Brookfield a "nice little gift."

The keepers didn't say anything you could repeat.

ENGLISH HAIL SWAP AS GREAT HELP TO FLEET

Explain Pledge of 'No Surrender.'

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP).—The British rejoiced tonight wherever they gathered over the news that 50 over-age United States destroyers will fill the gaps of the royal navy in combating the total German siege of the British Isles.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander greeted "with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction" the transfer of destroyers.

"They come at a time when the strain upon our destroyer fleet has been very great," he said, "and will be of inestimable value to us not only for escorting convoys but also for protecting our coasts from the threat of invasion. This event will strengthen the feeling of good will and friendship between our two great peoples."

Tells of "Greatest Satisfaction."

A foreign office spokesman said that "successful conclusion of this agreement [for delivery to Britain of the destroyers; for lease to the United States of North and South Atlantic air and naval bases] is greeted with the greatest possible satisfaction by his majesty's government and the peoples of the British empire and commonwealth of nations."

The traditionally careful spokesman could not restrain his enthusiasm. He greeted reporters with the words, "For once I've got some good news for you."

The man on the street read President Roosevelt's message and, despite its assurance that the deal does not affect the United States' status of peace, his reaction was something like this:

"It looks like we've got some one with us at last, eh mate?"

"Pledge" Is Explained.

Persons close to the foreign office said they could make "no comment at this stage" on a British pledge to the United States, announced in Washington, to the effect that the British navy never would be sunk or surrendered in the event that waters around the United Kingdom became "untenable."

This assurance from the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, to the United States secretary of state, Cordell Hull, they explained, followed a request by Hull for a clarification of Prime Minister Churchill's declaration some time ago in which he said Britain would never surrender.

Thus it was stated that the assurance was not directly involved in the transfer to Great Britain of the 50 United States destroyers, but might be considered "a parallel development."

Churchill Will Report.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who will describe the agreement to the house of commons on Thursday, went tonight to see the king.

Officials said it was no secret that Britain needed the destroyers—"for convoys, dealing with submarines, and keeping open sea channels between the United Kingdom and the two Americas." This need has become all the more pressing in the face of a formally proclaimed total blockade of British waters by Germany.

The Germans have sunk at least 30 of Britain's 185 destroyers and others have been damaged. There have been some replacemnts from new construction, but the number is a secret. American naval sources said the 50 over-age ships would give the United Kingdom about 200 destroyers for its whole empire. Before the war Germany had 22 destroyers and Italy 61.

Does Windsor Go with Lease? Roosevelt Asked

Aboard Roosevelt Train En Route to Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt merely smiled today when a reporter asked whether "we acquire any interest in the duke of Windsor, by lease or otherwise," in obtaining from Britain a site for a naval or air base in the Bahamas. The duke is governor of the islands.

OFFICIAL BERLIN SILENT; TO STUDY AMERICAN ACTION

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt's announcement of the transfer of 50 over age United States destroyers to Great Britain caused no apparent surprise here tonight and there was no spontaneous reaction.

Official circles and authorized spokesmen were cautious in their comment.

"It's a question of conceivable vast import in relation to which the German attitude could not be defined before a thorogoing study of all aspects of international law involved," one spokesman said.

Without in any way reflecting the official view of the government, many Germans were saying, "It's too late to help England."

Held Good Deal for U. S.

These people feel the transfer of the destroyers will be inadequate help to swing the balance in favor of Britain.

Other German sources still not reflecting the official view, observed that the transfer was a good deal for the United States, holding that 99 year leases meant, for all practical purposes, permanent possession of British properties in the western hemisphere.

These quarters also held that the United States was taking a realistic view of world happenings and that it would be neglecting its own interests if it didn't "stake claims" on British lands within its legitimate sphere of influence.

Italy's Reaction Held Obvious.

ROME, Sept. 2.—The news that President Roosevelt is turning over 50 American destroyers to Britain arrived too late for newspaper or authoritative comment, but the Italian reaction to the move is considered obvious. The fact that the step will constitute considerable aid for Britain and hence will prolong the war is considered enough to cause anger and bitterness in Italy. However, no formal action is expected. Italians have always felt the United States should stick strictly to the western hemisphere and interpret the Monroe Doctrine as meaning America should not interfere in European affairs, just as she admonishes European nations not to interfere in the Americas.

FORMER KAISER'S GRANDSON NOW IN CANADIAN CAMP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 3.—Prince Frederick of Prussia, grandson of former Kaiser Wilhelm and, since his birth an especial favorite of Queen Mother Mary of England, has been in a concentration camp in Canada for a month. The prince is 28 years old.

Word that the Hohenzollern was sent across the Atlantic after his arrest in England as an enemy alien in July came to New York today in a letter from another German prisoner in the camp. Frederick, he revealed in a carefully worded message designed to deceive the censors, is imprisoned at Camp "L," believed to be somewhere in Ontario.

Frederick had been saved from arrest for almost a year by Queen Mother Mary, but was finally seized after a press campaign against him. The prince, whose only visit to the United States was with his brother, Louis Ferdinand, in October, 1932, worked for four years as a clerk in a London banking firm of J. Henry Schrotder & Co. Just before the war broke out, he slipped out of Germany, where he had been recalled for military duty, and hastened back to England.

RELEASE OF 50 CRAFT ASSAILED AS ACT OF WAR

Action May Launch Senate Inquiry.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—President Roosevelt's action in exchanging 50 American destroyers to Great Britain for air and naval bases in British western hemisphere possessions without consulting congress will result in a storm of condemnation on the floor of the senate and may lead to an investigation by the naval affairs committee.

This opinion was expressed generally today by the senate noninterventionists, who denounced the President's action as an overt act of war. The destroyer deal, they declared, is by far the longest step the Roosevelt administration has taken toward full belligerent participation in Great Britain's war with Germany.

Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress, announcing the destroyer deal as an accomplished fact, requiring no congressional approval or senate ratification, was read only to the house today.

Action Shrewdly Timed.

It was timed for delivery when the senate was not in session and under circumstances which may defer a senate explosion. The senate meets tomorrow but is expected to adjourn immediately as a mark of respect to a departed member, Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, who was killed in an airplane crash on Saturday.

The noninterventionists, however, said the country would hear from the senate. They predicted that the naval affairs committee, headed by Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.), will investigate the President's action, which they regard as a violation of both international and domestic law. It was an investigation by Senator Walsh's committee, together with the senate explosion which it produced, that forced the administration last June to abandon a deal for the release of 23 naval "mosquito" boats to Great Britain.

99 Year Leases on Bases.

Under the terms of the agreement with Great Britain, the United States receives 99 year leases for air and naval bases in Newfoundland, in the islands of Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, and Antigua, and in British Guiana.

A joint army and navy board, appointed to coöperate with British authorities in deciding upon the details of the locations for the bases, left Washington today for Bermuda, where their work will begin. The board is headed by Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade, a member of the navy general board.

"The right to bases in Newfoundland and Bermuda are gifts—generously given and gladly received," President Roosevelt declared in his message to congress. "The other bases mentioned have been acquired in exchange for 50 of our over age destroyers."

Roosevelt Hails Deal.

Mr. Roosevelt called the deal "the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana purchase" in Thomas Jefferson's administration. The deal, he said, is "not inconsistent in any sense with our status of peace. Still less is it a threat against any nation."

Altho Acting Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal said that eight of the fifty destroyers will be delivered late this week and that the others will be delivered soon thereafter, it was learned that some of the destroyers have been "on their way" for several days. They have been moving northward along the Atlantic coast from the neutrality patrol duties to which they have been assigned in Atlantic and Caribbean waters. The first eight to be delivered are at the Boston navy yard. Some are at the Brooklyn navy yard, and others left the navy yards at Charleston, S. C., and Norfolk, Va., today.

American Crews Used.

The destroyers are to be sailed by their American crews to Canadian ports and there delivered to British crews. The British crews will receive special instructions in the operation of the warships from American naval officers.

The warships are to be turned over to the British with full war loads of shells and torpedoes. Each ship mounts four 4 inch guns, one 3 inch antiaircraft gun, several .50 caliber antiaircraft machine guns, and twelve 21 inch torpedo tubes.

They are old-fashioned, four-stack flush deckers, but have a speed of 35 knots and are said to be extremely maneuverable. Also they are said to be in excellent condition. Built shortly after the world war, they have been reconditioned and recommissioned since the outbreak of the European war a year ago. Transfer of the 50 destroyers to Great Britain will leave the United States 73 in the world war category and 78 modern destroyers.

Suspect Other Considerations.

The revelation that the destroyers are to be turned over to the British carrying full loads of shells and torpedoes suggested that other considerations may be involved in the acquisition of the air and naval bases. The deal was consummated by means of an exchange of notes between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador. Lord Lothian's note stated that his government would make the bases available to the United States "in exchange for naval and military equipment and material which the United States government will transfer to his majesty's government."

War and navy department officials said they knew of no understanding to make military equipment available to the British. It was recalled, however, that the administration recently released to a private corporation, for resale to Great Britain, vast quantities of world war rifles, machine guns, cannon, ammunition, and explosives.

Fleet's Preservation Pledged.

One of the considerations involved in the transaction was an assurance by the British government that it will not scuttle or surrender its fleet, including the 50 American destroyers. The government of France gave such an assurance to Winston Churchill, the British prime minister, but when France collapsed the new Petain government sought to deliver the French fleet over to Germany.

The British promise not to sink or surrender their fleet was contained in separate correspondence between Secretary Hull and Lord Lothian. Secretary Hull recalled that Prime Minister Churchill, in the house of commons on June 4, stated that if the waters surrounding the British isles should become untenable for British warships, the British fleet would in no event be surrendered or sunk but would be sent overseas for the defense of other part of the empire. He inquired whether this was the "settled policy" of the British government.

Lothian Upholds Policy.

Lord Lothian replied that: "His majesty's government is instructed by the prime minister to inform Secretary Hull that this statement certainly does represent the settled policy of his majesty's government. Mr. Churchill must, however, observe that these hypothetical contingencies seem more likely to concern the German fleet, or what is left of it, than the British fleet."

President Roosevelt was advised in a formal opinion by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson that the exchange of destroyers for naval bases would not violate existing statutes and that such an agreement would not require senate ratification.

BRITAIN TO GET U. S. WARSHIPS IN CANADIAN PORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 3.—The 50 destroyers being turned over to Great Britain by the United States will be transferred to their new ownership in Canadian ports, naval headquarters here announced tonight.

Work on the detailed arrangements necessary to effect this operation already is in progress, officials said.

News of President Roosevelt's decision to turn the destroyers over to the British empire brought cheers from Parliament Hill. Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King beamed his satisfaction but declined any statement. Other sources called the deal a great diplomatic victory.

While admitting the tremendous public interest attached to the acquisition of the warships, naval officers pointed out that it was absolutely imperative for the safety of both the ships and their crews that the utmost secrecy surround all transfer operations.

The office of the minister for naval services stressed that "the enemy will seek every opportunity to reduce this very welcome addition to the commonwealth fleet and by denying him detailed information of the destroyers' movements, his task will be made more difficult."

Whether all 50 destroyers will become part of the royal navy or whether some will join the Canadian fleet, was not disclosed.

An official, asked about this, said, "What does it matter. The ships are going to be used where they will do the most good."

EXPECT ONLY 200 IN GUARD UNIT TO SEEK EXEMPTION

202d Regiment Begins Filling Vacancies.

The 202d coast artillery [antiaircraft] regiment, only Illinois National Guard unit included in the recent mobilization call, will lose less than 200 of its 1,187 men thru exemption claims, Col. Charles C. Dawes, commanding officer, predicted last night.

Men to fill these vacancies, and 263 others, which must be filled to bring the regiment to its full peacetime strength of 1,450 men, are expected to be enlisted within a few days, according to Col. Dawes. He announced that a recruiting office will be opened today in the armory at 5917 Broadway. More than 100 men visited the armory yesterday, seeking to enlist.

World War Vets Apply.

In addition, more than 50 world war veterans have applied for enlistment in the last few weeks, and 300 former members of the regiment have asked to be transferred from the inactive to the active list. These men will be welcome because of their experience, said Col. Dawes. They must, however, pass new physical examinations, as will all the present personnel.

The first battalion of the regiment drilled last night, and 134 men and one medical officer asked exemption.

Col. Dawes indicated that their claims will be investigated and that discharges will be granted. He previously had urged all who are married and have dependents to apply for discharge before Sept. 16, mobilization day.

Wartime Strength 1,800.

The regiment now has 53 officers and will require seven more when its full peacetime strength is attained. The full wartime strength would be 1,800 men and 75 officers.

Two new 60 inch searchlights were received by the 202d yesterday, increasing its equipment to eight. Seven more of the big lights are expected shortly. All the regiment's guns, lights, and mechanized equipment are in excellent condition, according to Lieut. Frank X. Meyers, intelligence officer.

When the 202d is mobilized, it is expected that it will go first to Camp Logan, near Zion, Ill., and then to March field, near Riverside, Cal., around Oct. 1.

DWIGHT GREEN RAPS MOVEMENT TO DRAFT INDUSTRY OF NATION

Monticello, Ill., Sept. 3 [Special].—The industrial amendment to the military conscription bill is the blackest threat of dictatorship to cast its shadow over the nation, Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, told a crowd at the Platt county fair today.

"The measure," he said, "would give the government peacetime authority to take over and operate all facilities deemed necessary for national defense whenever agreement cannot be reached. On its face, we might interpret that as involving only industry, but in reality it grants power to reach deep into every individual life and pocket.

"Agriculture and labor would bear the brunt of such a law. It could control wages and limit the worker's power to buy products of the farm. It could regiment all labor and agriculture far beyond those present and past attempts to tell you where and when you can work, and when and where you can till your soil."

GERMANS ASSAIL SWISS ACTION ON BRITISH FLIGHTS

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP).—The news commentary Dienst aus Deutschland, which is close to the foreign office, tonight said Germans were "increasingly astonished" because Switzerland had replied to violation of Swiss territory by British planes "merely with weak and completely ineffective protests."

It spoke of "lame neutrality." The same charges frequently were made against the Netherlands prior to last spring's German invasion. The commentary said the "systematic character" of British flights over Switzerland, mainly to Italy, "is taken especially seriously in Berlin."

Swiss Reënforce Defenses.

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 3 (AP).—Switzerland today was reported to be reënforcing her antiaircraft defenses in an effort to halt British flights across Swiss territory on bombing raids to Italy and southern Germany.

News of U. S. Deal for Sea Bases Expected in Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 3.—The news that part of the Jamaican southern coast, presumably Port Royal, will be leased to the United States for use as naval and air bases has been long expected here. The Jamaica Gleaner will say editorially tomorrow that "this arrangement helps cement the ties already binding the American and British empire."

Two U. S. Cruisers Leave Argentina; Rio Next Stop

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 3 (AP).—The United States cruisers Wichita and Quincy left today for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, their next stop in a prolonged "good will" cruise in South American waters.

TRADE OF BASES FOR DESTROYERS TOLD CONGRESS

President Sends Message Including Notes.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 [Special].—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's message to congress on the acquiring by the United States of naval and air bases in British possessions in return for 50 American destroyers. Accompanying his message were the notes exchanged by the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and an opinion by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson.

Lord Lothian.

"To the congress of the United States," the President's message said.

"I transmit herewith for the information of the congress notes exchanged between the British ambassador at Washington and the secretary of state on Sept. 2, 1940, under which this government has acquired the right to lease naval and air bases in Newfoundland, and in the islands of Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, and Antigua, and in British Guiana; also a copy of an opinion of the attorney general, dated Aug. 27, 1940, regarding my authority to consummate this arrangement.

Denies It Is Act of War.

"The right to bases in Newfoundland and Bermuda are gifts—generously given and gladly received. The other bases mentioned have been acquired in exchange for 50 of our overage destroyers.

"This is not inconsistent in any sense with our status of peace. Still less is it a threat against any nation. It is an epochal and far reaching act of preparation for continental defense in the face of grave danger.

"Preparation for defense is an inalienable prerogative of a sovereign state. Under present circumstances this exercise of sovereign right is essential to the maintenance of our peace and safety. This is the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana Purchase. Then as now, considerations of safety from overseas attack were fundamental.

Bases Long Desired.

"The value to the western hemisphere of these outposts of security is beyond calculation. Their need has long been recognized by our country, and especially by those primarily charged with the duty of organizing our own naval and military defense. They are essential to the protection of the Panama Canal, Central America, the northern portion of South America, the Antilles, Canada, Mexico, and our own eastern and gulf seaboards. Their consequent importance in hemispheric defense is obvious. For these reasons I have taken advantage of the present opportunity to acquire them."

LOTHIAN'S NOTE TO HULL

Following is Lord Lothian's note to Secretary Hull:

"I have the honour under instructions from his majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs to inform you that in view of the friendly and sympathetic interest of his majesty's government in the United Kingdom in the national security of the United States and their desire to strengthen the ability of the United States to cooperate effectively with the other nations of the Americas in the defense of the western hemisphere, his majesty's government will secure the grant to the government of the United States, freely and without consideration, of the lease for immediate establishment and use of naval and air bases and facilities for entrance thereto and the operation and protection thereof, of the Avalon peninsula [southeastern Newfoundland] and on the southern coast of Newfoundland, and on the east coast and on the Great Bay of Bermuda.

Other Bases for Destroyers.

"Furthermore, in view of the above and in view of the desire of the United States to acquire additional air and naval bases in the Caribbean and in British Guiana, and without endeavoring to place a monetary or commercial value upon the many tangible and intangible rights and properties involved, his majesty's government will make available to the United States for immediate establishment and use naval and air bases and facilities for entrance thereto and the operation and protection thereof, on the eastern side of the Bahamas, the southern coast of Jamaica, the western coast of St. Lucia, the west coast of Trinidad in the Gulf of Paria, in the island of Antigua and in British Guiana within 50 miles of Georgetown, in exchange for naval and military equipment and material which the United States government will transfer to his majesty's government.

"All the bases and facilities referred to in the preceding paragraphs will be leased to the United States for a period of 99 years, free from all rent and charges other than such compensation to be mutually agreed on to be paid by the United States in order to compensate the owners of private property for loss by expropriation or damage arising out of the establishment of the bases and facilities in question.

Grants U. S. Full Rights.

"His majesty's government, in the leases to be agreed upon, will grant to the United States for the period of the leases all the rights, power, and authority within the bases leased, and within the limits of the territorial waters and air spaces adjacent to or in the vicinity of such bases, necessary to provide access to and defense of such bases, and appropriate provisions for their control.

"Without prejudice to the above mentioned rights of the United States authorities and their jurisdiction within the leased areas, the adjustment and reconciliation between the jurisdiction of the authorities of the United States within these areas and the jurisdiction of the authorities of the territories in which these areas are situated, shall be determined by common agreement.

"The exact location and bounds of the aforesaid bases, the necessary seaward, coast and antiaircraft defenses, the location of sufficient military garrisons, stores and other necessary auxiliary facilities shall be determined by common agreement.

"His majesty's government are prepared to designate immediately experts to meet with experts of the United States for these purposes. Should these experts be unable to agree in any particular situation, except in the case of Newfoundland and Bermuda, the matter shall be settled by the secretary of state of the United States and his majesty's secretary of state for foreign affairs."

REPLY BY SECRETARY HULL

After quoting in full Lord Lothian's note to him, Secretary Hull said he had been directed by the President to reply as follows:

"The government of the United States appreciates the declarations and the generous action of his majesty's government as contained in your communication, which are destined to enhance the national security of the United States and greatly to strengthen its ability to cooperate effectively with the other nations of the Americas in the defense of the western hemisphere. It, therefore, gladly accepts the proposals.

"The government of the United States will immediately designate experts to meet with experts designated by his majesty's government to determine upon the exact location of the naval and air bases mentioned in your communication under acknowledgment.

"In consideration of the declarations above quoted, the government of the United States will immediately transfer to his majesty's government 50 United States navy destroyers generally referred to as the 12 hundred ton type."

Bible Class' Protege

BARBARA ANN SCULLY.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 3 (AP).—Four years ago Dr. Paul Hickey, director of education at the Detroit Institute of Technology, spoke at graduation exercises at McMichael Intermediate school. Part of the ceremony consisted of a song by flaxen haired Barbara Ann Scully. Finding out all he could about the singer, Dr. Hickey told the adult Bible class of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church, which he teaches, about Barbara Ann.

The 300 class members promptly decided to "adopt" her by financing her musical education. Recently Barbara Ann made her debut in an outdoor concert before 4,000 persons who braved a drizzle to hear her surprisingly mature soprano. Critics say Barbara Ann's ability assures a happy future.

WALLACE WARNS APPEASEMENT MEANS SLAVERY

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP).—Henry A. Wallace, Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, today assailed critics of the administration defense program and "those Republicans who would appease Hitler in order to make temporary profit from trade."

Speaking before a central Illinois farm audience at the outset of a midwest campaign tour, Wallace asserted:

"I want to warn you—dealing with Germany on Germany's terms will mean the beginning of slavery for us or any other democracy that deals separately with Hitler."

Wallace declared President Roosevelt had "understood the manner of man he was fully six years ago."

"That is the reason," Wallace added, "the President has gone to such extraordinary lengths toward defense. You could no more keep peace with a man like Hitler by talking pacifism to him than you could keep from being bitten by a mad dog by saying 'nice doggie.'

"The only way to keep peace is preparedness."

Wallace expressed assurance that no American soldier would be sent abroad to fight.

PAPERS IN ROME FLAY ROOSEVELT ON 'WAR' SPEECH

ROME, Sept. 3.—President Roosevelt's speech in Tennessee yesterday displeased Italian authorities, judging from the headlines which the newspapers were ordered to place over their brief account of the address printed today.

"Roosevelt's incitement to war. Another alarmist speech," says Tribuna.

"Roosevelt's latest guise: Defender of Christian civilization—thru others' sacrifices," is Telegrafo's headline.

"Roosevelt exaggerates the dangers which threaten America," says Popolo di Roma.

DISPUTE JACKSON RULING THAT SHIP TRADE IS LAWFUL

Charges Violations of U.S. and International Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Noninterventionists today disputed Atty. Gen. Robert H. Jackson's ruling that existing statutes do not forbid the deal in which 50 American destroyers will be transferred to Great Britain in exchange for naval and air bases.

They insisted that the transaction violates not only domestic statutes but international law, specifically The Hague convention of 1907, which forbids a neutral country to supply any war materials whatever, directly or indirectly, to a belligerent.

Jackson's opinion did not mention The Hague convention. Nor did the administration supporters in congress attempt to answer the charge of the noninterventionists that President Roosevelt's action violates this solemn engagement between the United States, Germany, and the other signatories. The only retort of the interventionists is that Hitler has destroyed international law.

Earlier Opinion Recalled.

Jackson did not specifically reverse the ruling he made last June that it would be unlawful to release 23 American navy torpedo boats and submarine chasers to Great Britain.

At that time he held that the release of torpedo boats and submarine chasers was prohibited by section 3 of title V. of the espionage act of 1917, which provides that: "During a war in which the United States is a neutral nation it shall be unlawful to send out of the jurisdiction of the United States any vessel, built, armed, or equipped as a vessel of war . . . with any intent or under any agreement, or contract, written or oral, that such vessel shall be delivered to a belligerent nation, or to an agent, officer, or citizen of such nation, or with reasonable cause to believe that the said vessel shall or will be employed in the service of any such belligerent nation after its departure from the jurisdiction of the United States."

Adheres to Original.

Jackson adhered to his original opinion that it would be unlawful to release the "mosquito" boats, which are under construction for the navy, "since to the extent of such completion at least they would have been built, armed, or equipped with the intent, or with reasonable cause to believe, that they would enter the service of a belligerent after being sent out of the jurisdiction of the United States."

This law does not apply to the destroyers, however, "since they were clearly not built, armed, or equipped with any such intent or with reasonable cause to believe that they would ever enter the service of a belligerent," according to Jackson's latest ruling.

In holding that the 1917 law prohibits sending out of the United States only vessels of war which were originally built, armed, or equipped for the use of a foreign belligerent, Jackson followed an opinion recently prepared by Dean G. Acheson, former undersecretary of the treasury, and three other interventionist lawyers. Acheson is a member of William Allen White's so-called Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Act of June 28 Cited.

Jackson also noted that an act approved on June 28, 1940, provides that no naval vessel, boat, or other equipment shall be exchanged, sold or otherwise disposed of unless the chief of naval operations first certifies that such material is not essential to the defense of the United States. He did not mention that in passing this law, congress specifically reaffirmed the 1917 law, saying: "Nothing herein shall be construed to repeal or modify sections 3 and 6, title V., of the act approved June 15, 1917. . . .

Jackson expressed the opinion that "the chief of naval operations may, and should, certify under section 14 [a] that the destroyers involved are not essential to the defense of the United States if in his judgment the exchange of such destroyers for such naval and air bases will strengthen rather than impair the total defense of the United States."

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, so certified.

President's Power Upheld.

Jackson held that the President, as commander in chief of the army and navy and in his capacity as chief executive in control of the foreign relations of the United States, had authority under the constitution to consummate the agreement with Great Britain without senate ratification.

In support of this contention, he cited a 1936 Supreme court opinion by Justice George Sutherland, since retired, in United States vs. Curtiss-Wright corporation. The late Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, a noted constitutional authority, regarded the Sutherland opinion as one of the most extraordinary pronouncement ever handed down by the court. He said it vested the war making power exclusively in the President.

The Sutherland opinion, cited by Jackson, said in part:

"It is important to bear in mind that we are here dealing not alone with an authority vested in the President by an exertion of legislative power, but with such an authority plus the very delicate, plenary and exclusive power of the President as the sole organ of the federal government in the field of international relations—a power which does not require as a basis for its exercise an act of congress, but which, of course, like every other governmental power, must be exercised in subordination to the applicable provisions of the constitution."

Differentiation Is Made.

The opinion went on to say that if serious embarrassment is to be avoided in the maintenance of international relations congressional legislation "must often accord to the President a degree of discretion and freedom from statutory restriction."

Jackson held that senate ratification of the agreement would be required if it contemplated an appropriation by congress for the leases.

"However," he said, "the acquisitions which you [the President] are proposing to accept are without express or implied promises on the part of the United States to be performed in the future."

PEGGY WESTMORE.

Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 3 (AP).—Peggy Ann Kent Westmore, 23 year old daughter of Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Pictures, has established residence here for a divorce from her third husband, Ernie Westmore, motion picture makeup artist, it was learned today.

They were married last March 10 at Warrenton, Va., after having previously been denied a license in New York and Philadelphia because of laws respecting the length of interval between divorce and remarriage.

Form A2733—2-39

HERE'S STORY OF LANDS WHERE U. S. GETS BASES

Part of History Made by Columbus.

Here are geographical and historical data on the British possessions in which the United States yesterday obtained naval and air bases:

NEWFOUNDLAND—This a rugged island off the North American coast, directly across the entrance to the gulf of St. Lawrence. It has an area of 42,734 square miles and a population of 277,000. Until it ›o' into financial difficulties seven years ago and accepted government by a royal commission. the island, with most of Labrador, formed the dominion of Newfoundland. It had never become a part of the Canadian federation.

The island is only 1,640 miles from Valentia, Ireland, nearer Europe than any other part of this continent. The Avalon peninsula, the area specifically designated for United States lease rights, is in the southeast of Newfoundland, bounded by Trinity bay on the north and Placentia bay on the south. Saint John's, capital and largest city of the island, is on the peninsula.

Newfoundland is the oldest of Britain's oversea possessions, having been acquired in 1583. Fisheries employ more than one-fourth of the population.

The island is strategically valuable because it protects any northeastern approach to the United States.

Many little harbors can be utilized as small submarine and surface ship bases and as a base for long-range naval patrol planes that could fly from here to England and back. The harbors are iced up a considerable part of the winter, however..

Biggest of Bermuda Group.

BERMUDA—This is the most important island in the Bermuda group, 580 miles east of North Carolina. The island has an area of 9,000 acres. Hamilton, on the east coast, is the capital, and it is in this area and on the Great Bay of Bermuda that the United States has been granted base rights.

Bermuda is an ideal vacation resort. Ireland island, another of the group, has been winter headquarters for the British North Atlantic fleet. The total area of the Bermudas is 19½ square miles and the population is 27,789.

Bermuda offers a midocean plane base.

Great sound will be useful as a base for patrol planes, which can easily range to the Azores, and eventually, when longer range planes are put into service, to Europe and back.

Rights in Eastern Bahamas.

THE BAHAMAS—This part of the British West Indies is northeast of Cuba and southeast of the Florida coast. The principal islands in the group are New Providence [where the capital, Nassau, is located], Grand Bahama, Great and Little Abaco, Great Exuma, Great Inagua, Eleuthera, and San Salvador. The total area is 4,450 square miles and population is 60,000. Lease rights were granted on the eastern side.

The Bahamas were discovered by Columbus in 1492 and were settled by the British in 1670. The French and Spanish disputed British claims. For a short time, during the revolutionary war, Americans held Nassau. England later established clear possession. The Bahamas were a base for rum runners during the prohibition era in the United States. The duke of Windsor recently became governor of the Bahamas.

Jamaica South of Cuba.

JAMAICA—Largest and most important of the British West Indies, Jamaica is 4,200 square miles in area and has a population of 1,075,000, 77 per cent of which is Negro. It is 90 miles south of Cuba. Kingston, the capital and the best harbor, is on the south coast, where leases were awarded. Kingston has been called the best harbor in the West Indies.

Jamaica was discovered by Columbus in 1494 and was captured by the English from Spain in 1655. In the 17th century it was the world's greatest slave market.

Largest of Leewards.

ANTIGUA—With an area of 108 square miles, Antigua is the largest of the Leeward island group in the British West Indies, 550 miles southeast of Puerto Rico. It has two good harbors, at St. John, the capital, on the northwest, and at English Harbor on the south. The total population of the Leewards is 130,000 and the area is 715 square miles.

St. John harbor is considered an excellent base for patrol planes or small ships.

The Leewards were discovered by Columbus in 1493 and the British settled there in 1632. Britain did not take full possession, however, until 1815, after conflicts with the French over sovereignty.

Another Columbus Discovery.

ST. LUCIA—This is an island of 233 square miles and 60,000 population, the most northerly and largest of the Windwards, which are to the south of the Leewards in the British West Indies. St. Lucia is 900 miles southeast of Puerto Rico. The capital and chief port is Castries on the west coast, the area where leases were given.

Columbus discovered St. Lucia in 1502. In the early 17th century a dispute over the island's possession began between England and France. For nearly 200 years the conflict went on, the island being frequently taken and retaken, finally falling to England with Napoleon's downfall in 1815.

On Road to South American Oil.

TRINIDAD—Trinidad is second in size in the British West Indies only to Jamaica; its area is about 2,000 square miles and its population 413,000. It is six miles east of the coast of Venezuela and is regarded as a potentially excellent naval base for protection of Venezuelan and Colombian oil fields. Port of Spain, on the west coast, where lease rights have been granted, is the capital.

The island was also a discovery of Columbus and was colonized by the Spaniards in the 16th century. The French went there in 1775, but England acquired it by treaty in 1802.

With other bases the United States will get, Trinidad will control passages into the Caribbean sea.

The island is out of the hurricane belt.

BRITISH GUIANA — This is a colony on the north coast of South America. The area is 89,480 square miles, the coastline 250 miles, and the population 311,000, not including uncivilized natives in the unexplored interior. Lease rights were given within 50 miles of Georgetown, the capital, on the coast.

The Dutch made the first settlements in Guiana in 1613. For two centuries the British struggled for part of the territory, winning it in 1815.

A base here will enable the United States to guard all of northern South America.

United States to Get Naval and Air Bases in British Colonies

Roosevelt's Slip of the Tongue Reveals Ships Already on Way

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Some of the 50 American destroyers involved in the trade with Great Britain for naval and air bases were on their way from Hampton Roads, Va., to Boston and eventual delivery to the British before congress and the nation were let in on the deal today.

This was let slip by President Roosevelt as he discussed with reporters aboard his special train, en route here from Tennessee, the implications of the pact arranged between the United States and Great Britain, which was made known in a message to congress at noon today.

Catches Self Too Late.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked how soon delivery would be made of the destroyers. He started to answer that they were already on the way, then caught himself and stated that he didn't know. Asked if the destroyers would have British convoys, he again said he didn't know.

American crews could not take the destroyers to England but, it is reported, will navigate them as far as Canada, where the British will take them over.

[The navy announced that the first eight of the destroyers are in Boston harbor and will be ready to be turned over Friday. News dispatches stated that 12 more of the 50 destroyers left Hampton roads, near Norfolk, Va., Monday for Boston.]

President Roosevelt arrived back in Washington at 10:25 tonight [Chicago time].

More Bases in Offing.

It was indicated by the President that more naval and air bases are to be acquired by the United States. He told reporters not to speculate on Greenland as one of the bases but added that a dozen places might be picked on the map as logical sites for the establishment of more bases.

The President was in a light-hearted mood as he received the press in the small drawing room in his private car. He drew out his watch [it was 11:38 a. m. E. S. T.], and announced dramatically that in 22 minutes one of the greatest newspaper stories in history would break. Then he added that it would break in Washington in the form of a message to congress and laughed gleefully at the downcast faces of his audience.

Mr. Roosevelt then read his letter to congress and began discussing it. He was asked if senate ratification would be necessary. He replied firmly that congress had nothing to do with it. It was all over, all done, a fait accompli and he was merely telling congress about it.

The President intimated that he believed he had made a mighty fine business deal altho there might be some who would not think so. The United States will have complete control over the bases, he remarked, and their fortification will be undertaken as speedily as possible.

CARDENAS REQUESTS PRESS TO PRINT TEXT OF ALMAZAN ATTACK

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3 (AP).—President Larazo Cardenas requested the Mexican press today to publish the entire text of a statement by Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan in New York Monday saying the Mexican people "are sick of racketter government—sick to the point of revolt with or without my leadership."

The statement was not printed by Mexican newspapers today. The only paper which referred to it was El Popularo, proadministration organ of the Mexican labor movement, which published selected extracts and comment under bold headlines on page one.

Neither Almazan, independent presidential candidate, nor his administration supported opponent, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, has been declared victor in the July election. This is a duty of the Mexican congress.

Norse Ship Feared Lost in Pacific; Missing 86 Days

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 3 (AP).—The Norwegian motor freighter Tropic Sea, carrying a crew of 35, was posted officially here today as unreported for 86 days and "feared lost." The 5,000 ton freighter, of British registry, left here March 25 for Japan, and sailed from Auckland, New Zealand, June 8 for the United States.

AMERICANS TO AID FRENCH HELD IN NAZI WAR CAMPS

VICHY, France, Sept. 3 (AP).—Five Americans are among truck drivers in a caravan leaving here Wednesday with food and clothing for French war prisoners in the German occupied portion of France.

They are Karl Berthold, New York; Gilbert Denby Wilkes, Detroit, and Albert Hochstetter, Fred De, Fraza, and George Cabras, all residents of Paris.

The French Red Cross is undertaking to provide for an estimated 2,000,000 men scattered in more than 20 camps in the occupied area and in Germany.

FEAR JAP DEMAND WILL CARRY WAR INTO INDO-CHINA

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4 (AP).—Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, arrived here unexpectedly today amid reports of imminent fast breaking developments in the far eastern situation.

HONGKONG, Sept. 3 (AP).—A reported virtual ultimatum from Japan to the governor of Indo-China tonight heightened the possibility that that rich, torrid possession of defeated France would become a battlefield—even if its poorly armed forces do not resist.

Neutral informants from Hanoi, Indo-China capital, said the Japanese insisted on immediate use of Haiphong, main port on the Gulf of Tonking, as a military base—and the right as well to move Japanese troops over the French owned Yunnan railroad to the Chinese border.

China Threatens Invasion.

China's foreign minister, Wang Chung-hui, already has declared that Chinese forces will invade Indo-China if the Japanese send troops there.

Altho Reuters [British news agency] dispatches from Saigon, Indo-China, said the Japanese army ultimatum had been rejected, Hanoi informants assert the Petain appointed governor general, Vice Admiral Jean Decoux, had decided to try to delay a decision and seek further instructions from Vichy, temporary French capital.

[Vichy has acknowledged there is a revolt against the present French government in Indo-China.]

Accession Held Possible.

Chinese officials in Hongkong said the Chinese ambassador to France had warned the Chungking government last week that Vichy was liable to accede.

The Japanese presumably would transport their troops by sea to Haiphong, whence the Yunnan railway runs 220 miles to the Chinese border and from there 200 miles further to Kunming, capital of Yunnan province and nerve center of China's internal and international land and air communications.

[Domei, the Japanese news agency, reported an agreement already had been effected to permit Japanese commercial planes to land at Hanoi on the Japanese Japan-Formosa-Thailand (Siam) line.]

BEGIN BIG DRIVE TO QUALIFY ALL FOR FALL VOTING

Many Organizations Work for Registrations.

Registration Facts

WHO MUST REGISTER.

Those who have never registered under the permanent registration law.

Those becoming of age, meeting residence requirements for the first time, or becoming citizens on or before Nov. 5.

Those who have changed their names by marriage or otherwise.

WHERE AND WHEN.

Residents of Chicago, Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Cicero, Elmwood Park, Harvey, Morton Grove, Niles Center, Stickney, and Summit at the offices of the Chicago election commissioners, 308 Chicago city hall, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. from Monday to Friday and from 9 a. m. to noon on Saturday.

Residents elsewhere in Cook county at the offices of village and town clerks during the same hours.

Last day to register: Oct. 7.

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE.

Voters previously registered who have moved since their registration must report their changes of address by mail or in person to the officials mentioned above.

BY PARKE BROWN.

A huge movement—or combination of movements—to enroll every qualified man and woman in Cook county on the registration lists so they may vote on Nov. 5 for national, state, and county officers will begin this week to gather its full force.

Election officials, party machines, nominees for office, civic and patriotic organizations, and clubs and associations of many kinds have been preparing for the drive. In general they have waited for the passing of Labor day, marking the end of the vacation season, the opening of the schools, and the beginning of real campaigning. Now they are ready to swing into action.

30 Business Days Left.

Including today there are now exactly 30 business days left on which the qualified elector not now on the lists may establish his right to a ballot on election day, just nine weeks from today. The last day to register or to complete a defective registration is Oct. 7.

Between this time and that date potential voters will be told by some that this is the most important election since the civil war, by others that is is the most vital in the history of the United States. By others less diplomatic they may be called un-American and branded as slackers. They will face both pleas and demands.

Appeals resembling slogans already have begun to appear.

"Every Citizen Must Be Registered or He Cannot Vote," is the heading of 10,000 placards issued by the Chicago board of election commissioners and distributed by the Chicago Association of Commerce for posting in factories, mills, offices, and other places where large numbers of persons are employed.

Women Issue a Pamphlet.

"Are You an American? Then REGISTER AND VOTE! appears on the cover of a pamphlet issued by the Women's Civic council, which already has begun enlisting scores of organizations for the campaign.

Such appeals as these are nonpartisan and all inclusive. In a letter which Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, has sent to 65 organizations asking them to send representatives to a meeting at the Chicagoan hotel next Friday noon, she said:

"The purpose is by coöperative effort to further the movement to secure 100 per cent registration of all citizens qualified to vote. . . . We urge that it is a duty for all citizens to assume their responsibilities by registering and voting."

Other Clubs to Coöperate.

Mrs. Robertson said that her organization already has the coöperation of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Chicago Church federation, the Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs, the Rogers Park Women's club, the National Small Business Men's association, the Woodlawn Community association, and several other strong units.

The Republican county and state committees and the Republican candidates lead the political organizations in activity in behalf of registration. The powerful Democratic machine will do its own work in the customary way, but the Republicans say the great majority of the voters added to the poll lists will vote Republican and they are determined to make the increase as great as possible.

Two of their candidates who have just issued appeals for hard work in the registration campaign are Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, and Charles S. Dewey, nominee for congressman in the 9th district.

Dewey Cites a Decrease.

Dewey said the registered vote in the 9th district decreased by 11,948 votes between the primary of 1936 and the primary of 1940 altho the population apparently has increased.

"American citizens who believe in our form of democracy and wish to see it perpetuated must not forget," said Dewey. "To be registered and vote is our first act of preparedness."

To nonpartisan appeals which he and his appointees on the election board already have issued, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, during an interview, added a new thought based on developments in the field of national preparedness.

"With the National Guard already being called out, with the possibility that the draft will go into effect soon and the probability that the organized reserves of the regular army will be summoned for service," he said, "every man in those three categories should lose no time in making sure that he is registered. If he enters service before the election he can vote by absentee ballot. The same thing applies to college students who cannot return to their homes to vote."

Starts Survey of Books.

Republican County Chairman John T. Dempsey yesterday started a survey of the registration books. Perhaps the most extensive study ever made by the local party organization, it is designed to help eliminate false registrations and to register previously unregistered voters. Each of the 4,400 precinct captains in the county organization is to prepare a report on each person canvassed in each precinct. A printed form has been prepared by Dempsey to be filled out for weekly transmission to headquarters. Schools of instruction for the workers are to be set up.

First of the report booklets are to be filled out by workers and returned to headquarters by Sept. 16.

Funeral Today

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3 (AP).—The body of Senator Ernest Lundeen was returned here tonight for funeral services and burial tomorrow. The Farmer-Labor senator was killed Saturday in an air liner crash near Washington. Accompanying the casket was a congressional delegation, including Senators Henrik Shipstead, Lundeen's Minnesota colleague; Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, Rush D. Holt of West Virginia, and James E. Murray of Montana, and members of Minnesota's house contingent.

'FLYING FOOLS' OF ITALY CLAIM 4 WARSHIP HITS

Tell of 2 Fights with British Fleet.

ROME, Sept. 3 (AP).—Italian flyers attacking British naval units with small, "pixilated" dive-bombers were reported today to have damaged a battleship, an aircraft carrier, a cruiser, and a destroyer in two running fights near Malta, in the central Mediterranean.

Squadrons of "picchiatelli"—little divers or "flying fools"—developed expressly to harass British shipping, also downed four British planes that took off from the aircraft carrier, the high command announced. Three Italian planes were lost.

Romans said the word "picchiatelli" entered the Italian language as a translation for "pixilated," which was used in an American movie, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," to designate a person slightly crazy.

The first British naval unit was sighted leaving Valletta harbor, Malta, early yesterday morning, and the second group was engaged in the afternoon about 30 miles southeast of the island.

Battleship Forced to Quit.

Stefani, the official news agency, said one battleship, struck by two heavy bombs, turned away and abandoned formation, and that other bombs severely damaged the aircraft carrier.

British ships put up a hot antiaircraft barrage, bringing down at least one Fascist plane. Its crew bailed out, and when a Fascist Red Cross seaplane sought to rescue the pilots it was machine-gunned repeatedly by British pursuit planes, Stefani reported.

The high command reported Italian planes had violently bombed the naval base at Malta. It added that enemy encampments and motor trucks were bombed at Gadabi, near the Atbara river, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

British Navy Ranges Far.

Italian pilots reported large scale British naval operations thruout the Mediterranean from Gibraltar to Cyprus.

Three British bombers were reported downed and two others were believed to have crashed in a continuation of raids on northern Italy. The daily communique said two persons were killed and 15 injured at Genoa.

Premier Benito Mussolini is making a two day flying trip over the industrial area of northern Italy. This is the section, including Turin and Milan, which the British air force has bombed several times, aiming at airplane and munitions plants. The Duce piloted his plane today from Rimini to Jesi, near Ancona, where he inspected the Savoia Marchetti seaplane factory.

British Flyers Raid Assab.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 3 (AP).—A new British attack on jetties and warehouses at Assab, Eritrea, was reported today in a communique of the British air force.

LONDON PAPERS SEE SIGN OF MORE AMERICAN HELP

Call Bases Deal Notice of Defeat to Nazis.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Daily Telegraph regards the transfer of United States destroyers to Britain as "a notification to Hitler of America's confidence in an ultimate victory by Britain." Otherwise, it states, "at a moment when America feels herself so gravely threatened what would be the sense of bolstering up a lost cause with a fleet of ships which, if the cause were lost, she would urgently need for her own defense?"

This and other newspapers emphasize that the addition of 50 American destroyers, equivalent to more than 25 per cent of the British prewar destroyer fleet, not only means increasing protection for convoys but a tightening up of the blockade of Germany by Britain.

It is expected the American ships will immediately replace British destroyers beyond the range of enemy bombing, which will eliminate the need of reëquipping them and will permit the British ships to be brought into the fighting zone.

"Countervails" French Defection.

The destroyers acquired by Britain in exchange for leases on island bases, the Daily Telegraph contends, will at a single stroke "far more than countervail the loss due to the defection of France, whose navy was comparatively weak in this class of ship."

As an intimation of more profound developments behind the deal, the Daily Telegraph prints three cartoons from the American press advocating the transfer of the destroyers. Included is one from the St. Louis Post Dispatch captioned, "The First Expeditionary Force."

Other papers, in which news of the deal dominate front pages, hail the agreement in lyrical terms. Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express in a story by a naval reporter even suggests the destroyers will have names associated with the early American colonies. "The intention is," the writer adds, "that this would especially appeal to old established American families whose roots in history go back beyond 1780."

"America Protects Rear."

While stressing that President Roosevelt's gesture does not imply that America intends to declare war against Germany, the Daily Express elaborates editorially on the Monroe Doctrine, the good neighbor relations between the United States and Britain, and their interdependence on a fleet to hold the Atlantic.

"It is fortuitous and inevitable," the editorial concludes, "that every move America makes for her self-preservation is a move in our defense, too. America protects the rear."

The Daily Mail, which declares on the front page that a trans-Atlantic telephone talk between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt clinched the deal, greets the news as "the best of the war." It interprets the release of a formidable force of American destroyers to Britain as the latest sign of a mounting tide of American sentiment in favor of Britain.

"America is not a belligerent," says the Mail, "but no act of belligerency could cause Hitler more concern than this gesture. It is a sign the United States means help up to the limit. It is a portent of final defeat for the axis powers."

"Far Reaching" Results Implied.

The News Chronicle implies that the results are likely to be more far reaching than appears on the surface. It describes the exchange as "perhaps the greatest single step yet taken toward close, developing, and—in the end—planet changing coöperation between the British empire and America" and predicts the cooperation will bring victory and pave the way for a new order of world wide peace and freedom.

The Labor party organ, the Daily Herald, praises President Roosevelt and Churchill and calls the deal "a major milestone in the struggle against Nazi aggression" and "solid proof of complete harmony and mutual confidence between Washington and London."

SWEDEN TO TRY BREAD CARDS IN FOUR DAY TEST

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 3.—The Swedish public today learned with surprise that bread cards will be introduced thruout Sweden for a four day test period starting Saturday.

Sweden was the last Nordic country where cereals were still freely obtainable.

The surprise action generally is considered to have been taken to prevent the hoarding of flour and hard bread—the popular knaeckebroed—which, due to rumors of a bad harvest, had begun to assume large proportions.

TRIBUNE GUARD, SHOT IN HOLDUP, QUITS HOSPITAL

$10,000 Reward Offered for Three Bandits.

Harry P. Walsh, chief of THE TRIBUNE's guards, who was shot six times in a savage gun battle with bandits on July 19, was able to leave Henrotin hospital yesterday. Physicians said he is progressing favorably toward complete recovery.

Walsh, who is 60 years old, was guarding the transfer of a $9,179 pay roll from the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank at Michigan avenue and Ohio streets to THE TRIBUNE when the holdup occurred.

Bandit Car Blocks Path.

One bandit, in an automobile, blocked the path of THE TRIBUNE car just north of the intersection of Illinois and St. Clair streets. Two other bandits who had been loitering on the curb then advanced on Walsh and James Dubenic, who was driving.

Walsh shot it out with the gunmen, but they wounded him desperately and took the money. For days it was feared he might not recover.

$10,000 Reward Offered.

THE TRIBUNE is offering a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the robbers.

The information will be held confidential. It may be given either to the police or to THE TRIBUNE.

If two or more persons supply the information, the reward will be apportioned to them in amounts depending upon the value of the facts supplied. THE TRIBUNE is to be the sole judge in this case.

U. S.-BRITISH SHIP DEAL IS ASSAILED AND COMMENDED

Varying Views Voiced by Congress Members.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 (AP).—A wide divergence of opinion was expressed by surprised congressmen today when they learned of President Roosevelt's exchange of 50 American destroyers for air and naval bases in British possessions.

The comment did not follow party lines, numerous Democrats opposing the deal. Some of the strongest statements heard on Capitol hill in months were evoked by the President's independent action.

Opponents termed the trade an act of war, atrocious, and unconstitutional, a tragic mistake, and a surrender of our first line of defense. Proponents considered it a good defense move, insurance against the bases going to England's enemies, and in line with a desire to do everything to aid Great Britain.

While critics generally took the view it might lead the country to war, there were some on the other side who held that the President should have gone further and acquired the bases outright instead of on lease or included additional territory in the deal.

Comments Are Given.

Congressional comment included the following:

SENATOR HOMER T. BONE (D., Wash.)—We ought to keep our fleet if the threat against our country is half as ominbus as repeatedly charged on the floor of the senate. It is a tragic mistake to deprive ourselves of some of the most valuable ships in our navy. It is obvious they cannot be obsolete ships here and be effective units on the other side.

SENATOR CARL A. HATCH (D., N. M.)—It's a good thing congress was not asked to approve the deal. If congress had approved it, the deal would have been almost tantamount to a declaration of war.

SENATOR D. WORTH CLARK (D., Idaho)—One of the latest steps on the road to inevitable war. Whatever the bases were worth should be charged against the unpaid world war debts. We should keep the destroyers.

SENATOR TOM CONALLY (D., Tex.)—Of course it is desirable to acquire these naval and aviation bases. If the certificate of Admiral Stark is sound, it seems to me that the arrangement is wholly desirable.

Calls It Good Job.

SENATOR HENRY F. ASHURST (D., Ariz.)—I think he did a good job. Even if he had gotten no bases, I think it would have been a good job. Leaders of nations cannot be stopped by obscure cobwebs when a matter of defending the people is involved.

SENATOR ALBEN W. BARKLEY (D., Ky.)—It's one of the greatest accomplishments in behalf of national and hemispheric defense that has ever been consummated.

SENATOR GERALD P. NYE (R., N. D.)—A direct act of war in violation of our treaties and statute.

SENATOR ELMER THOMAS (D., Okla.)—I approve the program. If we trade them some property we haven't any use for for some property we need, it is just like any other commercial transaction.

SENATOR ELBERT D. THOMAS (D., Wash.)—I am glad it has been consummated. There is no doubt the President had ample power.

SENATOR SHERMAN MINTON (D., Ind.)—The agreement looks to the defense of America both in giving aid to England and establishment of these bases so badly needed over here.

SENATOR H. H. SCHWARTZ (D., Wyo.)—England is fighting our fight now. I favor any aid we can give them.

Plan Is Criticized.

REPRESENTATIVE COMPTON I. WHITE (D., Idaho)—I am no more in favor of taking over land and making these huge expenditures necessary to develop and equip these bases than I would be to put the Louisiana purchase on the basis of a 99 year lease. If these new bases are worth fortifying and equipping they are worth an outright purchase.

REPRESENTATIVE WALTER S. JEFFRIES (R., N. J.)—I think it was a mistake from the standpoint of adjustment of the world war debt. We could have done some bargaining so that we could own the bases.

REPRESENTATIVE HAMILTON FISH (R., N. J.)—Hitler would be perfectly within the law to declare war on us tomorrow.

REPRESENTATIVE FRANK O. HORTON (R., Wyo.)—I think it was up to us to get control of these air bases to avoid the possibility of their going into the hands of an enemy.

Good Deal, He Says.

REPRESENTATIVE FRED CUMMINGS (D., Colo.)—Thirty days ago I wouldn't have favored this move. But now it looks as though England might hold out. It was a good deal.

REPRESENTATIVE B. FRANK WHELCHEL (D., Ga.)—I am opposed to disposing of essential war equipment, but my attitude is tempered by the fact that we do need these air bases.

REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES A. EATON (R., N. J.)—It's another illustration of the rapid and dangerous increase of executive power. I am in favor of doing everything to help England, but I want it done so as to avoid unfortunate consequences to our own people.

REPRESENTATIVE FRANK B. KEEFE (R., Wis.)—The President has at least shown us the dubious courtesy of saying that the transfer would be carried out without the necessity of legislation by congress.

Cites Need for Bases.

CHAIRMAN SOL BLOOM (D., N. Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee—We need what we are getting a great deal more than we need the destroyers.

REPRESENTATIVE CARL T. CURTIS (R., Neb.)—I wish the President would reveal to us all of the rest of these secret war commitments he has made.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN C. SHAFER (R., Mich.)—There is no longer any need for congress.

CHAIRMAN ANDREW J. MAY (D., Ky.) of the house military affairs committee—The message is gratifying.

REPRESENTATIVE GUY L. MOSER (D., Pa.)—If it was illegal to send mosquito boats abroad I don't see how it is legal to send destroyers.

REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAM J. MILLER (R., Conn.)—It is an act of war.

REPRESENTATIVE LEX GREEN, (D., Fla.)—I think we ought to negotiate to take over the western hemisphere possessions, including Canada, of those nations which are in debt to us.

CHAIRMAN CARL VINSON (D., Ga.) of the house naval committee—It's a forward step in our total defense plan.

REPRESENTATIVE HAROLD KNUTSON (R., Minn.)—The whole world's gone crazy."

Brands It Atrocious.

REPRESENTATIVE J. THORKELSON (R., Mont.)—I think this is the most atrocious and unconstitutional act any President ever could have negotiated. Under the constitution not even congress has the power to dispose of our first line of defense.

REPRESENTATIVE CARL HINSHAW (R., Cal.)—If this doesn't put us into war I wonder what it will take.

REPRESENTATIVE BERTRAND W. GEARHART (R., Cal.)—The whole performance is amazing. In view of the importance of this matter it should have been submitted to the congress.

REPRESENTATIVE ROBERT A. GRANT (R., Ind.)—This is the sorriest day in our history and the biggest step we've taken toward the brink of war.

Says U. S. Needs Them.

REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAM T. SCHULTE (D., Ind.)—I'm very much opposed to it. If Great Britain is in the position we're told she's in, we'll be needing those destroyers ourselves.

REPRESENTATIVE JOE B. BATES (D., Ky.)—I'm for it. I'm in favor of giving them anything they want except our young men.

REPRESENTATIVE FOREST A. HARNESS (R., Ind.)—I'm against giving the destroyers away. This practically puts us in the war.

REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAM H. LARRABEE (D., Ind.)—It's a fair deal. It's our duty to let Great Britain have the destroyers, and we certainly need the islands for naval and air bases.

REPRESENTATIVE OSCAR YOUNGDAHL (R., Minn.)—I regard his act as a serious usurpation of congressional power and one of the most serious threats to our democracy for that reason.

REPRESENTATIVE SAM RAYBURN (D., Tex.)—I think it is a great thing for the United States.

Charges Law Violation.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN M. ROBSION (R., Ky.)—The President's action is a violation of the 1916 defense act, of our treaties, and of international law, and shows his utter disregard of congress.

REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES HAWKS (R., Wis.)—The President's action was absolutely unconstitutional and probably will result in establishment of a precedent whereby he can declare war without any action by congress.

REPRESENTATIVE JOSHUA L. JOHNS (R., Wis.)—It violates international law and our own neutrality act. It brings us nearer to war than we have been since 1917.

REPRESENTATIVE CLARE E. HOFFMAN (R., Mich.)—If he can trade warships he can trade airplanes, territory, and if he can acquire bases he can acquire a base in England.

REPRESENTATIVE DEWEY SHORT (R., Mo.)—The government of the United States has declared war on Germany and make no mistake about it.

Representative Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, declined immediate comment.

CREATE 31 DIAMOND STAR FOR MARSHALS OF THE SOVIET ARMY

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP).—A marshal's star—brilliant in gold, platinum, and diamonds—was created today by the supreme soviet to be worn by marshals of the Red army.

The order provided for 5-pointed gold stars with smaller stars in the center, each to be encrusted with 5 diamonds of 3.06 carats and 26 smaller diamonds. They are to be worn suspended from broad red ribbons.

There are now five Red army marshals — Vice Premier Klementi Voroshilo, Defense Commisar Semen Timoshenko, Vice Commisar for Defense Gregory Kulik, and Deputy Defense Commisars Semeon M. Budyenny and B. M. Shaposnikov.

CHINESE BLAST 2 RAIL LINES NEAR PEKING, TIENTSIN

PEKING, China, Sept. 3.—A day-long suspension of railway and telegraphic communications between Peking and Tientsin resulted when a mobile force of the Chinese 8th route army dynamited tracks and poles at two places near the halfway station, Lanfang.

Another break was reported near Tangshan on the coastal railway between Tientsin and Shanhaikwan, thus disrupting the Tientsin-Mukden railway.

WILLKIE ASSAILS SECRECY BEHIND DESTROYER DEAL

Should Have Been Put Up to Congress, He Says.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rushville, Ind., Sept. 3.—Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, today criticized President Roosevelt for not submitting to congress the proposal to release 50 destroyers to Great Britain.

"Do you think the transfer of war craft to a belligerent nation in war time is an act of war?" Willkie was asked.

"That is one of the things debate in congress would have clarified," he replied.

While expressing belief tha the country will approve the deal, Willkie said it was "regrettable" that his Democratic opponent "did not deem it necessary, in connection with this proposal, to secure the approval of congress or permit public discussion prior to its adoption."

Criticizes Speech Attitude.

The Republican nominee criticized the President a second time when asked for comment on the two so-called "nonpolitical" speeches that Mr. Roosevelt delivered yesterday in the south.

"When I make political speeches, I designate them as such," Willkie said. "The national committee already has requested equal radio time so that I can make some radio political speeches of my own."

Willkie's statement on the President's agreement with Great Britain warned that since the totalitarian leaders repeatedly contend that democracy is not "ecective" the United States must counter this attack by exercising the process in its entirety.

Text of Statement.

His complete statement follows:

"The country undoubtedly will approve of the program to add to our naval and air bases and assistance given to Great Britain.

"It is regrettable, however, that the President did not deem it necessary, in connection with this proposal, to secure the approval of congress or permit public discussion prior to adoption. The people have a right to know of such important commitments prior to and not after made.

"We must be extremely careful in these times, when the struggle in the world is between democracy and totalitarianism, not to eliminate or destroy the democratic processes while seeking to preserve democracy.

"It is the contention of the totalitarian rulers that democracy is not effective. We must prove that it is effective by making full use of its processes. Congress has constitutional functions as important and sacred as those of the chief executive."

Demands President Speak Up.

Willkie was informed that Senator John H. Overton (D., La.), co-author of the Overton-Russell amendment to the military conscription act, which Willkie has condemned repeatedly as soviet in purpose, had declared the amendment was not inspired by the Roosevelt administration.

"If that's true, why doesn't the President say so?" Willkie replied.

In his denunciations he has pointed to the fulsome support New Deal senators gave the amendment and called upon Mr. Roosevelt to state his position.

When the President replied that he made it a rule not to comment on pending legislation, Willkie cited 17 instances of Roosevelt comment since Jan. 1 on measures under consideration by congress.

Hurls Lie at Flynn.

Willkie termed "completely false" an assertion of Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, that records of the La Follette civil liberties investigation committee disclosed some of the companies Willkie headed as president of Commonwealth & Southern corporation had been clients of labor "spy" agencies.

"When Flynn has to resort to anything like that, he must be very much disturbed over the outcome of the election," the nominee said.

Willkie said that no one ever connected with any of the companies he formerly headed had ever testified before the La Follette committee.

Former Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and his wife were luncheon guests of the nominee and Mrs. Willkie today, but Willkie said in his press interview that their discussion centered upon the subject of conservation.

Discuss Cabinet Row.

Pinchot was chief forester under President Theodore Roosevelt. Willkie said that he and his guest had discussed the row between Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and former Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace over which department should have forestry control. It now is in agriculture.

Cogressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who placed Willkie's name in nomination at the Philadelphia covention, came to Rushville today and accepted an invitation to travel with the nominee on his western tour. Another caller was Arch N. Bobbitt, Indiana state chairman.

Two Trusties Walk Away from Indiana State Prison

Indiana state prison authorities yesterday revealed the escape of two trusties who walked away Monday night from the penitentiary in Michigan City. They are John Rice, 35 years old, sentenced Dec. 7, 1937, to five years for petty larceny, and Ishmael Lewis, 40, sentenced to two years for burglary Feb. 27, 1939.

ATTEMPT TO KILL KING OF RUMANIA IN REVOLT PLOT

Gunmen Fire at Palace; Seize Iron Guards.

ately after the incidents in Bucharest soldiers were rushed to the palace with machine guns, gas masks, and full equipment. All restaurants and other public places were closed at once, and soldiers and gendarmes filled the streets.

Unconfirmed reports spread that four of the highest ranking generals of the Rumanian army were under arrest. There also were rumors that three army corps in northern Transylvania had revolted.

It was about the Transylvanian issue—the government's submission to axis demands that Rumania give nothern Transylvania to Hungary—that the crisis arose.

Two undersecretaries of state resigned in protest against the government.

Hungarian Mayor Slain.

The Hungarian mayor of Saint George, in the ceded area of Transylvania, hung out a Hungarian flag on the city hall and was killed by a crowd which stormed the building. Several other deaths were reported at Saint George and elsewhere.

At Timisoara, in south Transylvania, Italian and German consulates were wrecked, as were Hungarian and German stores.

In Cluj, the Transylvanian capital, shouting thousands filled the streets carrying placards proclaiming, "We will fight."

Defying orders from Bucharest to yield, Rumanians fought for possession of communications, railway stations, and military barracks.

In Bucharest crowds demonstrated in protest against the Transylvanian cession.

King Loses 33 Pounds.

King Carol himself was reported by qualified persons to have lost 33 pounds in the continual official nightmare that began when soviet Russia marched into Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina last July 1, taking those areas by ultimatum.

Inside the palace at the time of the attack the tired monarch's council of ministers was reported holding another in an almost endless series of meetings that followed the crisis over yielding Transylvania to Hungary.

The minister of interior issued a new warning that "severe measures" would be taken against certain members of old political parties for their present activities.

Some circles here expressed fear that the Germans might establish a complete military occupation of Rumania—thus making this nation a battleground if Russia should move further to the southwest.

Nazis to Line Frontier.

This was based on the fact that during yesterday it had been disclosed authoritatively that the Germans intended to line Rumania's soviet frontier, along southern Bukovina, with Panzer [armored] divisions not later than Sept. 15.

At the time the Nazis, along with Italy, ordered Rumania to yield to Hungary, they guaranteed this country's shrunken frontiers.

Some informed Rumanians said, too, they feared that Rumanian troops returning from Transylvania might turn their arms over to the peasants, a vast number of which already have organized corps to resist the cession.

Germans to Guard Rumanian Frontier

Captions explain yesterday's developments inside Rumania, where widespread revolts and rioting marked opposition to surrender of land to Hungary. Heavy line also indicates where German soldiers will help guard Bessarabian border.

British Exempt Ambassador Cripps' Son from Army Duty

LONDON, Sept. 3.—John Stafford Cripps, son of Sir Stafford Cripps, left wing Socialist and British ambassador to Moscow, was registered by a conscientious objectors' tribunal today as exempt from military service on the condition that he does work of national importance. Cripps, who is something of an agricultural expert, must actually work in the fields two days a week.

Eastern Honduras Feels Moderate 'Quake Shocks

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Sept. 3 (AP).—Moderate earth shocks were felt in eastern Honduras today. There have been no reports of serious damage.

REPORTS HITLER DEMANDS LATINS VOID TRADE DEBT

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Sept. 3 (AP).—The newspaper Diario de Costa Rica declared today the German government has demanded, in a note to Central American governments, cancellation of commercial debts of Holland and other Nazi occupied nations.

The paper added that official acknowledgement of receipt of the note was lacking.

Germany's action, the paper observed, illustrated the reich's need to obtain new economic resources. It suggested Costa Rican "alertness" to confront the "arrogant practices" of Germany.

BRITISH CENSORS TAKE 1,055 POUNDS OF MAIL FROM DIXIE CLIPPER

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—The Dixie Clipper came in from Bermuda today with only 211 pounds of the 1,266 pounds of mail it started with from Lisbon, the remaining 1,055 pounds having been removed by British censors. Much of the delayed material, some of which undoubtedly will be permanently withheld, is news dispatches and news pictures originating in countries other than Great Britain. About 2,300 pounds of mail previously taken off by censors was brought in by the Dixie.

WARNS ENGLAND INVASION THREAT HAS NOT PASSED

Eden Cautions Nation to Remain Vigilant.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP).—War Secretary Anthony Eden, in a war anniversary message to England today, said "it would be most foolish to suppose that, because autumn approaches, the threat of invasion is already passed."

Anthony Eden.

Addressing the national defense public interest committee at a luncheon, Eden continued:

"The contrary is the fact. There is no shred of evidence to show that Hitler has abandoned his declared intention to seek to subdue this country by invasion."

Calls August "Best Month."

The war secretary observed, however, that, with the battle of Britain still beating "about our ears," August was "for us in many respects the best month of this fighting year."

Then he sounded the warning to Britons not to be less alert.

"At any moment," he declared, "fighting may begin on a large scale in the middle east," where both the British and the Italians have large forces.

He emphasized the strides Britain has made in armaments, but added:

"There is no weapon in its armory of which the army does not ask for more."

Advises Vigilance.

"There is plenty of evidence to cause us to be especially watchful during these next few weeks," Eden said.

"Vigilance is as compelling a duty today as it has been at any time in these last three months. To watch and ward is our instruction, not as troops that hold passively a defensive line but as an army waiting to spring should the foe come within our grasp.

"In some respects today our position is the most enviable of any in our history. There are times when it is good to stand alone, especially when you know that you are not going to stand like that forever, and we know that.

"Every nation that Hitler has overrun is his unwilling victim.

Speaks of Defense.

"All the propaganda in the world will not make a man who has once tasted true liberty accept as genuine the Goebbels [German propaganda minister] substitute. In this country today are contingents, and they are growing contingents, from the armies of all those peoples under Hitler's rule. They are our comrades."

The war secretary declared "defense works have been pushed forward at immense speed.

"In contrast with three months ago, they represent a national transformation," he said.

Eden noted that "the royal air force, by its splendid gallantry, strikes the prelude for victory," but added, "It's the army that must deal the final blow."

Eden praised Prime Minister Winston Churchill, remarking:

"Nothing could have equaled his courage at the darkest hour. He is a true warrior, brave, and fertile in expedients, ever cool and watchful."

2 CHINESE SLAY HEAD OF PRO-JAP SHANGHAI PAPER

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 3 (AP).—Liu Han-ha, a nationalized Japanese recently named president of a pro-Japanese Chinese language newspaper, was killed by two Chinese gunmen today in a restaurant in the International settlement. The assassins escaped.

The newspaper executive whose post Liu was expected to assume shortly was assassinated on June 26. He was known as a follower of Wang Ching-wei, head of the Japanese-sponsored Chinese regime at Nanking.

The scene of today's shooting was the British defense sector, which has been taken over by the Shanghai volunteer corps temporarily since the withdrawal of British troops.

Australia to Build 50 Vessels for Naval Patrol

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 3 (AP).—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies today announced that 50 naval vessels will be built in Australia "to defend shipping from submarines, aircraft, and mines." It is planned to complete the ships by next year, Menzies said. The new craft will be of Australian design, manned by Australians, and named after Australian towns.

'WALL OF FLAME' STOPS MASS AIR STABS AT LONDON

Germans Driven Off in Brief Night Attack.

LONDON, Sept. 4 Wednesday (AP).—German raiding planes in great waves beat in vain yesterday at a "wall of flame" thrown up about London by antiaircraft guns and a hail of machine gun bullets and were driven off a third time late last night after a 14 minute engagement at the city's outskirts.

Other night bombers, however, attacked the industrial Midlands; northwest, northeast, southeast and southwest England and areas in Wales and Scotland. Bombs fell in at least one southeast town. At least 13 cities reported raiders overhead.

The day's third raid on London came at 11:35 p. m. It was the shortest on record for the London area.

British Raid French Coast.

The British air force continued at night its raids on the French coast. Observers in England saw antiaircraft shells and bombs bursting in the Calais region.

The Nazis' daylight attacks on southeast England had brought one of the war's biggest air battles, but the air ministry said the Germans managed to bomb only one spot in Kent, and the majority were turned back at the coast.

Helping in the defense of Britain, a newly formed Czech squadron was officially credited with destroying several German planes during the day.

The British said 25 attacking planes were destroyed during the day at a British loss of 15 planes. Eight British pilots, however, were said to be safe.

[The Germans put British losses at 54 and their own at 18.]

British Report Raids on Foe.

As for the British offensive, at the start of the second year of war, the air ministry told of successful raids yesterday by the air force "night hawk patrol" on objectives all the way from German conquered Norway to Italy.

Especially heavy blows were rained upon a power plant at Genoa, a dynamite works near Cologne, and gun emplacements on the French coast, the ministry declared. German supply ships in a Norwegian harbor on Sogne fjord and off the Dutch coast also were bombed.

The admiralty announced that 16 merchant ships, 13 of them British, were destroyed by "enemy action" during the week ended Aug. 25-26. They totaled 79,750 tons.

This total compared with an average weekly loss of 52,540 tons since the start of the war, the admiralty said, but was below the average of 88,700 tons since May 27, when Germany intensified her war on shipping.

Deny Enemy Claims.

German losses total approximately 923,000 tons and Italian losses 273,000 tons since the outbreak of war, the admiralty asserted.

"Enemy" claims of 183,964 tons of shipping sunk during the week under review were declared to be "considerably over twice the actual recorded losses."

In a review of the first year of war at sea, a naval spokesman said enough action had been seen to prove that the chances of a successful air attack against an efficient fleet, either at sea or in harbor, are small.

The spokesman asserted war experience showed that "all naval defenses" can be defended. As an example, he said, since the Orkneys base at Scapa Flow was well armed against an aerial onslaught, it had not been molested.

FIND EVIDENCE OF 5TH COLUMN SIGNALS TO NAZIS

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP).—Growing evidence of attempts by fifth columnists to signal German air raiders has been uncovered in different parts of Britain, informed sources said today.

Three women have been taken into custody on suspicion of signaling from a rooftop in Willesden, a London borough. An elderly Swiss couple was remanded Saturday for trial on a similar charge.

In one northwest English town air raid wardens discovered oblong bits of metal with strong reflective powers hidden in the grass of an open field. Experts said the objects probably were placed there to indicate, when the raiders dropped flares, the proximity of military objectives.

According to the British captions, these streaks of vapor mark the twisting and turning of British and German planes in combat over the coast of Kent on Aug. 28. The lines from the exhausts seem to parallel until they merge in a tight turn at upper left. A barrage balloon (arrow) appears at left.

BRITISH BOMBERS FLY OVER BERLIN IN MIDNIGHT RAID

Planes Pierce Barrage of Artillery Fire.

BERLIN, Sept. 4, Wednesday (AP).—British bombing planes, hidden by lofty clouds, flew high over Berlin shortly after midnight today.

Authorized spokesmen said two hostile squadrons flying into Germany were subjected to heavy antiaircraft fire between Wittenberg and Magdeburg.

"Several explosions were observed in the air," they said.

Planes Run Barrage.

However, several planes ran the antiaircraft barrage and reached Berlin, where they zoomed repeatedly over the city in the cloud streaked sky. Antiaircraft guns put up a violent defense.

The German wireless broadcast that the largest part of the formations had to give up the intention of reaching Berlin because of inability to break thru the artillery barrage on the Elbe river. One British plane was reported to have been shot down.

Authorized sources said bombs were dropped in the region of Magdeburg, Braunschweig, and Halberstadt.

VICTORY HOPES RISE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—Reports of wholesale victories of the German air force and assertions that the truth about England's "desperate position" are being withheld from the English people keep the hope for a decisive victory before the end of the year running high among the German people.

The German high command, after announcing that 93 British planes were destroyed in yesterday's fighting, with 23 German planes missing, tonight said raids on England continued all day long. A communique said the "systematic onslaught" on British ports and air fields, and the mining of British ports were continued.

Report 54 Planes Downed.

At least 54 British planes were destroyed before noon today, reports from the raiding squadrons said, 15 before they could rise to do battle. Twelve German planes failed to return.

A semiofficial news service expressed the conviction that "the intense German offensive of the past few days was carried out with new methods, and may be the preparation for the real knockout blow against England."

Newspapers said that the British air fleet is beginning to weaken and will not be able to continue the fight at the present intensity.

The fact that comparatively few English planes flew into Germany last night was interpreted by Germans as a sign of the weakening of the English reserves.

German authorized sources said Polish flyers who were fighting on the side of the British flew over Berlin Sunday night. They declared the Poles landed purposely in German controled territory and offered to tell the Germans "everything they knew" if they were given their freedom.

Quote Polish Flyers.

According to one report, one of the planes which came over with the British raiders flew toward the east instead of returning westward after the raid. The plane's crew was said to have established wireless contacts with a German air field near Frankfurt on the Oder. The flyers, Nazi sources said, asked that the air field of Okeice, near Warsaw, be lighted up to enable them to land there.

They were said to have told the Germans they belonged to the fighter squadron of the Polish army of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski and that "they realized the hopelessness of the fight." Nazis said the Poles volunteered for the flight to Berlin and quoted the aviators as declaring they would give information to the Germans if they were not arrested.

"This assurance was given to them," the Germans said. Nazis expressed the belief that this incident shows the "lack of unity in the ranks of the volunteers from Poland, Norway, Czecho-Slovakia, and France fighting for Britain and illustrates the weakness of the English forces."

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP).—All but a few of the parents of the 320 British children rescued from a torpedoed liner Friday night while bound for Canada are supporting the youngsters' wish to sail again, the children's overseas reception board reported today. Most of the children will leave a northern port tomorrow morning for their homes, where they will wait until new shipping accommodations are ready.

TELLS HOW TWO AMERICANS DIED IN ITALIAN RAID

Missionary Calls Bomb Attack Deliberate.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 3 (AP).—The Rev. Kenneth Oglesby, Brooklyn, N. Y., missionary wounded in an Italian air raid on Aug. 23, when Dr. Robert Grieve and his wife, of Spokane, Wash., were killed, said tonight the attack followed the refusal of the missionaries to cross into Ethiopia from Doro, the mission post in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, where the attack occurred, and present their passports to Italian military authorities.

In an account forwarded here from the raided mission post, the survivor also said Mrs. Grieve had been expecting a child, and gave that as one of the reasons the Italian demand was refused.

Oglesby's wife also was wounded in the attack.

Tells of Italian Demand.

Malcolm I. Forsberg, American head of the mission at Chali, received a letter from the Italian commander at Kurmuk, in nearby Ethiopia, on Aug. 5, demanding that the mission personnel at Chali and Doro present themselves to him, Oglesby said.

Forsberg sent a native runner across the frontier to ask the Italians to allow the missionaries to remain at their posts, and explained that there was no means of transportation to Kurmuk, that it was dangerous for women and children to travel in wet malarious weather, and that Mrs. Grieve was an expectant mother.

Eighty Bombs Dropped.

"The runner did not receive an answer," Oglesby related, "but the final reply came Aug. 23 when 80 bombs, including incendiaries, were dropped, killing the Grieves while they were spreading out an American flag."

TAHITI TO FIGHT ON WITH BRITAIN, SAYS DE GAULLE

Claims More of France's Colonies Will Revolt.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP).—The headquarters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of dissident French forces, tonight announced that the southern Pacific isle of Tahiti had decided to continue in the war on the side of Britain.

Gen. de Gaulle declared that other French islands in Oceania are expected to follow Tahiti's decision.

[Tahiti, about 2,000 miles south of Hawaii and about 2,200 miles northeast of New Zealand, is the largest of the French Society islands in the Pacific. Its area is about 600 square miles. Its population in 1936 was 19,029 inhabitants.]

De Gaulle Wins Plebiscite.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, Sept. 3 (AP).—A plebiscite held on Tahiti and other French islands in Oceania resulted in 5,251 votes being cast for Gen. Charles de Gaulle, London, who is leader of dissident French forces, and 18 votes for French Chief of State Philippe Petain. The results were announced today.

Italian Move on Syria Seen.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 3 (AP).—Belief that the Italians were moving toward occupation of French mandated Syria was expressed tonight in official British quarters.

This belief was based on a report that members of the Italian armistice mission had demanded that France disband her air force in Syria as the first step in the direction of Italian occupation. A tendency among the French in Syria to resist such demands was reported here.

Planes Go to Gibraltar.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Sept. 3 (AP).—Nineteen French planes and bombers from French Morocco landed at Gibraltar today to join others that flew here rather than return to France.

Empire Intact, Says Petain.

VICHY, France, Sept. 3 (AP).—Chief of State Philippe Petain today declared that the unity of the French empire, "forged by a thousand years of effort and sacrifices," remains intact.

In his first broadcast addressed directly to France's colonial empire since the armistice with Germany, Petain declared "no attempt, no matter from what direction or concealed under no matter what ideal, can prevail upon this unity."

[The Vichy government, however, has acknowledged a rebellious movement in some French possessions in Africa and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, self-styled leader of "free Frenchmen," has claimed the allegiance of all French Equatorial Africa for his forces still allied with Britain. There have been signs of disaffection also in French Indo-China and New Caledonia, France's south Pacific possession.]

At the same time the official journal published a decree dismissing the governors of New Caledonia and Indo-China.

TELL NAME OF BRITISH REFUGEE SHIP TORPEDOED

New York, Sept. 3 [Special]. — The ship that was reported torpedoed several days ago while bound for Canada with 320 British refugee children was the Holland-American liner Volendam, according to private advices received here today. All of the children were saved, official reports released in London Sunday night said.

Advices received here said the 15,434 ton liner did not sink after the torpedoing, but was towed back to a northern port in Scotland. The liner probably will be replaced in service.

WAR LEAVES ITS SCARS IN REGION OF MONTE CARLO

Alpine France Ponders Fate at Duce's Hands.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Sept. 3.—This region reproduces in miniature the northern border of occupied France. For a few miles along a flowery promontory road to the east are traces of the short war between France and Italy—damaged houses, barbed wire entrenchments, and Italian soldiers guarding the region around Menton, part of which they captured and still hold. Some shells even fell within Monte Carlo, but they caused more excitement than damage.

Last week Italian authorities began allowing functionaries and municipal employés of Menton to return to their homes and jobs. The other inhabitants may be allowed to return later.

For the moment the Italians here are going thru the same motions, in a small way, that the Germans are making in the occupied region to the north.

Ponder Region's Fate.

What will be the ultimate fate of France's bordering Alpine departments, running north from the Mediterranean to the Savoy region, is, of course, a secret of the future. No one talks about it here, but every one thinks about it, and especially about what will be the ultimate disposition of the city of Nice. It will all be fixed by the final treaty of peace between Italy and France.

In times past, Italian newspapers have claimed Nice and the five bordering departments of France lying west of Turin. Some observers believe, however, that Premier Benito Mussolini's claims will not include that much and will, perhaps, follow the principle of not claiming more than was actually conquered. That would be a small region around Menton, and another small area farther north, called Lanslebourg, near Modane. The town of Breil, on the frontier north of Menton, might also be claimed, some inhabitants here believe. French troops were holding all other frontier points when the armistice was signed.

Streets Get Italian Names.

Certain facts, such as the giving of Italian names to streets and squares in Menton, seem to indicate that Italy will keep Menton, as a symbol if for no other reason.

Other persons in Monaco wonder if the final settlement will result in the formation of some kind of buffer border state built around the principality of Monaco.

All these matters remain to be threshed out. The second armistice commission, sitting in Turin, doubtless is preoccupied with the problem. One member of the commission is the prefect of the Alpes Maritimes department, in which Nice is situated.

From Monte Carlo today this correspondent watched some of the Menton officials returning home over the hot, dusty roads. A long list of regulations for their return had been drawn up by the Italian forces.

War's Scars Remain.

Entrance to Menton is forbidden to all others, but one can proceed beyond Monte Carlo and the medieval village of Roquebrune, perched on a hill, then swing around to Cap Martin, and from there get a glimpse of Menton, the town that Mussolini's men captured.

The first signs of war appear at Roquebrune, for the Italians dropped lots of bombs and did much cannonading in the mountain and valley towns. Barbed wire entanglements appear here and there, as well as shell smashed villas and telephone poles. At a crossroads is a signpost, now out of date, which says, "Menton, 4 kilometers [about 2.5 miles]; Italy 7 kilometers [about 4.4 miles], and Vintimille, 15 kilometers [about 9.3 miles]."

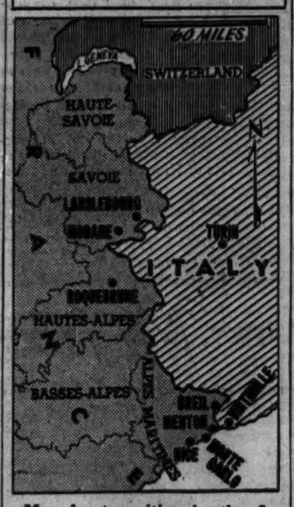
One goes down a road with hairpin turns, passes abandoned villas on the way to the sea, and finally reaches Cap Martin, from where Menton can be seen easily, with its green-gray Italian soldiers and caribiniers. But the gendarmes let no one pass.

Cap Martin Is Silent.

It seems strange to see this picture postcard vacation country cluttered up with tank traps, trenches, and blockhouses.

Cap Martin's town hall was pretty well smashed up. Much damage also was done to tea rooms and shops, and the famous Grand hotel, beloved of princes and kings, is a fine mess of ruins. The town is empty and silent. Thru the orange trees and mimosa one gets a splendid glimpse of the pale blue sea and of the region which indolently awaits its change of destiny.

Occupied by Italy



Map locates cities in the five French departments on the Italian border whose ultimate fate is in doubt.

BRITISH BATTLE RAIL RATE BOOST; FEAR INFLATION

Peril of Rising Living Costs Is Cited.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The growing danger that wholesale inflation and soaring living costs may undermine Britain's economic structure during the war was brought out at a public inquiry today. The inquiry was being made on the British railroads' decision to increase fares and food freight charges to expand their joint incomes by at least $2,000,000 annually.

Lionel Jellinek, representing the London Coöperative society, one of the numerous industrial and public societies fiercely opposing the projected increase, told the tribunal that increased railroad rates would immediately affect living costs and give a sharp impetus to the vicious spiral of inflation.

Sees Action for Wage Boosts.

Jellinek contended that if railroad fares and food were going to cost more, workers would agitate for increased wages or else be forced to see their children lack necessary comforts.

Other speakers bitterly attacked the railway executive committee and the minister of transport, who was denounced by a commercial travelers' representative as "pooh bah."

Earnings Reported Higher.

Arguments were raised that railroads already were earning at a rate of $8,000,000 annually above the $168,000,000 profit guaranteed by the government in taking over their control at the beginning of the war and, it was suggested, the railroads by proposing an increase in rates merely are attempting to raise a hedge against inflation.

The inquiry was adjourned until tomorrow.

BRAZIL INSISTS AMERICAS MUST USE NAVY BASES

"In the continental conception arising from many Pan-American conferences all naval bases in America, wherever established, must be at the disposition of all for the common defense in case of attack, because America must be defended by the union of all American nations."

HOUSE DEBATES DRAFT; DICTATOR RIDER MODIFIED

Committee Approves Limit on Industry Seizure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Before packed galleries, including numerous anticonscription lobbying groups, the house of representatives today began debate on the Roosevelt administration's draft bill. The debate is expected to take the rest of the week, with a vote on the measure improbable before Friday afternoon.

Shortly before the house convened the house military affairs committee agreed to a substitute for the senate approved dictatorship amendment to the bill. The senate amendment would empower the President to have condemned and take over private industrial plants "and other facilities" whenever the secretary of war or navy decided the plants or facilities were necessary to national defense and was unable to reach an agreement with the owners.

The amendment, while tempering somewhat the possibilities under the senate measure, was seen by observers to be only less slightly dictatorial in intent. It requires manufacturing firms to accept government orders under threat of stiff penalties for failure to abide by executive decrees.

Adopted by Slim Margin.

The measure was adopted by the committee by the narrow vote of 12 to 11 and will be presented from the floor later on in the debate.

Representative J. Joseph Smith (D., Conn.), who sponsored the amendment, explained that it is based largely on the national defense act of 1916 "adapted" to the present situation. The 1916 defense act gave the President certain powers to take over and operate private industry "in case of war or when war is imminent." In the Smith amendment this phrase has been eliminated, a comparison with the old act reveals.

This has the effect, it was explained, of giving the President upon passage of the bill the power to place private plants under governmental control at the recommendation of the secretary of war or the secretary of navy any time the owners of the plants refuse to accept government contracts whether or not there is war or any prospect of war.

Compliance of private firms with government orders shall be "obligatory," the Smith amendment provides. Refusal would be punishable by a maximum of three years in prison and a fine of $50,000. Meanwhile, the amendment provides, the President can at the instigation of his secretaries take immediate possession of the plants and operate them for the duration of the emergency, paying a "just rental."

The senate amendment gave the President power to take over manufacturing plants or their facilities, the latter which was taken to mean even radio chains and newspapers. The proposed house amendment limits the executive power over private enterprise to manufacturing plants.

Limited to Industry.

The senate amendment gave the President the power to take immediate possession of the plants—which would thereupon become the permanent possessions of the United States government—leaving only the matter of subsequent compensation to court determination. Under existing law the government cannot take possession of private property without a court ruling that the property is required by the public interest.

The Smith amendment, while giving the President the power to take over the plants when he sees fit, limits the governmental control to the duration of the emergency for which the rental is to be paid.

Thus, Representative Smith explained, the plants would pass back into private hands after the emergency or after the contracts have been fulfilled.

Also under the senate amendment, the government could order any manufacturing plant to produce almost anything and if the owners refused could then take possession of the plant. The house measure provides specifically that in placing the contracts the manufacturers must be asked to produce material or products which they usually produce or are capable of producing.

HALF OF GUARD'S COAST DEFENSE FORCES CALLED

18 Regiments Included in First Group.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Military circles disclosed today that the inclusion of 18 antiaircraft and harbor defense regiments in the first National Guard units ordered into active service by President Roosevelt was a carefully thought out move designed to bolster the first line of this country's national defenses. In the matter of repelling an invader, it was explained, their work admittedly would be of paramount importance and the army command decided their training should have priority over that of the other units.

Half of these units in the National Guard were included in the President's first call. Most of the others, it was reported, have only recently been organized but probably will receive their orders as soon as the army training program has had a chance to absorb the 21,000 men in the first of the antiaircraft and harbor defense units called.

Will See Maximum Training.

Heretofore these regiments have been allotted two weeks of field training a year. The rest of their work was on paper. The army command recognized that this was insufficient for work that included higher mathematics and the handling of delicate calculating instruments and precision shooting guns. The plan is to give these men the maximum amount of training under actual fighting conditions.

Eight of the 11 National Guard harbor defense regiments were in the first call. This is a total of approximately 7,700 officers and men who have been assigned to Portland, Me.; Boston, Mass.; Long Island, N. Y.; Narragansett, R. I.; Sandy Hook, N. J.; Chesapeake Bay, Va.; Puget Sound, Wash., and Columbia City, Ore.

They are to become expert at handling the long range coast artillery guns, including the 16 inch weapons with an effective range of 47,500 yards, which would be used against an invading battle fleet.

High Accuracy Claimed.

In speaking of these guns, army officials were careful to distinguish between them and the so-called Big Berthas about which so much has been heard in connection with the European war.

The long range United States guns, while shooting only about 22 miles, they said, can be aimed about as accurately as a rifle whereas the long range guns developed by the Nazis, capable of a much greater range, are not fired at any particular mark. They are merely pointed high in the air and fired "in hopes" the shell will hit an important target when it falls, the army officials asserted.

Roughly the military tacticians of this country estimate that one of the long range coast artillery guns is the equal to two full battleships, that is, one gun should be able to put two battleships out of commission before it is silenced.

Air Defense Regiments Called.

Also included in the President's call were seven of the 22 antiaircraft regiments which have been assigned for mobilization and preliminary training to Camp Logan, Ill., Fort Barrancas, Fla., Cape Cod, Mass., Camp Upton, Del., Virginia Beach, Va., and Ventura, Cal. Twelve of the remaining units were organized in the last few weeks and, it is reported, are not yet prepared to take to the field.

The antiaircraft units in the first call, a total of approximately 8,750 officers and men, are scheduled later to be transferred to three concentration points where the weather will permit them to engage in firing practice the year around and adequate ranges will provide sufficient latitude for all types of shooting. This is distinguished from the harbor defense units which are to remain at their assigned posts thruout the training period.

The three concentration points for the antiaircraft training are at March Field, Cal., Savannah, Ga., and Camp Hulen, Tex. Most of the places were they are to receive their preliminary training beginning later this month are in thickly populated districts where the firing ranges are limited, the officials said.

A third group of National Guard coastal defense units called by the President were three 155 millimeter gun regiments. These, it was explained, are mobile units whose chief duty in time of emergency would be to protect the mine fields and antisubmarine nets from shore. Their guns, approximately 6 inch, are capable of a range of 17,400 yards and can be unlimbered almost anywhere on shore close to the water's edge or even on a beach when necessary.

Each of these motorized regiments has about 1,300 officers and men and is equipped with 24 155-millimeter guns. They are assigned to Virginia Beach, Va.; Camp McQuade, Cal., and Charleston, S. C. It is expected they will remain at these points for most of the training period, altho they can quickly be moved elsewhere, according to the army command, to take part in any coastal maneuvers.

All of these coastal defense units, it was said, will supplement the regular army units assigned to the several posts and will have little to do with training conscripts if the draft passes congress.

MADRID STIRRED AS FRENCH LANDS IN AFRICA REVOLT

See Danger to Imperial Ambitions.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 3.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco was back at work today after vacationing in his native Galacia with his family and military staff.

Franco returned to a Madrid which was aroused from its midsummer siesta by news of the revolt of French Equatorial Africa under the leadership of partisans of Gen Charles de Gaulle, head of the French national committee in London.

This is the first recent development capable of affecting Spain. Most neutral observers here believe Spain's nonbelligerency is more genuine than that previously adopted by Italy, due to Spain's difficult economic situation.

Problems Near Former Empire.

But no country which has the imperial ambitions which Gen Franco has openly claimed for his nation could remain indifferent to the problems likely to be created by the revolt on the borders of what still remains of its former empire in Africa.

Madrid newspapers have made only a brief announcement that French Equatorial Africa had swung over to Gen. De Gaulle.

A small section of Africa bordered on three sides by the French Cameroons—which is understood to be one of the revolting regions—and on the fourth side by the Atlantic ocean is the territory of Spanish Guinea which, with the island of Fernando Poo, constitutes one remnant of Spain's imperial splendor.

May Affect Other Colonies.

Should the revolt succeed and spread to French East Africa and French Morocco, it would touch other Spanish possessions—Rio de Oro, off which lie the Canary Islands, Ifni, Spanish Morocco, and Tangier, over which this government recently assumed control.

Military observers here believe the De Gaulle revolt is likely to spur Italy to military action from Libya. Diplomatic circles here wonder how the government would react if the war spread into a section of Africa which was formerly Spanish and is officially regarded as the scene of future imperial expansion.

The situation is given special interest by the recent arrival here of the new Italian ambassador. He is expected to present his credentials to Gen. Franco soon.

8 HIGH SCHOOLS EXPECT TO TRAIN DEFENSE LABOR

Eight high schools will have afternoon and evening classes offering 30 hours of training weekly to students with potentialities as skilled workers for national defense, under a plan to be submitted today to the Chicago board of education. Courses are limited to machine shop, wood shop, sheet metal work, aviation ground work, welding, and architectural and marine drawing.

Believing approval is certain, Superintendent William H. Johnson opened the schools for registration last night. The students will be jobless high school graduates, WPA workers, or reliefers.

"The Fire and the Wood" Is a Tense and Dramatic Account of Nazi Persecution.

BOOKS

"Father Was an Editor," a Gentle Bit of Americana, Captures Charm of the Past.

Two New Books Foretell Fall Styles in Literature

"The Fire and the Wood," by R. C. Hutchinson. (Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.) Published last Friday. September choice of the Literary Guild.

"Father Was an Editor," by Joshua K. Bolles. (Norton, $2.50.) To be published tomorrow.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

These two books are excellent examples of two definite patterns in literature which have become extremely popular, patterns which the fall publication lists will duplicate—varied—again and again. "The Fire and the Wood" is cast in the Nazi persecution mold. "Father Was an Editor" is cast in the "Life with Father" and "Country Lawyer" mold. Harassing novels about the Nazi rule as it persecutes its opponents, and gentle books of memory about the charms of the recent American past and the country are, oddly enough, the two leading and contrasting fall styles in literature.

The popular pattern of "The Fire and the Wood" is varied by the likewise popular "doctor" theme. Its hero is a young house doctor in a hospital at Hartzinnfeld, Germany, who has spent years in researching a tuberculin cure, and who hopes passionately to be able to find a human being upon whom to experiment.

Fate offers him the fulfillment of his dream in a tuberculosis-wracked slavey in the boarding house where he frugally lives. There are tense moments when it seems that the treatment will be fatal. But there are tenser ones when the young doctor is put out of the hospital because he is a Jew, and is persecuted because he had dared to preempt the room in the boarding house of a young Nazi who had been unable to pay his rent.

The experiment on the girl serves as further evidence against him, and his refusal to sign a fantastic paper proclaiming himself guilty on trumped up charges casts him into a concentration camp, where he himself contracts tuberculosis.

With almost superhuman strength of will and cunning, the servant girl escapes from the hospital where she has been confined and manages to get the young doctor brought back to the boarding house and then begins a series of breath catching incidents in an "escape."

"The Fire and the Wood" is a tragic tale, made more poignant by the story telling genius which its 33 year old author proved in "Testament" and "Shining Scabbard," and indeed in all five of his novels published to date.

Nostalgic Memories of New England Life.

"Father Was an Editor" is a series of gently amusing nostalgic reminiscencial chapters about a New England village and its newspaper editor by his son. It has much of the quality of Bellamy Partridge's extremely popular "Country Lawyer," except that its amusing moments are almost never hilarious and its anecdotes seldom seam splitting.

It has a soothing tempo and a rich humanity, antidotes of great potency to the supercharging of hate and a mania for power loose in the world today. It pictures the good life of hard work, a happy family, and responsibility toward one's fellow men, and it does it by charming indirection.

Like the popular "Country Editor," which it also resembles, "Father Was an Editor" re-creates a community, a way of life, and a period as well as a person. The town's oddities live here . . . the oddest of them perhaps the ultradevoted widow who so "wished to have friends see her late husband as he was in life" that she had his body placed upright in his favorite easy chair at his funeral.

The author's relatives are gently ribbed. There is Cousin Eugene, the Boston lawyer who, as his law practice grew, began to acquire furniture of the Colonial period and whose "hobby ultimately proved more profitable than his law practice or his investments."

There is also "Cousin Anna Hampstead Branch," the well known New England poetess who "at first meeting . . . looked like a pine tree in a thunder shower," and about whom his father always said when he had called on her that it "was like having tea with Pike's Peak." Other less famous personages adorn the book and are amusingly adorned by the author.

History Codified

"An Encyclopedia of World History, edited by William L. Langer; 1,115 pages, plus exhaustive indexes. [Houghton-Mifflin, $5.50.] Published yesterday.

All history, from pre-historic times to today, is chronologically codified in this excellent reference book. This is a brand new volume which has come, by a process of evolution, from the classic "Epitome of History" which Dr. Karl Ploetz published more than 70 years ago.

When William H. Tillinghast made an English translation in 1883 he revised and enlarged the Ploetz manual. Even in those days Germans were compiling historical data only from the German point of view, and the editor had to remove the overweighted emphasis and supply sections on the middle and far eastern countries which had been completely omitted.

Edward Channing contributed new sections on modern England and the United States. As "An Epitome of Ancient, Medieval and Modern History" and [revised] "A Handbook of Universal History," it had a long and useful life.

It became "A Manual of Universal History" in 1925 under the editorship of Harry Elmer Barnes, who expanded the sections dealing with economic and cultural developments.

And now, after four years of intensive work, assisted by 13 of his co-historians at Harvard university, one from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and another from Brown university, who worked on the periods in which they have specialized, William L. Langer, Coolidge professor of history at Harvard, has produced an entirely rewritten "bird's-eye view of the biography of man."

It is seldom that a book of reference gets reviewed by literary editors. But not to call the attention of TRIBUNE readers to this one would be to deny them news of a book which is infinitely useful.

Saratoga's History Is a Fascinating Record of an Area

"Such Was Saratoga," by Hugh Bradley. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.]

Saratoga is part of the American tradition. It is the town where millionaires have rubbed shoulders with touts, where famous fortunes have been lost on the turn of the roulette wheel, where the great have come for the health-giving properties of the springs.

Mr. Bradley has written an entrancing history of the area, documenting carefully but never obtrusively to spoil a running narrative. Gentleman Johnny Burgoyne he describes as the most celebrated loser at Saratoga, for it was there, in 1777, that Burgoyne dropped one of the most decisive battles in world history.

Thru the pages of this book move such widely diverse characters as John Morrissey, rough and tumble fighter and gambler; the aristocratic August Belmont; the suave Richard Canfield; "sure thing" Arnold Rothstein. S. M. K.

Exciting Chronicle of Adventure and Intrigue in Mexico

"The Way to Santiago," by Arthur Calder-Marshall. [Reynal & Hitchcock, $2.50.]

Jimmy Lawson, complacent news agency man, might have gone on reporting the routine of Mexican life and politics, but the murder of his friend and colleague, Henry Van Dyle, shocked him out of this rut. On his way to attend a presidential function, Van Dyle was shot to death because he was too hot on the trail of a well organized Nazi plot.

At first it appeared as a challenge to his professional ingenuity when Lawson picked up a few of the threads in the Nazi web. But closer contact with those Mexicans who were willing to wager their lives in this dangerous game changed Lawson's outlook. From an observer he became a participant, disregarding the advice of another colleague.

With never a dull moment, "The Way to Santiago" is an exciting tale of adventure south of the border. Its undertones of Nazi intrigue and Mr. Calder-Marshall's excellence in delineating Mexican life and character give the story greater significance. J. H. T.

'Father Was an Editor'

A reproduction of one of the amusing sketches by Arthur D. Fuller illustrating "Father Was an Editor," by Joshua K. Bolles, reviewed today by Fanny Butcher.

Story of America Told in Terms of Great Inventions

"Engines of Democracy," by Roger Burlingame. [Schribners, $3.75.]

This is the story of the United States, told in the terms of its great inventions from the end of the civil war to the present. The story not only is of the inventions; it is a broad view of their effect upon the people—how lives and minds have been altered and how the economic scheme has been changed. By projection, it gives a glimpse of the future.

Mr. Burlingame believes that wars and other great events are the results, not the inspirations, of invention. His previous book, "March of the Iron Men," covered invention from the country's beginning to 1865—the cotton gin, the steamboat, the railroad. The present volume tells the story of the telephone, the Atlantic cable, the automobile, airplane, phonograph, radio, movies, talkies, faster printing presses, photo engraving, modern steel plants, and even barbed wire.

It is fascinating to read and is a mine of information to be preserved. The book is illustrated with scores of rare photographs, prints, and drawings, one of which envisioned warfare in the air half a century in advance of its realization. C. L.

A New Picture of Nazi Regime at Close Range

"They Wanted War," by Otto D. Tolischus. [Reynal & Hitchcock, $3.]

BY RALPH WILLIAMS.

Here's a fresh picture of "the Hitler that is Germany" and "the Germany that is Hitler," presented by a correspondent who has observed the building up of the German machine at close range. The book is written without literary flourishes, offering substantial fact rather than rhetoric.

The publishers call it "the most complete authoritative account of Hitler's reich yet written," and many readers will consider it to be just that. The presentation is strictly impersonal, and gives the impression of absolute fairness.

"They Wanted War" will leave the reader with a clearer understanding of how the German people have been brought to the mental stage where they can back the fanatical program of Adolf Hitler. The picture is built up completely.

Mr. Tolischus goes into the Wagnerian theme back of the current German threat to dominate the world. He tells how Hitler has feasted on Teuton myths to build up his case, and has recast his Wagnerian heroes and villains, who seem to be interchangeable.

More plainly than most of the Hitler biographers, Mr. Tolischus shows how all of the normal functions of the nation have been gradually brought under the domination of the reich—industry, the press, labor, culture. And there is an excellent chapter on how the women have been swept under the sway of Nazism, and made to like it.

The war background is complete. The correspondent makes no effort to follow thru the various stages of the war. Thus the book will not be out of date so soon as many others which have been outmoded by a fresh blitz.

World's Evolution.

"The Birth and Death of the Sun," by George Gamow [Viking, $3], the July selection of the Scientific Book club, gives an outline of discoveries and theories concerning the evolution of our world.

Among Current Mysteries

A Fox Hunt Puzzler.

"They Hunted a Fox," by Alice Campbell. [Scribners, $2].

When Tom Boldre went to hunt a fox he met his death. Every one thought it was an accident until a tenant farmer was killed near the spot where Boldre had been thrown from his horse. Alison Young, an American girl whose favorite friends are involved, plays a major part in the solution finally reached by Inspector Headcorn of Scotland Yard. E. T. B.

New Angle on Crime.

"Behind the Scenes of Murder," by Joseph Catton, M. D. [Norton, $3].

As the title indicates, "Behind the Scenes of Murder" takes the reader back stage in America's crime theater and gives him a fascinating glimpse of how the wheels go round in the psychiatric examination of criminals. The author, clinical professor of medicine at Stanford university, has been a practicing psychiatrist for 27 years, with crime his major interest. Some of the ace murder mysteries of this generation are seen from a new angle. A. C.

Here's a Lively Thriller.

"Guilty," by Lee Thayer. [Dodd-Mead, $2].

That clever redhead, Peter Clancy, breezes his way to a solution of the Beverly Hills murder of Doris Guilder, wife of a famous radio star. To add to the puzzle, the victim was shot and most of the characters, including a couple of midgets, are expert marksmen. It's a lively tale. R. C.

An Exciting Mystery.

"The Laughing Fox," by Frank Gruber. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.]

The author of "The French Key" has dashed off another exciting crime puzzler in which a murder in a hotel room is connected with the mysterious disappearance of one Chester Erb, which had taken place many years before. Running thru the plot are a lot of high-bred foxes and one most amusing scene takes place at a fair where they are shown. E. W.

MURDER IS NOT MUTE ..... By Audrey Newell

[Copyright, 1940; By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

HIDDEN JEWELRY.
INSTALMENT XXXIX.

The dank, moldy contents of the bag proved to be a box of face powder, a jar of cold cream, a comb, a toothbrush, lace trimmed pajamas, a jewel case, and a purse. The jewel case was empty. The purse held a lipstick, a compact, the limp remains of a package of cigarets, a clip of matches, and a notebook.

Doyle flipped over its moist pages. It was scribbled in Texie's big, bold print. He slipped it into his pocket. Then he stowed the rest of the things back in the bag and picked it up.

"O. K." he said to Follins. "I'll search Briault's room for the jewelry."

Follins opened his mouth to protest, thought better of it, and trailed Doyle out of the brewery and up the hill. At its summit, Doyle turned and looked back. Follins was grinding at the self-starter.

"What's the matter?" He was eyeing Doyle nervously.

"Nothing," Doyle said.

But his face was stern as he came around the car and slid into the seat beside the chauffeur. He thought it odd that Follins should claim to have seen Briault come across the golf course to meet Texie. For there was no view of the golf course from this spot, where Follins testified he had been standing when Briault murdered Texie back in the woods.

Truman Briault was out on the bay. You could see the white wing of his sail from the upstairs window, the butler told Doyle. But Mr. Briault would be back at the house again for 1 o'clock luncheon.

Doyle said that suited him fine. He'd wait for Mr. Briault in Mr. Briault's room.

It was apparent that the butler had received instructions from Wunsch in regard to Doyle, for he listened to this decision imperturbably, and, without a muscle so much as twitching, asked courteously if he might take Mr. Doyle's bags.

Doyle said, "No thanks," and grinned as he carried the sodden mass up the immaculate marble stairs.

On the landing he paused, seeing Paula Wunsch descend the upper flight. "Good morning," he greeted, staring up at her, noting how ill she looked and how listlessly she moved.

Her gaze fastened on Texie's bag. "What's that?" Her tone was hollow and fearful.

Doyle told her, "I think you'll enjoy your luncheon more if you don't know."

She drew away from him, pressing her body against the wall, her eyes fixed and wide with morbid fascination. "But—where are you taking it?"

"To your brother's room."

Her hand rose to her throat. "Why? Why to his room?"

Doyle changed the subject abruptly. "I want to ask you a question about Miss Doty," he said. "I understand you suspected Miss Doty of spying on your brother and Texie?"

Slowly Paula's eyes left the bag and came up to meet Doyle's.

"I was wrong," she said.

"But you must have had some reason for your suspicion?" Doyle pressed.

She shook her head gravely. "Just thoughtless panic." Her eyes hardened. "I don't know who told you this trivial thing," she said with open displeasure. "Or why any one would try to make trouble for Miss Doty. But I want to clear up any doubts you may have of her."

She looked quickly into the lower and upper halls to satisfy herself that she could not be overheard.

"Sometimes at night I have seemed to hear queer sounds," she told Doyle. "As tho some one were prowling thru the hall. And twice when I went to my bedroom door and opened it quickly I found Miss Doty at her door, just across the hall. So I leaped to the conclusion that it was she who was prowling. But since she has been taking care of me I've talked with her about it. And now I know that she was at her door for the same reason that I was at mine."

"You mean because she heard some one going thru the house?"

"Yes."

"And whom did she suspect?"

A wry smile twisted Paula's lips. "She suspected me."

She seemed suddenly anxious to get away from Doyle, and with a quickly murmured excuse, went back upstairs and shut herself into her boudoir.

Doyle made the ascent more slowly and turned toward the hall window to satisfy himself that Truman was still on the bay. The white dip and lift of the sail skimming the horizon assured the detective that he would have ample time for his search.

As Doyle turned from the window, Miss Doty came from the elder Wunsch's room. Her face lit up with pleasure at the sight of the detective.

"Hello," she said cordially.

She came quickly toward him, and then halted in her tracks, staring down at Texie's bag. Her lips parted to ask a question.

Doyle forestalled her. "It's none of your business what it is," he said grimly. "But I'd like to know what's the idea of holding out on me?"

She eyed him blankly. "What did I hold out on you?"

"Why didn't you tell me the Old Man spied on Texie and got her in wrong with her father?"

Miss Doty stiffened. "Who said he did?"

"You said he did. You told Helen Voss."

"I never!" she denied vehemently. "She's lying."

"Would you say that to her face?"

"Of course I would. She or no one else is going to drag the Old Man into this mess," Miss Doty defended warmly. "He's my patient and I'm responsible for him, and it's up to me to see that he isn't troubled by you or any one."

Doyle eyed her quizzically, "You're not secretly married to that old guy, are you?" he inquired.

In spite of her annoyance, Miss Doty chuckled. When she spoke again her tone was tinged with self mockery. "I can't help it," she excused herself. "I get this way over any one I nurse. It's my maternal instinct."

"That's very touching," Doyle told her. "But don't let your maternal instinct stand in the way of justice or you may wake up some morning and find yourself murdered in your bed."

Then he began to question her seriously and in detail about the noises that had brought her to her door late at night; about Mrs. Wunsch's earlier hostility; about Truman's gallant attentions; about the Old Man's knowledge of his granddaughter's liaison.

Miss Doty's answers were brief and straightforward, but not particularly informative.

"You're a big help," Doyle told her, disgusted, as he moved along the corridor to Briault's room. She trailed after him on her way to the service staircase, and as Doyle opened Truman's door she demanded with her unquenchable curiosity, "Why are you going in there?"

He eyed her darkly. "From now on," he announced, "I'm giving you as little information as you give me."

He shut the door in her crestfallen face, and surveyed the room with little hope, remembering how thoroly he and Blain had already searched it. But all at once it came to him that during the first part of that search, Truman had been present, impeding their progress, sarcastically commenting on their methods, and making clownish pretense of helping them.

The detective pivoted on his heel, his gaze sweeping the four walls. Just where had Briault concentrated his foolery?

Doyle recalled the young man thumping at the walls and tapping the floor with his knuckles as he announced that there were no secret passages. And there was something else he had done—about which Doyle had spoken to him sharply. What the devil had that been?

The detective sat on the edge of the bed and looked thoughtfully at the furniture. Had Truman interfered with the bureau? The desk? The bed? The radio? The curtains? The—Hells bells, yes! The books! Truman had dumped books off the shelves to show there was nothing hidden behind them.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

Hugo Black and the Boys at Dunkirk

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by Republican National Committee.)

You sometimes wonder if those boys trying to make themselves invisible under the Nazi bombing at Dunkirk, or even those of America now leaving for the training camps, ever think of Hugo L. Black. Because he has had a lot to do with their destiny.

It was Hugo, in fact, who brought Mr. Roosevelt to being the "indispensable world leader" which he now insists he is. It may be, of course, that Mr. Roosevelt would have been one anyhow. But it was certainly Hugo who projected him on his career at a most unexpected time.

White Robes and Black.

Hugo, you will undoubtedly recall, came to the United States senate from Alabama figuratively wearing the white robe of the Ku Klux Klan. In the summer of 1937 Mr. Roosevelt invested him with the black robe of the Supreme court.

Notwithstanding that every informed person in Washington knew of Hugo's background, he himself denied it and Mr. Roosevelt presumably did not believe it. Hugo, his appointment secured, scooted off to England for a vacation.

While he was over there, Mr. Roy Sprigle, a reporter on the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, dug up the indisputable black and white evidence that Hugo had been a member of the klan. Political hell broke loose.

Mr. Roosevelt adopted the ostrichlike policy he is now trying to adopt about the present campaign. In London, Hugo ran off and hid. But, of course, the matter would not down. And Hugo had to come home some time.

It was announced he would make a nation-wide broadcast upon his return, explaining all. Mr. Roosevelt found it necessary to make a trip to the Pacific coast so he wouldn't be in Washington at the time.

Manifestly, Mr. Roosevelt had to come back to Washington some time and face the music. Fully 200 newspaper men, representing all the metropolitan newspapers of the country, were to be on hand at his first interview.

Then, That Quarantine Speech.

Like a bolt from the clear sky, Mr. Roosevelt stopped at Chicago and made his famous quarantine speech. It was a vicious denunciation of Hitler, Mussolini, and Japan.

Up until this time Mr. Roosevelt had never shown the slightest interest in foreign affairs, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, with his humiliation at the hands of Mr. Roosevelt in the matter of the London economic conference in 1933, was perfectly willing that this should be Mr. Roosevelt's attitude.

Here now was a sensational utterance about which the state department had not been consulted. It was swept clean off its feet.

The immediate effect was to blanket the Hugo Black matter. Nobody wanted to waste time now asking him about Hugo when the President of the United States had challenged a good part of the world, without any national strength to back it up.

His running mate, Mr. Wallace, now says that Mr. Willkie's party is one of appeasers. You never know what this means the way the New Dealers are using it. The facts are, of course, that after hell had broken loose abroad and with nothing short of exhaustion likely to stop it, Mr. Roosevelt on two different occasions had sought to APPEASE both Hitler and Mussolini. He had BARKED at them so many times that naturally he only enraged them more.

Irritates His Leftist Chums.

Nowhere was Mr. Roosevelt's leap into world affairs more resented than among his leftist associates in Washington. These men have had definite plans in mind for "doing over" this country. Their conviction now was that with Mr. Roosevelt become "world minded" they were sunk. They assumed he would draw business men into his councils.

But Mr. Roosevelt moved quickly to assure these leftist associates that they still would be the fair haired boys. The first test came when the famous Stettinius board came to Washington and made a study of how to build up our national defense. The leftists made a demand that it be run out of town. It was. And its report was pigeon-holed. That's the report Mr. Willkie is trying to get Mr. Roosevelt to make public.

After this show of good faith on Mr. Roosevelt's part the leftists have become convinced that the TEN BILLION DOLLAR defense fund and Hitler hysteria offer a greater opportunity for making over this country's economic structure than they had before. So they've become world minded, too.

MR. WILLKIE'S MILLIONS OF FOLLOWERS ARE NOT APPEASERS; NEITHER ARE THEY CAPRICIOUS BUNGLERS.

DEMOCRATIC.

The Record of Harold Ickes.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

Whenever a thorogoing Roosevelt hater runs out of breath and out of adjectives denouncing the high crimes and tyrannies of the chief executive, he pauses a moment for second wind, turns a deeper shade of purple, and then bellows: "And look at that fellow Ickes."

The secretary of the interior is easily runner-up to the President in boiling up the blood pressure of the self-appointed patriots who regard every move to help the mass of people as the invention of Moscow or the fifth column. Perhaps his nearest rival is Harry Hopkins, but Harry is too good natured to provide much of a target for genuine and sustained ill-will.

Ickes, on the other hand, revels in a rough and tumble. His enemies even charge that when things are quiet he sniffs the atmosphere for a hint of trouble. He pitches into an opponent with a hearty zest, and the heavier the odds against him the better he likes the fray.

The quality about Ickes which brings down the wrath of the Roosevelt haters is his ability to pierce the tender and sensitive hide of the Republican elephant. The eminent statesmen who think the President is fair game for any kind of charge short of high treason howl with rage when Ickes hands it back to them in their own language. A few of them may even believe, as a newspaper columnist suggested, that the secretary has a "secret adjective," like Hitler's secret weapon, which will positively destroy the Willkie candidacy.

The curious thing about the barrage hurled against Ickes is that no one has been able to pick a flaw in his official record. For more than seven years he has handled two outstanding and difficult posts in the Roosevelt administration, secretary of the interior and administrator of public works.

Contrast in Records.

The secretary of the interior is charged under the constitution with the task of safeguarding the natural resources of the United States. He is custodian of the vast public lands with their wealth of deposits in oil, coal, and other minerals. There are huge tracts of public forests to be protected against the raids of greedy timber hunters. The mismanagement of these great reserves in the past has been the source of many serious public scandals.

As administrator of public works, Ickes had handled billions of dollars appropriated by congress to take up the slack in building caused by the depression. The surface of the country is dotted with bridges, dams, schoolhouses, and other public improvements constructed under his supervision and direction. This great enterprise had to be handled by an organization built up from scratch and thrown together with the maximum of speed and efficiency. The job has been done by Ickes well and ably.

The Republicans, remembering the career of the unfortunate Albert B. Fall, seldom speak about the interior department above a whisper. They remember the shameful disposal of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills naval reserves, the little black bag which carried the bribes, and the whole unsavory mess which covers one of the blackest pages in American history. In one of his recent speeches, President Roosevelt aptly pointed out that every national scandal of major proportions since the civil war has taken place under a Republican administration.

The usual charge leveled against Ickes is that he is a "traitor to his class," that he "lives in a big house" and yet aligns himself with the Roosevelt forces as a champion of the underdog. The interior secretary, in his numerous public addresses, has explained in convincing fashion why he believes that a government which fails to watch out for the interests of the poor and underprivileged is gambling with its own existence.

Willkie's Philosophy.

Candidate Willkie explained his philosophy in a speech delivered in St. Louis, Mo., shortly before his nomination for the Presidency. He said:

"The curse of democracy today, in the United States as well as in Europe, is that every one has been trying to please the public. Almost nobody ever gets up and says what he thinks. He is afraid that he will thereby lose the approval of labor, or the approval of the unemployed, or the approval of some other powerful faction. And this has altogether perverted the processes of democracy and sapped its strength."

There is no denying that Ickes and Willkie look at the problems of government thru opposite ends of the telescope. They read differing interpretations from the lessons of history, and the public is well able to determine which interpretation is better suited to the problems of 20th century democracy.

But, no matter what the public decides, no one is able to question the fact that Secretary Ickes has made an enviable record as a faithful and efficient public servant.

LOUIE E. LEWIS NOW IS BOSS OF STATE AFFAIRS

Supplants Nudelman as Statehouse Chief.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3.—State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, is now boss of the statehouse machine. He is also acting governor insofar as there is any acting governor during the invalidism of Gov. Henry Horner.

Louie E. Lewis.

Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman, who was under fire during the spring primary, has retired from a political leadership which caused enemies to describe him as chief mogul of an invisible Illinois government. He is devoting himself to his department, seemingly hopeful for four more years tenure under the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Harry B. Hershey.

Horner, in retirement in Winnetka since June, is still too ill from his breakdown in the fall of 1938 to participate in the campaign this autumn, according to reports here, and is too frail to perform the duties of his office.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle seemingly has dropped his fight, futile because without precedent, to invoke a provision of the state constitution that the lieutenant governor shall become acting governor during the disability of a governor. He is spending almost all of his time at his farm at McLeansboro and nearby oil explorations.

Lewis is the new boss of the statehouse machine in the sense that he was selected by code department heads as the final voice in any question of firing a pay roller for political reasons. This is the way the system works:

If a Democratic county chairman observes that a pay roller from his district is failing to work for the party he reports to Charles Bliss, Hershey's campaign manager. Bliss takes the complaint to Willam J. Walsh, head of the tax supported patronage office. Walsh communicates with the employé's department head, recommending that the pay roller be fired.

If the department head refuses to fire the employé, contending that the man or woman is too valuable for the duties he is performing, Lewis then is the judge of whether the ax shall fall.

Lewis presided today at a weekly meeting of the heads of the executive departments under the governor.

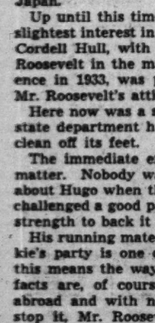
G.O.P. LEADERS PLAN 4 WILLKIE TALKS FOR CITY

Candidate Will Visit Chicago Sept. 13.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The Cook county Republican committee met yesterday to plan a round of informal speeches by Wendell L. Willkie in Chicago on Friday, Sept. 13.



John T. Dempsey.

John T. Dempsey, county chairman, announced that Mr. Willkie, thru a change in schedule, will come to Chicago on that date en route to Coffeyville, Kas., where he formally opens his platform campaign Sept. 16. Dempsey plans to visit the Presidential candidate at Rushville, Ind., tomorrow. He will submit tentative plans for four speeches—before industrial workers at the stockyards, at the South Chicago steel mills, at a rally of Negro voters, and before workers in the Western Electric plant in Cicero.

Other Speeches Arranged.

After leaving Chicago, it was announced, Willkie is to speak at seven Illinois cities on his way to Kansas.

The new coördinating committee for volunteer workers opened headquarters in suite 1610 of the Chicago Title and Trust building, 69 West Washington street. Its purpose is to enroll volunteer workers and to assign them something definite to do in coöperation with Willkie clubs, or with the national, state, or county organizations.

3 Members on Committee.

Members of the committee are Leonard C. Reid, preconvention Illinois manager for Thomas E. Dewey; Kellogg M. Patterson, representative in Illinois of Senator Robert A. Taft before the Philadelphia convention, and Attorney Perry J. Ten Hoor.

"Our greatest need now is for volunteer secretarial and typist service," said Ten Hoor. "The response today has been good. It will naturally take a week or so to get activities running full steam."

BIG NEW STYLE IDEA IS LOW PRICED CAR SENSATION

Just think! You can pick the outside color you want and, without paying one cent extra, get an interior that harmonizes with it beautifully.

NEW 1941 HUDSON

Hudson Offers Fine Automobiles in Every Popular Price Class . . . AT NEW PRICES STARTING AMONG AMERICA'S LOWEST . . . New Hudson Six and Super-Six (in the lowest and low price fields); New Hudson Commodore Six and Eight and Commodore Custom (in the moderate price field). MORE CAR for LESS MONEY in Every Popular Price Class

Symphonic Styling

Brilliant new design . . . and, for the first time in low priced cars, a wide choice of interior color combinations that harmonize with exterior colors . . . AT NO EXTRA COST

THINK OF being able to get, in a car in the lowest price field, a rich harmony of line and color that is more completely beautiful than anything you have seen, up to now, in very costly cars.

No wonder buyers of 1941 cars are frankly amazed when they come to Hudson showrooms. No wonder Hudson's Symphonic Styling is already being recognized as one of the truly great forward steps in automobile style design. And no wonder owners of other low priced cars are telling one another: "We're changing to Hudson this year."

Your Money Buys MORE

Symphonic Styling is a brilliant example of the extra value made possible by Hudson's long-standing engineering leadership.

Engineering leadership brings extra value all through these 1941 Hudsons. You get more size and room, including the biggest luggage compartment ever built into a sedan body. You get more for your money in smooth riding and easy driving with such features as the finest type of independent front wheel coil springing (never used before in any car within hundreds of dollars of Hudson's prices), True Center-Point Steering (used in high priced cars only, until adopted by Hudson), a new and finer Synchronized Silent Mesh Transmission, lighter, smoother clutch action, longer wheelbases.

Safety That's Beyond Price

In addition to all this, these 1941 Hudsons are America's Safest Cars. No other cars have Patented Double-Safe Brakes. If hydraulics should ever fail (as they can in any car through leakage due to accident or service neglect), you just push farther on the same foot pedal and STOP. No other cars have Patented Auto-Poise Front Wheel Control . . . extra protection even if a tire blows.

New 1941 Hudsons are now on display. More for your money in every popular price class, beginning with the lowest. Come and see!

SAFEST CAR EVER BUILT!

Patented Double-Safe Hydraulics (two-way stopping from the same foot pedal); Patented Auto-Poise Front Wheel Control, for extra safety even if a tire blows . . . and other unique safety features.

VALUE WITHOUT EQUAL!

Longer Wheelbases, Roomier Bodies, Still Easier Riding and Driving, New Improved Synchronized Silent Mesh Transmission . . . 1941's Best Investment in All-Around Value.

WE GET THE BASES.

President Roosevelt notified congress yesterday of the agreement between the United States and Great Britain which gives this country leases for naval and air bases in British-American possessions.

Lord Lothian, British ambassador, in a note to the state department, said the leases would apply to the eastern side of the Bahamas, the southern coast of Jamaica, the west coast of St. Lucia, the west coast of Trinidad in the Gulf of Paria, to the island of Antigua, and to British Guiana within 50 miles of Georgetown.

THE TRIBUNE rejoices to make this announcement, which fulfills a policy advocated by this newspaper since 1922. In spite of much discouragement, THE TRIBUNE persisted, month by month and year by year, in calling for these additions to the national defense. It may be found, as we think it will be, that this is the greatest contribution of this newspaper to the country's history since the nomination of Lincoln.

The agreement is not in the terms THE TRIBUNE would have preferred. Nevertheless, any arrangement which gives the United States naval and air bases in regions which must be brought within the American defense zone is to be accepted as a triumph.

INSPIRATION FROM MARX.

The Republicans have been reading a book by Henry A. Wallace. It appeared in the second term campaign of 1936. Its title was "Whose Constitution?" and it attracted some attention then. But a good many people did not know precisely what Mr. Wallace was getting at when he said that if we do draw inspiration, direct or indirect, from Karl Marx, we'll modify it in practical operation.

Some people were beginning to detect communist inspiration in the New Deal program and some were convinced they could see the purpose and progress of it.

The Dies committee reports are supplemental volumes to the works of Mr. Wallace and other New Deal policy makers. People have wondered why Harry Bridges, the west coast one man blockade of American shipping, should be protected by the administration. Dean Landis, Mme. Perkins' personal investigator, reported, in effect, that Mr. Bridges, the Australian alien, talked like a communist and acted like one but wasn't one. The FBI is now conducting another investigation of the alien to ascertain if he is deportable, altho several years ago immigration officials recommended that he be sent out of the country.

Mr. Bridges has been kept in control of shipping probably as a way of modifying Marxism for practical operation. Another man who talks like a communist, and says he isn't, is David Saposs, the head of the statistical division of the National Labor Relations board. He may be an excellent statistician, but the inspiration of Marxism is apparent in his published works. Congress decided that he was not the man for the place and that the division wasn't needed. The appropriation for its maintenance was withdrawn, but the labor board changed the name of the outfit to something else, and when congress woke up to the fact there was Mr. Saposs continuing with the labor board with a new name for his division. The explanation of this, as made by Mr. Madden, chairman of the board, went into the realm of farce comedy.

When there was a vacancy on the Interstate Commerce commission Mr. Roosevelt nominated Mr. Amlie of Wisconsin. Mr. Amlie said he was not a communist, but he, also, talked like one, and when the senate heard his view that about 75 per cent of the private enterprise of the country had better be taken over by the government the inspiration of Marxism was too much and Mr. Amlie's name was withdrawn.

Mr. Wallace's views are shared by Mr. A. A. Berle, program maker for public financing and public production of goods; by Mr. Tugwell, the original proponent of the allocation of capital and quota production, and, it would seem, by Mr. Roosevelt, who in 1933 said: "I believe that we are at the threshold of a fundamental change in our economic thought." An inspiration from Marx, modified for practical operation, would mark a fundamental change in our economic thought.

DRUNKEN DRIVING.

An ex-convict soaked himself with whisky and drove a 10 year old automobile into a group of youthful bicycle riders on Labor day, killing one of them. He has been charged with manslaughter, but the case serves to emphasize the laxity with which Chicago police and courts deal with drunken drivers.

There would be fewer manslaughter cases on the streets of the city if every motorist had ingrained in his subconscious thought processes the fear that he would end up in jail if he got behind the wheel while intoxicated. That fear would be built up if the statute on drunken driving were enforced rigorously, but it is not.

Fines or 5 and 10 day sentences are the most frequent penalties following convictions for driving while intoxicated. Thirty days is usually the maximum sentence, and that is rarely imposed. The jail sentences have been imposed for only about five years, since the public became aware of the increase of drunken driving. The judges seem to feel that any jail sentence, however short, is sufficiently severe. Even before Chicago organized its safety court to deal with the more dangerous traffic offenses, convictions for drunken driving in many cities automatically carried penalties of from 30 days to 6 months in jail. Those cities start out where Chicago leaves off. They are getting somewhere in suppressing drunken driving. Chicago is not.

FALL BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

It's another three weeks before the autumnal equinox, but most people regard Sept. 1 as the first day of fall. This is therefore a good time to survey the business prospects for the season which is now starting.

One of the busiest summers the middle west has seen in years is drawing to a close. Operations of a wide range of industry have been expanding at a time when layoffs are usual. Vacation shutdowns have been unknown.

The sparkplug has been supplied by the heavy industries. And their bulk accounts for the heavy movement of freight out of this district. In August 18 per cent more cars of freight were shipped out of the Chicago Terminal district than in the same month last year. If the country as a whole were doing as well as Chicago is, car loadings would be running a million a week instead of three-quarters of that figure.

Defense orders have not as yet played an important part in the upturn here. But with the passing of legislation which has been holding back rearmament progress, midwestern concerns are bound to get a lot of government contracts. There is here a vast plant capacity for producing almost everything that will be needed for defense except airplanes and battleships. Rearmament is going to be the dominant national business influence when legal hobbles are removed and the blueprint stage has been passed. The industrial cities of the middle west will boom once the Knudsen-Stettinius machine gets into high.

In the farming areas of this section the harvest season should be moderately good on the average. Drouth at critical growing periods has reduced the corn crop, but a higher price is an offset. And the crop in states which "import" feed is bigger than it was in 1939. The collapse of wheat prices was a great disappointment, but the nonrecurring loans help a good deal. Peaches and apples turned out badly, particularly in Illinois.

But the best thing that has happened to the farmers in this area in a long time is the recent rise in the price of hogs and cattle. Receipts have been moderate at central markets, but also affecting price was the belief of packers that city folks with fatter pay envelopes will eat more meat this fall and winter. Thus, larger urban incomes make larger agricultural incomes.

WHO FURNISHES THE OIL?

The board of health, the corporation counsel, and the city council have been denying Chicago milk consumers the benefits of cheaper distribution obtainable thru paper milk containers for four years. The manner in which they have dealt with the latest attempt to force them to some action on the question is of a piece with the evasion that they have practiced in the past.

There is no longer any reasonable doubt that paper milk containers are sanitary. They have been so pronounced by the United States public health service. Yet the board of health and Corporation Counsel Hodes persist in interpreting the Chicago milk ordinance, which requires "standard" milk bottles, to mean that only glass bottles may be used.

The city's lawyers have succeeded in drawing out for years court proceedings designed to force acceptance of the paper containers. The Dean Milk company started the sale of milk in paper containers last week. Its attorneys invited the city authorities to make arrests if they thought the law was really being violated.

Instead, after a panicky consultation, Corporation Counsel Hodes, President Bundesen of the board of health, and a majority of the members of the board revoked the dairy company's permit to sell milk, explaining that the board always had followed the advice of the corporation counsel and would do so in this case. This is a civil matter, in which the city lawyers have already shown themselves adept at procrastination. An arrest and a trial before a jury would have brought a quick decision. That is the last thing that the city officials want. They are fighting a rear guard action, knowing that it will lose eventually, but holding the fort as long as they can.

As we have remarked before, the whole truth rarely appears in connection with any official action in this city in regard to the marketing of milk. There are always wheels within wheels. Who is oiling the wheels?

Editorials of the Day

SURROUNDED.

[Providence, R. I., Bulletin.]

The Germans have discovered that the Dutch are a stubborn people! A stolid, passive stubbornness not at all like the Czech cunning, which disturbs the Germans no end with its sand in the sugar trickery, but equally maddening.

Hollanders don't actively oppose the German soldiers. They ignore them. "The Dutch are not very thankful that the German soldiers treated their land carefully," the Germans complain. "They refuse all that is German unless thereby they make profitable business."

This certainly isn't cricket after all that the Germans have done for them: taken their country, bombed their cities, killed thousands of their countrymen, chased away their queen. It ain't cricket. Yet even the Gestapo would find it difficult to proceed against people on the grounds that they don't do anything.

It is more than maddening. It's ominous. Look for a moment at the emotional fires which smolder around Hitler: Dutch stubbornness, Polish vengeance, Czech cunning and duplicity, Italian suspicion, [Don't tell us that the Italians trust Germans. They never have], French fear and hatred. A conqueror has to be pretty alert in the midst of fires like that. Even the smoke is likely to choke him.

SUPERB.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Those who are urging us to get into the European war are merely pikers, from the viewpoint of Admiral Yarnell. This retired officer wants us to enter not only the European war but the war in China. He wants us to lead with a left at Japan while simultaneously dealing a right handed haymaker to Hitler. This confidence in the prowess of the United States is really superb.

Brakes have been devised for roller skates. As soon as somebody figures out a way to stop pedestrians in a hurry, we'll be getting somewhere.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

JOTTINGS FROM A LOG BOOK.

Three weeks on wheels, and only three nights in the same bed. . . . 5,041 miles by the meter. . . . Farthest north, the Canadian border in Montana; farthest west, Salt Lake City; farthest south, Denver. . . . Crossed the Great Divide thrice over the Logan, Rabbit's Ear and Fall River passes. . . . Studied frontier history, geology, agriculture, gold mining, fossil hunting, souvenir dealing, bear feeding, the architecture of state capitols, Mormonism, juke box music, and tire changing. . . .

Saw President Roosevelt's tree plantations in two places at the break of the plains, and didn't cheer because they are dying. . . . Read Buffalo Bill's will and wondered why he was buried near Denver instead of Cody, Wyoming, according to his wishes. . . . Discovered Tensleep canyon and the Red Butte of Wyoming, which are scenic wonders you never hear about. . . . Didn't read a newspaper story until Willkie accepted and Trotsky was assassinated. . . . Collected certain rare coins, such as aluminum tax tokens used for fractions of a cent in Utah and Colorado, and a fine specimen of the American silver dollar [mint condition]. . . .

Watched a beaver at work on his dam, patted a cub coyote, caressed a king snake, and fled from a tame Yellowstone bear. . . . Visited the graves of Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane. . . . Applauded Deadwood's folk drama, "The Trial of Jack McCall," in which Alibi Ike is the star witness. . . . Passed thru ten Indian reservations. . . . Nicknamed two tribes, which adjoin, the Blackheads and the Flatfeet. . . . Inspected the Universities of Idaho [southern branch], Utah, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa; the Montana and South Dakota schools of mines, Grinnell college, Frances Shimer college for girls, and Father Flanagan's Boys' Town.

And now, having practiced it for three weeks, we are singing, without remonstrance from the neighbors, "Home—home on the range."

FOUR O'CLOCK BLUES.

Four o'clock in the afternoon
Is a terrible time of day—
Luncheon was over far too soon,
And five is an hour away.
Good ideas that you hoped to find Completely elude your grasp;
Associates' voices, not unkind,
Develop an irksome rasp;
Whatever you start at four o'clock
Is certain to turn out wrong,
Your soul's as heavy as solid rock,
With never a place for song.
The English custom would be a boon,
With tea-time to ease the way,
For four o'clock in the afternoon
Is a terrible time of day!

Preface to a Water Color Sketch.

Dear Linemaster: When you left for your vacation you referred with some foreboding to the return, and said you always felt for a day or two as tho your mind had become a blank. So this is to welcome you back and help dissipate that feeling. All of your contributors are gathered here in "column" formation to greet you. Tom Chekouras and M'Tavish support the banner, with Quizzicuss and Helene in between; and dotted here and there you will recognize other familiar friends. You are before the easel, looking over the column, putting it into shape and succeeding well enough until Shanty Al, knowing that on this first day back you are still thinking of the glaciers and snowclad mountains left behind, deftly slings a snowball at your head and shouts, "That's for remembrance!"

"Why, the firft two fplafhes that hit him knocked him fenfelefs," anfwered the refident. "It took two fhovelfuls of duft to aroufe him."

Incunabulus.

WE'VE GOT 'EM ON OUR LIST.

There's a species of pedestrian that gives me purple pip,
And I double-curse the damdumb dancing dolts
Who go dervishing along the loop's already choked-up walks
Like a lot of prancing, ducking, two-legged colts.
They approach one rather smirkily, then duck to left or right;
Whichever way you go they're sure to take,
Blocking you like a halfback when the play is busted up,
Mumbling something like "Whoops! Pardon! My mistake!"
In a blasted silly minuet you start, and stop, and weave;
Genus homo, true, consists of many kinds,
But the only sort I'd murder is the tangle-footed louts:
Loop walkers who just can't make up their minds!

Inscriptions You Never See.

On each of the 10 bells of the Mitchell Tower chimes at the University of Chicago there is an inscription in honor of Alice Freeman Palmer, first dean of women. The phrases were selected from the Bible by her husband, who considered them as appropriate characterizations. They are:

1. A gracious woman retaining honor. 2. Rooted and grounded in love. 3. Easy to be entreated. 4. Fervent in spirit. 5. Always rejoicing. 6. Given to hospitality. 7. Making the lame to walk; the blind to see. 8. The sweetness of her lips increasingly learning. 9. Great in council and mighty in work. 10. In God's law meditating day and night.

THE PUZZLE OF HEADACHE.

ONE of our most common complaints, headache, is not a disease. It may point, however, to some disturbance that needs adjustment.

Now most of us will exhibit this symptom occasionally and, as a rule, we will be able to trace the cause to late hours, loss of sleep, dietary indiscretions, or a digestive upset. Furthermore, we know that an episode may be a curtain raiser to typhoid fever, influenza, meningitis, etc. In such instances when the causative infection is taken care of, headaches will vanish.

The eyes, of course, should be checked to make certain that no muscle strain is present and sometimes it is easy to blame the onset on recent overuse. Again, worry, fatigue, irregular meals, or a food sensitivity of which the patient is unaware may be at fault.

We are all familiar with the fact that any increase in pressure within the skull may be responsible. I have in mind a patient who—with difficulty—maintains his arterial tension at normal. A lawyer, intensive in type, he is called upon frequently to subject his physical frame to extreme punishment. He rarely conducts a trial without ending the day with what he terms a "splitting" headache. If he can lie down in a darkened room and be perfectly quiet for about two hours, the discomfort departs. But if he is forced to conduct a night conference with his associates he may be obliged to give up in despair and return home. His systolic blood pressure taken on such an occasion will register 30 or 40 points above average. With a light repast and a good night's sleep he is quite himself by morning.

Two or three years ago I encountered a friend who suffered marked pain. The forehead and the crown of the head were not affected, but directly in the back and down the neck the agony was so intense as to require opiates for relief. He journeyed from physician to physician without the slightest benefit and was in a fair way to become a drug addict, when some one suggested a sojourn in a dry, warm climate. After two months in Arizona recovery was apparently complete. His next bout was ushered in by a severe cold and sore throat. The headaches then recurred and were as incapacitating as ever.

He was determined to find the origin and submitted to a most critical physical inventory with the result that infection was discovered in both tonsils and removal of the structures was advised. This was carried out, with the cessation of trouble.

Undoubtedly he was absorbing toxins and the very character of the pain should have offered a clew. Naturally, his trip to Arizona—with freedom from duties—raised his resistance enough to overcome the poison, which gained the upper hand again with the next attack of tonsilitis.

Few cases will be quite so difficult. Some medical man will be keen enough to spot the cause without subjecting the victim to such tedious procedures. On the other hand, in migraine we may never find the trigger altho we can suggest a useful remedy in ergotamine tartrate.

Attention should be directed to the ailment in children and many manifestations will be found to be due to an allergic reaction. As soon as the offending substances are eliminated from the diet or the environment, all signs will disappear.

ARRESTED TUBERCULOSIS.

H. Z. writes: I am working with a man who spent 2 years in a tuberculosis sanatorium. He was dismissed as cured. Am I likely to contract the disease from him, as we are in close contact nine hours a day?

REPLY.

You are probably in no danger, altho certain precautions are suggested. The room should be well ventilated and free from dust. It is assumed that your associate is not coughing and that he represents what is termed a "closed" [cured] case. If he is expectorating live tubercle bacilli, however, that is quite another matter.

EMOTIONAL CAUSE.

A. A. writes: What causes weak knees?

REPLY.

A multitude of circumstances—such as offering to take daughter off the prospective father-in-law's hand; when called "on the carpet"; on speaking a "piece" on visitors' day at school—with mother and father in the audience. Almost any type of fear, anxiety, or apprehension may be responsible. For relief slide into the nearest seat.

RINGWORM FROM CAT.

Miss B. writes: I have a ringworm on my neck. I have a cat and like to hold him, and my neighbors tell me that I caught this disease from the cat. Is this possible?

REPLY.

Puss may be the culprit. She has far more contact with the floor—from whence ringworm fungi may infect her fur.

A TIRED WOMAN.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—I'm tired of a new red herring being waved to keep our minds off the eight years of mismanagement and the third term.

I'm tired of talk against public utilities. If every bill I pay gave me as much for my money as my gas, electricity and phone service bills—I'd be tickled pink.

I'm tired of emergencies.

I'm tired of a man who builds a monument for himself.

I'm tired of the capitalizing of the highest office in the land by the family of the incumbent for their own personal advancement and profit.

I'm tired of ghost written fireside chats.

I'm tired of city machine politics.

I'm tired of secrecy and the mightier-than-thou attitude, or I-know-something-I-won't-tell attitude, about what is going on in the government.

In fact, I'm tired of the whole masquerade.

You know what—I'll just bet that the Republicans and industrialists on the defense advisory commission were placed there so they could be blamed for any flop of the plans to come thru quickly—just another "whipping boy" for the administration.

Willkie gets my vote.

Mrs. E. H. MCARTHUR.

SLUMS HERE AT HOME.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—I have been an interested reader of THE TRIBUNE since my return from Europe some months ago. Frequent references to the "slums of London" would lead a reader to suppose that their condition is beyond words.

I've known not only the slums of London but also have seen the slum districts of many European countries, even of Africa. By comparison, the London slums, which are monotonous rows of gray, drab, uninspiring tenements, are far cleaner and more orderly than those of any other country. Their interior is far more comfortable than the exterior would presuppose, and you will find no litter or débris in the streets. There are no alleys. In recent years the slum clearance work has been proceeding rapidly in the congested areas.

If any reader would be interested in seeing what I consider the worst slum [comparable in many ways to the native quarter in Algiers] let him take a tour through the near south side, almost in the heart of the city. I was appalled to see the state into which this section of the city had fallen during the last 10 years. Before we shower our misguided concern upon those poor slum dwellers of London, let us cast an eye on what is by far a worse condition—right under our noses.

SALOME CHERRY.

FOR CONSTITUTION SUNDAY.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Last year "Constitution Sunday" was officially proclaimed by 15 governors. A resolution for it has been introduced in the senate by Senator Davis. This year Governors Miles of New Mexico, Olson of California, Moses of North Dakota, Hoey of North Carolina, and Vanderbilt of Rhode Island have already signified their intention of calling upon the citizens of their respective states to give thanks in their churches on Sunday, Sept. 15, for the blessings of our constitution. If you deem it worth while, will you devote an editorial encouraging your readers to give thanks in their churches that day for the blessings of our American constitution?

[Rev.] HENRY C. OFFERMAN.

TO THE SMALL BUSINESS MAN.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—I find several small business men are uneasy about wearing their Willkie buttons lest they lose customers.

The small business man has to "pay as he goes." He knows from hard experience that the day of reckoning cannot be postponed indefinitely. Far from losing customers I think he will gain by demonstrating the soundness of his own business principles in seeking a sound administration of the one business which concerns us all—the government.

A CUSTOMER.

WANTS US TO SNAP OUT OF IT.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—In today's paper you give prominence to the way the smart people of California have nominated Hiram Johnson. Now, Hiram Johnson is a good guy. I have no kick against him. But, why, all of a sudden, are you praising the people of California so highly? Don't forget, they're the same people who started this "$30 every Thursday" thing.

They are the same smart ones who stood behind Bridges, Mooney, and Townsend. And did you note what the Southern California Methodist conference resolved? To wit, "That we discipline ourselves in the realization of world community and regard nobody as an alien, but everybody as a brother, so that, in the event of an invasion, we can treat the invader as a brother and not an enemy."

These are the same smart people of California, whose judgment you laud on your front page. What of the smart people of Chicago? Why go so far afield?

Come on, TRIB—get over your grouch, snap out of it! Get on the band wagon with the rest of us "war mongers." Let's give Hitler the "one-two" and have it over with.

L. M. H.

OUR BUSY PRESIDENT.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 31.—Doesn't it seem strange that a President who has taken a vacation on the average of once every three weeks for the last seven years, and whose latest was to escort Crown Princess Martha of Norway to the Dutchess county fair, cannot find time to debate with the next President, Wendell L. Willkie?

Probably the President's conscientious objection to debating with Mr. Willkie is the fact that he cannot lower himself to the point of associating with a "common man" in public. This is readily understood when we look at his record: Born to the purple, elementary school education in Paris, high school at Groton, an aristocratic preparatory school, college education at Harvard. Still he is the one who prefers to be referred to as the "great humanitarian" and the champion of the "forgotten man" and the "lower third." He knows just about as much about these people as a hog does about Sunday. How much longer is the gullible voting public to be taken in by him?

CONRAD S. ARNKENS.

WANTS TO SEE THE LAKE.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—The Outer drive is being greatly damaged as an attraction to our out of town visitors by the planting of trees between the drive and the lake. A clear view of the lake water from Jackson park to the north end of Lincoln park [some 15 miles] is really what most people expected when the project started. Now trees are being planted which shut off the view of the lake. Shrubbery would accomplish the same purpose as these trees for landscaping. We have enough trees in the parks now and we are short of drives along the waterfront, so why not remove the trees and other obstructions and restore the view of the lake—15 miles of shoreline drive.

PETE HALL.

FOR THE PEOPLE'S LIBERTIES.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—I wish to congratulate THE TRIBUNE for its consistent and fearless fight for the people's liberties. You have never deviated, from and including the fight on prohibition, and today your great newspaper stands alone in Chicago in its fight against dictatorship. You are fighting the dangerous kind—the dictator from within. May you fight on as you have in the past—without fear and without compromise.

E. G. W.

WHY BOHEMIANS CAME HERE.

Cicero, Ill., Aug. 31.—Recently I have heard Cicero people, of Bohemian extraction, say they will not vote for Wendell Willkie because of his German ancestry; that with the Germans dominating Europe it would be a mistake to have Mr. Willkie in the White House. I would like to call attention to a few facts.

Mr. Willkie in his acceptance address told why his forbears came to America. These identical reasons impelled thousands of Bohemians to come here. They were running away from unbearable oppression, low wages, and poor living conditions.

My grandfather, who had served 12 years in the Austrian army and knew what his sons might expect in the future, was advised by the local schoolmaster to go to America, and I am happy that he acted on that advice.

Cicero has a population of about 65,000, 70 per cent of whom are of Bohemian extraction, and I venture to say that they or their forbears came to America for the same reasons stated by Mr. Willkie.

When the world war broke out Mr. Willkie did his bit at the front [and not in a swivel chair 3,000 miles away] to defeat the kaiser and everything he stood for, and helped to bring about the conditions which enabled the creation of the Czecho-Slovak republic. Were any questions then asked about his parentage?

JAMES SORNA.

A FEDERAL APPROPRIATION.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—If you have information as to who pays the expenses of the private trains used by the President for his various trips about the country and his trips from Washington to Hyde Park, I should appreciate it if you will publish it in your column, as I believe it will be interesting reading.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

ORDERED REMOVED.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—There is an old garage that is very dangerous for little children. It is about to fall over, it is at No. 3411 of our street. The owner has been told about it and she will do nothing to remove this hazard. Kindly look into this before some child loses its life.

J. A.

Our inspector reports this is a one-story frame shed 12x18x8 feet high, in a very dilapidated condition.

The owner has been notified to wreck same and if this is not done within the time specified in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,

PROPERTY LINES.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My neighbor bought a piece of property next door [south] of me about three years ago. Since then I had my property surveyed and find that his fence is eight inches over on my property line. How can I have him remove his fence back on his line?

J. H.

The first step is to ask him. If you are sure that your survey is correct and if the fence has not been maintained for the 20 year limitation period, then it would be reasonably safe to remove it from your land after notice to him.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Sept. 4, 1886

Chief Geronimo and his Apaches surrendered to Gen. Nelson A. Miles in Skeleton canyon, Ariz. It had taken the entire military forces of Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas to capture this band of Indians, which at no time numbered more than eighty. After leading numerous raids Geronimo had agreed to surrender six months before but had escaped from captivity. It was the last important Indian outbreak on the American frontier.

LUCAS SETS UP MIDWEST OFFICE FOR DEMOCRATS

Plans Extensive Work in 13 Pivotal States.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Midwest headquarters of the Democratic national campaign were opened by Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois yesterday in the Stevens hotel. Thirteen states regarded as the pivotal area in the 1940 campaign are embraced in the region, and the setup of the national committee in Chicago this year is far more extensive than in the last two presidential elections.

Senator Scott W. Lucas.

The states over which Senator Lucas will direct activities are: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin Headquarters is on the seventh floor of the Stevens, where about 14 rooms have been engaged.

Extensive Setup Arranged.

The Chicago headquarters is to be almost on a par with New York headquarters of the national committee so far as its organization is concerned. There will be divisions on publicity, speakers, radio, labor, youth, women, foreign policy, agriculture, foreign languages, veterans, and other specialized activities. Senator Lucas has been empowered to select the heads of these divisions and to establish the organization. He made this responsibility a condition of his appointment as manager.

"My responsibility," said Senator Lucas, "is to pick men of highest authority in their lines to head the various departments. I am now conferring with various individuals to get the best available man for each division. I don't underestimate the great responsibility resting on me to do constructive work. I know this section well, and I'm going to stay on the job."

He'll Be a Trouble Shooter.

After getting the headquarters operating, Senator Lucas plans to journey around the 13 states and to make personal contacts and serve as trouble shooter wherever needed. Yesterday's opening will be followed by a formal opening in about a week, after activities get fully under way.

Yesterday Senator Lucas conferred with Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the house agriculture committee, who notified Henry A. Wallace of his nomination for Vice President.

BARRETT CALLS ON WILLKIE; TELLS PLAN TO END VOTE FRAUDS

Rushville, Ind., Sept. 3 [Special].—George F. Barrett, Republican nominee for attorney general of Illinois, today outlined to Wendell Willkie his plans for stopping vote frauds. Barrett was invited to Rushville by Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Willkie nominator at Philadelphia.

Barrett told the head of the national ticket that he is promulgating his plan thru the Illinois Volunteer Committee to Stop Frauds. He described the Cook county classes opening Sunday, which will offer instruction in the detection of chain voting, ballot box stuffing and the illegal voting of names of former residents of the precinct.

Barrett told Willkie that he will go anywhere in the United States and aid in organizing similar committees to combat vote thievery. He mentioned especially Memphis, seat of the Crump Democratic machine; Kansas City, where the Pendergast organization still has influence, and Jersey City, which has the Frank Hague machine.

WILLIAM H. KING TRAILS MURDOCK IN UTAH PRIMARY

Democratic Senator Seeking 5th Term.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 3 (AP).—Representative Abe Murdock, seeking the Utah senatorial seat held by William H. King for four consecutive terms, swamped both King and his other opponent for the Democratic nomination in early returns from today's primary election.

The first 50 complete precincts to be tabulated out of the state's 835 gave Murdock 2,073 and Delbert M. Draper 297.

On the Republican side Philo T. Farnsworth Jr. of Salt Lake City led with 876 in 31 precincts. He was followed by Oscar W. Carlson, also a Salt Lake City attorney, with 381; John Urie Webster of Salt Lake City, 116, and George W. Worthen of Provo, 220.

Maw Ahead for Governor.

For governor on the Democratic side Herbert B. Maw, Salt Lake City attorney, who sought the nomination in 1938, led five opponents with 913. Others were Newell Hawes Baum, 29; Ora Bundy, 143; Ira A. Huggins, 163; Oscar W. McConkie, 257, and Henry D. Moyle, 559.

Former Congressman Don B. Colton led the five candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination with 518 votes in these 20 districts. Mayor J. Bracken Lee had 455; Reed Stevens of Salt Lake City, 428; William J. Lowe, 142, and Otto A. Wiesley, 81.

Platt Leads in Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 3 (AP).—Early unofficial returns in the Nevada primary election tonight showed Samuel Platt, Reno attorney, leading for Republican nomination to the United States senate, the only state-wide contest.

Partial returns from 200 precincts out of 264 gave Platt 2,646; Harry Atkinson, 2,184; Clarence Pugh, 890, and Clyde Souter, 759.

The nominee will oppose Democratic Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in the general election.

STATE PRESENTS SURPRISE LETTER AT SCALISE TRIAL

Reveals $2,500 Deal; Defense 'Outraged.'

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 3.—The prosecution sprang a surprise in the grand larceny trial of George Scalise, former president of the Building Service Employes International union, when it confronted the defense today with a letter showing alleged false expenses of $2,500.

This evidence was produced during the cross-examination of the defense star witness, Mrs. Helen Lockwood Cumberland of Des Plaines, Ill., former secretary in the main offices of the international union at Chicago.

Up to the point that Assistant District Attorney Murray I. Gurfein pulled the Scalise letter from a brief case and waved it before the jury, counsel for the defense had attempted to show thru an examination of Mrs. Cumberland's records that the labor leader could account for all the money he received from the union.

Secret Pact Cited.

According to the defense, Scalise extracted large sums from the union treasury under an old secret "oral" agreement whereby he received a split of the per capita taxes paid in by scrubwomen, janitors, and elevator operators in eastern locals.

Mrs. Cumberland's records purported to show thousands of dollars paid each month to Scalise under this "commission" arrangement, but failed to note the $2,500 item mentioned in the letter unearthed by the prosecution. Judge Jacob Gould Schurman permitted the letter to go into the record over the shouted objections of Martin W. Littleton, chief of defense counsel.

Dated Dec. 1, 1937, the letter was written by Scalise to Paul B. David, secretary-treasurer of the union, at the general offices in Chicago.

It acknowledged receipt of $2,500 and set forth the labor boss' recent expenses as follows:

Hotel Service Workers' strike, New York, $1,500; Washington, D. C., trip, $300; Rochester and Syracuse, N. Y., trip, $200; Boston, $225; donation, $125; other Scalise expenses, $150.

Jury Is Excused.

"Did you ever compute this in your book?" asked Gurfein.

Littleton was on his feet before Mrs. Cumberland could reply.

Judge Schurman excused the jury for the day and Littleton then continued his complaint to the court that the prosecution was "flooding the record with prejudice — lock, stock, britches, and barrel."

"I'm not hurt, I'm outraged," yelled the defense lawyer. He complained that the $2,500 item was not charged against the defendant in the indictment.

Gurfein said there had been testimony given by Hyman Eisenberg, president of local 32A, New York Hotel Service Workers, that he and his union had received only $300 from Scalise for expenses. The $1,500 item included in the letter thus was at variance with the Eisenberg story, said Gurfein.

VOTES ON LIQUOR SALE SOUGHT IN 7 CITY PRECINCTS

Petitions to place the liquor sale question on the ballot for local option vote at the November election have been filed by residents of seven Chicago precincts, City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber said yesterday. The precinct boundaries are those in effect in 1932, because under the state liquor law election precincts must ballot on local option as the precinct lines were that year.

The seven precincts, as of 1932 are: 3d ward, 12th and 17th precincts; 16th ward, 40th, 41st, and 44th precincts; 41st ward, 36th precinct; and 39th ward, 1st precinct.

The deadline for filing the petitions is 5 p. m., Friday, Schreiber announced. To place the question on the ballot, 25 per cent of the number of voters in the 1932 general election must sign the petition. If the vote is dry, liquor cannot be sold in the precinct.

WILLKIE URGED TO SPEND DAY IN LAND OF LINCOLN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rushville, Ind., Sept. 3.—Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, today took under consideration the request of a group of Republican leaders in central Illinois that he spend a day in the Lincoln country, in and around Springfield, during his campaign.

The Illinois group, headed by State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, want Willkie to visit the reconstructed village of New Salem, where Lincoln was postmaster; make a luncheon appearance at Bloomington, and climax his day with a dinner and evening speech at Springfield—probably in the new state arsenal.

This program was outlined for the nominee by Senator Searcy and Judge Benjamin S. De Boice of the Sangamon county Probate court. They spoke to Willkie as he stood on the front porch of his rented home here. Surrounding them were the Republican chairmen of ten counties in the Lincoln territory, and officials of the Willkie club in Springfield.

PROTESTS ROLE OF ROOSEVELT IN UNIVERSITY FETE

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—William Guggenheim, retired capitalist and former manager of the Guggenheim mining and smelting interests in Mexico, today made public a telegram to Dr. Thomas S. Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania, protesting against the special prominence President Roosevelt is to receive at the bicentennial celebration of the university on Sept. 21.

Guggenheim said the protest was made because the President was to receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws and also was to speak at the ceremonies. A prominent member of the university's alumni, Guggenheim sent this telegram to Dr. Gates:

"Greatly shocked at the special prominence to be given to President Roosevelt in the concluding bicentennial celebration ceremonies. Believe the vast majority of our 40,000 alumni who are Willkie for President men will be equally so. Due to the unwise policies of the national administration during the last seven years, our people have become soft. National morale is almost destroyed at this moment when we are passing thru the greatest crisis in our history. The nation's political foundations are shaking from extreme radicalism and it behooves every patriotic American to do what he can to preserve our free and cherished institutions in this hour of peril. Hope you will do everything possible to rectify what must be an unintentional mistake."

Judge James F. Fardy, new chief justice of the Criminal court, impaneled the September grand jury yesterday in the first official act of his régime. He appointed Thomas G. Johnson, a claim adjuster living at 6043 South Francisco avenue, as foreman. Four members of the grand jury are women.

U. S. TO HELP SEEK FATHER'S RETURN FOR KIDNAP TRIAL

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday that the federal government has agreed to cooperate in efforts to return James C. Kelsey to Chicago on a kidnaping charge. Kelsey, publisher of a financial statistics service, is accused by his ex-wife, Florraine, of keeping their daughter, Rosanna, 4 years old, from her in violation of a divorce decree issued in 1937.

In Belvedere, N. J., last night, Kelsey said the charges were false.

"They were brought after I filed suit in New Jersey for custody of my child," Kelsey said, "and in my opinion are for the sole purpose of hindering that suit and causing me further embarrassment. My former wife failed to care for the child properly."

A hearing to extradite Kelsey to Chicago is scheduled for Sept. 11 in Flemington, N. J.

LATE VACATIONS EXTEND TOURIST TRAVEL SEASON

Trips Expected to Go on Until October.

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—Slow in getting started this summer, the 1940 vacation season attained such a momentum in July and August that it will be carried on until October. Resorts and transportation agencies thruout the United States, Canada, and Mexico are expected to benefit by the extra month of travel.

This prediction was made today by Douglas Malcolm, forecaster for one of the leading American travel agencies.

"'Vacations deferred' may well describe the outlook for early fall," Malcolm said. "The trend of extending the season has been given a new impetus this year by events abroad, which upset so many plans in this country. A large number of vacations which have been hanging 'fire' will be taken in September."

Trend Is Widespread.

The trend, he added, is noticeable not only in North America, but in Central and South America and the Caribbean.

Malcolm said he based his forecast on these facts:

His company's bookings for late summer trips to the American west show an increase of nearly 70 per cent above those for 1939. This has resulted in the scheduling of additional excursions by rail.

There has been a marked improvement in bookings for the West Indies cruises. The new liner America was sold out on both of its first two cruises, and the Kungsholm, last remaining foreign ship in the Caribbean service, has been carrying capacity loads.

Passport Scare Over.

Now that the "passport scare" is over, the travel movement to Canada is returning to normal. The hunting season north of the border will draw the usual quota of American sportsmen.

It is expected that the large scale construction work on the new locks—for which $277,000,000 has been appropriated and which will be under way soon—will attract tourists to the Panama canal in the same way they were attracted by the original digging of the canal.

Despite excitement over the Presidential election, Mexico is counting on at least 200,000 visitors before the end of 1940. About 5,000 cars a month are moving southward over the Pan-American highway. Hotel facilities are being expanded to take care of the crowds. Mexico City now has more tourists in one month than it had in a year a decade ago.

Flying Time Reduced.

This week saw the flying time between the east coast of the United States and the west coast of South America reduced by one day. A similar reduction brought Buenos Aires, 6,500 miles away, within 3½ days of New York. Business travel to the southern continent has shown a heavy gain in the last year.

Travel and recreation in this country depend on mass sales for their support and growth, and vacations with pay are an important factor. A recent survey by the National Industrial Conference board, showed such vacations being granted to 94 per cent of the salaried employés and 46 per cent of the hourly wage employés of 2,700 of America's largest firms.

The survey covered 5,000,000 persons. Of these, 61 per cent now work on a year 'round five day week basis, giving them long week-ends for excursions into the country.

Late Travel Expected.

By way of agreeing with Malcolm's figures, John W. Chapman, vice president of one of the American steamship lines, said today:

"If we moved the calendar back about six weeks, we would be much nearer the actual summer vacation season. Abnormally late this year, travel gives every indication of continuing until mid-October."

In the second quarter of this year his company, Chapman announced, had had a 23 per cent increase in its Caribbean service, and a 30 per cent increase in its South American service, over the corresponding period of 1939.

Recalling the Early Days

Mrs. Byron Harvey Jr., on board Frisky, and Miss Kathryn Jones. Mrs. Harvey, on holiday in Santa Fe, and Miss Jones, daughter of Gov. Robert Jones of Arizona, are dressed in gown typical of 1840, the year the Grand canyon was discovered. The discovery will be re-enacted on the canyon rim next Saturday and Sunday.

Travel Queries Answered

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Where is the world's widest street?—L. Y.

The honor is claimed for the Avenida Nuevo de Julio—meaning the Avenue 9th of July—in Buenos Aires, Argentina. It measures 460 feet from side to side and has five roadways separated by walks, parkways, rows of trees, and fountains. Thus far the new thorofare is only five blocks long, but eventually it will be extended to 33 blocks, running thru the heart of the business district. It was created by tearing down the buildings between two narrow, parallel streets.

Are Canadians planning on vacations in the United States limited to the purchase of $100 in American currency?—R. R. B.

No. They are permitted to bring with them $1,000 or more.

Please tell me something about Wisconsin's Twin Lakes region.—V. S.

It is situated across the border from Illinois, about 66 miles northwest of Chicago, and a few miles southeast of Lake Geneva. It gets its name from Lakes Mary and Elizabeth. There are facilities for swimming, rowing, sailing, motorboating, and fishing. Nearby are facilities for golfing, horseback riding, and hiking.

How much would it cost me to go by bus from Chicago to New York and return?—G. K.

The trip can be made for less than $20. This does not include meals en route.

When does the hunting season open in Pennsylvania?—T. M.

Nov. 1.

How would I go about taking my guns into Canada for the fall hunting season? I understand new regulations are in effect this year.—C. D. W.

Write or wire the commissioner of customs or the commissioner of the Royal Mounted Canadian Police, Ottawa, giving your name, address, occupation, destination, purpose and duration of your visit, port of arrival in the dominion, and a description of each firearm, along with its make and serial number. If your application is approved, a permit will be granted and forwarded to the collector of customs at the port of entry. Unless this is done in advance, you will be required to leave your guns at the border until the application is made out and the permit granted.

2 MILLION FISH ARE PLANTED IN PARK'S WATERS

Belton, Mont., Sept. 3 [Special].—With an eye toward fishing in the future, rangers have planted more than two million fingerlings and small fry in Glacier National park's lakes and streams this summer.

The majority of the newcomers are 1½ inch blackspotted trout. They have been distributed in 55 waterways. More than 450,000 of them were placed in Lake MacDonald, and 200,000 in St. Mary lake.

Rainbow and eastern brook trout also found homes in various lakes and creeks. Four inch brook specimens are given a 90 per cent chance to live until, at 6 inch length, they become fair prey for the anglers.

Next year the principal output of the park hatchery at Creston, Mont., will be cutthroat trout.

860 Pound Swordfish Caught Off Chilean Coast

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile, Sept. 3 [Special].—What is claimed to be the largest swordfish ever taken by rod and line was caught the other day off the village of Tocopilla, north of here. It weighed 860 pounds, and was brought in by an American, W. E. Stuker, after a struggle of only 15 minutes.

Firemen's Manual Saved as Ranger Station Burns

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Sept. 3 [Special].—The season's prize bit of irony has emerged from the fire which recently destroyed the Snake River ranger station in Yellowstone. By a trick of fate one of the few small items saved from the flames was "The Fireman's Guide," a national park service manual.

U. S. SPORTSMEN OPEN CANADIAN HUNTING SEASON

Guns Start Booming All Over Quebec.

QUEBEC, Sept. 3 [Special].—Guns began booming all over Quebec province this week—but no warlike invasion was involved. The invaders were American sportsmen, here to celebrate the opening of the hunting season.

This year more than 70 privately owned camps have registered with the Quebec tourist bureau's fish and game information service. These range from single units in the remote sections of the Gaspé peninsula to series of establishments within a few hours of this city. The larger ones can take care of as many as 60 hunters at a time.

Good motor roads lead to nearly all the nearby camps. Those in the far areas are reached by rail and water.

Moose and Deer Available.

Moose and deer are to be found within 50 miles of Quebec. Caribou may be hunted this season in the Gaspé country, and bear, partridge, and duck are plentiful in many parts of the province.

It has been announced that there will be no duty on guns, fishing tackle, and cameras brought in by visiting Americans, provided those articles are for the visitors' personal use.

Altho no hunting is permitted in the Laurentides park—a few hours' drive from this city—the fishing there will continue until the latter part of September.

Park Known for Its Trout.

The park is widely known for its trout. It has been estimated that fully nine-tenths of its lakes and streams have never been fished except by the Indians. Four thousand square miles in area, it is dotted along its principal waterways by 23 camps, maintained by the government and leased to vacationists. Fifteen of these are reached by highway; the others require a trip by rowboat or canoe. Native guides take the visitors to such wildernesses as those adjoining the Jacques Cartier and Metabetchouan rivers.

Leasing rates at the Laurentides camps are lower in September than in the summer months.

NAUVOO, ILL., READY FOR ITS THREE DAY GRAPE CELEBRATION

Nauvoo, Ill., Sept. 3 [Special].—One hundred years ago Gov. Thomas Ford wrote that Illinois was becoming quite well populated, for, besides the large city of Nauvoo, Peoria, Rockford, and Quincy were showing a lusty growth.

For 362 days of the year Nauvoo, with a present population of only 1,100, is content to dream of its old time Mormon days and its onetime prospects, while its former rivals have forged ahead to populations of from 40,000 to 100,000.

But on the other three days this city casts off its sleeping garments and steps out in brand new array. The occasion is the annual grape festival.

Last year the festival attracted 15,000 visitors. This year's dates have been set at Sept. 13, 14, and 15, by which time, it is expected, the Concord grapes grown around here will be dead ripe.

Visitors will be treated to Nauvoo wine and will be shown the relics of the stirring Mormon episode in early Illinois history.

BRAZIL OFFERS TOTAL ECLIPSE FOR TOURISTS

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, Sept. 3 [Special].—If you wish to see the total eclipse of the sun, you are advised to come here by ship or plane. The date is Oct. 1.

The phenomenon will be visible from any point in a 135 mile wide band extending across South America, the South Pacific, and the South Atlantic. But on the west coast of this continent the hour will be about 6 a. m. In Pernambuco, on the northeastern shoulder of Brazil, the time will be from 9:12 to 9:17 a. m.

A partial eclipse will be seen from the West Indies and Central America.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Sells Her Summer Home at Hull's Cove

BY JUDITH CASS.

WORD comes from Bar Harbor, Me., that Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen has sold Baymeath, her summer home at Hull's cove on Mount Desert. For 47 years Mrs. Bowen and her large family have occupied the great house on Lookout point that the late Mr. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen built.

Now all the children are married and they and their children and grandchildren are scattered so Mrs. Bowen finds the house too large. She sold it to a Hollander whose wife is Belgian. They came to Bar Harbor this summer, fell in love with it and decided to make it their American home.

Mrs. Bowen does not plan to stop spending her summers at Bar Harbor even tho Baymeath no longer is hers. Next season she will rent a smaller place.

Several of Mrs. Bowen's family are with her now at Baymeath, including the William McCormick Blairs and two of their sons, Edward and William Jr. The third, Bowen, has joined the navy and has been in training for a month. Edward joins the navy at the end of this month, but Bill is undecided what he will do. He finished law school last June.

Also with Mrs. Bowen is her other daughter, Mrs. De Koven Phelps, who spent the early summer at Watch Hill, R. I. Mrs. Bowen and her family will return to Chicago the middle of the month.

Mrs. Paul Healy Having Gay Visit in the East.

Having a gay time in the east is Mrs. Paul Healy, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foote Hall and Mrs. Hall's sister, Miss Anne Rogers, at their summer home in Mystic, Conn. Miss Rogers and Mrs. Healy are motoring to Cape Cod for a round of visits this week. The Halls and Miss Rogers plan to stay in the Connecticut house until after the election. They expect Mrs. Frank B. Mulford to visit them early in November so she can vote in Mystic, where she also has a summer home. Mrs. Mulford did not open her house this summer, however, for she has been spending the season in California.

Mrs. Alfred T. Martin and her sister, Mrs. Philip Hamill, who have the loveliest old house in Stonington, the next village east of Mystic, will motor to Chicago in the late fall, probably after the election. Mrs. Martin's grandson, Peter Gratiot, who has been spending the summer in Stonington, will come to Winnetka this week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Gratiot, and debutante sister, Peggy, before returning to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mrs. Ralph Brown of Winnetka arrived in Mystic last Saturday to visit Miss Carolyn Wilson. Miss Wilson has a home on Mason's Island, just off the coast from Mystic.

Mrs. Henry to Entertain Fashion Show Committee.

Mrs. Huntington B. Henry has invited members of the committee in charge of the St. Luke's Fashion show to luncheon next Wednesday at her home in Lake Forest. A meeting will be held at 11 o'clock, preceding luncheon. The show, the largest annual fashion show in Chicago, will be held on the afternoon and night of Oct. 15 in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

An early September bride is Miss Barbara Reed Barry, who will be married to Roger S. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. Barrett of Minneapolis, at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The ceremony will be performed by Bishop F. T. McConnell in the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston. The bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Fravel Barry, will give a reception at the Country Club of Evanston following the ceremony. After a wedding trip to northern Minnesota, Canada, and New York Mr. Barrett and his bride will be at home on North Dearborn parkway.

Two Births in East Are of Interest in Chicago.

Two babies who were born in the east last week-end are of interest to Chicagoans, for they have many relatives here. The Robert W. Hamills of Hinsdale received word that they are grandparents of a boy born last Friday at the Doctors' hospital in New York to the Robert Lyon Hamills of Cedarcrest, N. Y. The baby, who has been named Robert Lyon Jr., arrived a month before the 20th anniversary of his parents. He has three sisters, Miss Katharine, Ann, and Joan Hamill.

Mrs. Ernest Stanley Hodges of Chicago went to Cambridge, Mass., to greet her first grandchild, Frank Balch Nairne III. The boy, who was born on Sunday, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nairne Jr. [Virginia Anne Hodves], and has two great-grandfathers, Henry Allen Hodges of Cincinnati and Joseph Richard Gay of Chicago. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nairne of Scarsdale, N. Y.

September Sees Return of Summer Vacationers.

The first part of September sees many families returning from summer holidays. The Joseph M. Cudahys are expected this week following a three weeks' cruise in the Atlantic on board their yacht Innisfail.

The Hamilton Walters are returning this week-end from Pocono Lake preserve in Pennsylvania, and a visit with Mrs. Walter's sister, Mrs. Donald S. Walker, in Greenwich, Conn. The Walters' daughter, Margaret, will enter Vassar this fall.

Mrs. Daniel Jay Schuyler, who celebrated her 95th birthday last April 28, has returned from her summer home at Oconomowoc, Wis., and is at her apartment at 1400 Lake Shore drive.

In Dunham Woods Horse Show

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Rae Johns' soft eyed pet will be watching from the sidelines when she rides in the annual Dunham Woods horse show to be held in Wayne next Sunday. This year's show is to be held in a new and bigger turf ring just completed in the meadows farther from the clubhouse than the old one. Spectators may watch from their automobiles parked around the ring.

Style Designs Are 'Knockout,' Expert Avers

The American Fashions contest sponsored by THE TRIBUNE already is an astounding success, Rea Seeger, fashion editor of THE TRIBUNE, reported yesterday after a visit to New York.

Not only is the contest the focus of attention among New York designers, with manufacturers discussing it to the exclusion of other topics, Miss Seeger reported, but the 12,491 designs submitted by 5,246 contestants put American fashion on a new, exciting and wholly American plane.

Manufacturers gave Miss Seeger three reasons for their absorption in the contest: [1] It is making women fashion conscious, [2] It removes the patronizing arrogance French couturiers accorded the wearers of their designs. [3] It approaches fashion from, in Miss Seeger's words, a "freedom-loving American angle."

Miss Seeger assisted Mrs. Grace Pickering, fashion authority, and a committee of associates in winnowing the 12,491 designs down to a superlative 43. Those selected now are being made up into garments to be modeled at two fashion shows in W-G-N audience studio the afternoon and evening of Oct. 2. The 25 best designs will receive awards totaling $7,500.

Many of America's most celebrated professional designers entered the contest, she said, but on the same footing as unknown amateurs. Both are represented in the final selection. More dinner dresses were submitted than anything else. One entrant alone sent in 30 sketches. "And all exquisite," Miss Seeger commented. "The most beautiful work I've ever seen in sketches."

The range of design was all-inclusive, from 60 ski suits to a winter coat with matching galoshes trimmed in the same fur as the coat's collar. Many spectator sports dresses had mittens to match, one pair of mittens being appliqued on a skirt as pockets. In another dress a muff was tied on at the waistline as a belt.

"One thing we noticed," she said, "is that the dresses all fit. No gunny sacks. They all glorify the female figure. There's no shapelessness in these designs, not even in the coats.

"As a whole, it's simply knockout. The designs selected are comprehensive, from the simplest dress to a gold lame formal. The nice thing is that they all are youthful, even those for middle aged women, and typically American. They suit the American figure and American activities. There is life to them!"

Seats for the two fashion shows, at which Travis Banton of Hollywood, noted American designer, will act as commentator over a coast to coast broadcast, are reserved. Admittance will be $1 in the afternoon and $2 in the evening. Any profit will go to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The designer of the best garment will receive a prize of $3,000. A second prize of $2,000, three prizes of $500 each and twenty of $50 each will be awarded to the other winners.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 3.—When movie shop talk gets around, as it always does, to handsome young things who are going somewhere, the name of Laraine Day comes up. This green-eyed Mormon girl from Roosevelt, Utah, who will be 20 on Oct. 13, is the heroine of Walter Wanger's new smash, "Foreign Correspondent," and the young nurse in Metro's "Dr. Kildare" series. She also had the feminine lead in "My Son, My Son," so you can see she's getting around.

Laraine's movie career really began when Harold Bucquet, the "Kildare" director, made a test of a girl for a rôle. She was his discovery and he was eager for her to make good. The office suggested that, as long as he was making tests, would he mind running another girl thru. So he took on the extra job; soon lost interest in his protégée and became hopped up about the added starter—who was Miss Day.

She was born Loraine Johnson, has a twin brother named Lamar, who lives with her and her parents in Cheviot Hills, between the Fox and Metro lots. Her father, Clarence Irwin Johnson, is a contractor at Long Beach. When the family was at Roosevelt, Johnson often acted as interpreter for the Ute Indians, whose reservation is near by. "The only thing that's colorful about Roosevelt," says Laraine, "is the Indians—and they're so dirty!"

When Laraine was in the fifth grade the family moved to Long Beach, Cal., where the young lady finished grammar and high school and became active in the Players' guild, a little theater group sponsored by her church. In third year high school she played the lead in the school's annual play, "Seventh Heaven." Later a movie scout saw her in a Players' guild offering, got her a rôle in the first of her 14 movies to date, "Scandal Sheet." It was a one shot job and afterward she went back to Long Beach. Then another scout saw her, got her on as George O'Brien's lead in "Border G-Men," "Painted Desert," and "Arizona Legion." Despite these tasks she managed to finish her final year of high school and graduate with honors.

Then back to the Players' guild—for, altho she's anything but serious to chat with, she's serious about the theater. Writing a musical comedy book now. She was so grateful to the late Elias Day, director of the Long Beach amateurs, that when he died last year she changed her screen name from Johnson to Day. Previously the Loraine had been switched to Laraine.

Her third and finally successful attempt to get in pictures and stay there came nearly two years ago when Bucquet gave her the test and she got a Metro contract. First job was in Wallace Beery's "Sergeant Madden." She has been in four of the five Kildare films, has just begun work on No. 6. Two weeks ago she had a busy time seeing herself on the screen, for "Foreign Correspondent" was previewed in the afternoon and "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case" was shown in the evening. She even stayed to see the regular picture that was showing that night.

"Foreign Correspondent," she confessed, had her so excited she was afraid she wouldn't be saved from the wing of the wrecked Clipper. And making that scene was her toughest movie job to date, for she had to plunge into cold, heaving water six or more times a day.

Miss Day's spare time is devoted to the Wilshire Players' guild, a church sponsored group similar to the one in Long Beach, which is making full length [16 millimeter] movies and producing shows. Laraine is the group's drama director and has just finished a music show book called "Goldilocks and the Three Bears, or She Was Taking a Tramp in the Woods." It improves on the original fairy story, for the wolf finds not only Red Riding Hood but also Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs, and Goldilocks. He's smitten by the last named, decides he'll drop Red Riding Hood, become an agent, and take Goldilocks to Hollywood.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

If there is one habit the woman who values her looks should fight with every bit of intelligence it's the habit of insomnia. And, 9 times out of 10, that's what insomnia is, tho the people who suffer from it don't like to admit it.

If you feel that the habit of tossing for long hours before you drop off to sleep is creeping up on you you should examine the pattern of your days. Maybe you're eating too heavily at night. Maybe you're smoking too many cigarets, or denying yourself the right amount of fresh air and exercise. You ought to be able to "turn off your mind" at night as automatically as you turn off the light.

The trick is in being able to relax physically as well as mentally.

With most women insomniacs we've talked to lack of exercise and fresh air has a great deal to do with their inability to relax. They've found that taking a long walk at night or, if that isn't feasible, doing some easy rhythmic exercises for 15 or 20 minutes does the trick.

If you're getting fidgety about your inability to sleep try this: Throw the windows wide open. Then, with weight balanced evenly on both feet, stretch as tall as you can, inhaling as you lift ribs, shoulders, and arms to a full stretch that includes even your fingertips. Then, on the exhale, let your spine go limp and your head fall loosely forward. It's done on the simple contract-release principle, with breathing coördinated. Do this five or six times, breathing deeply, and you'll be amazed at how swiftly the taut nerves and muscles will come unkinked!

Music Festival Winners Close Park Concerts

BY CECIL SMITH.

Even tho the gala closing concert of the season took place on Monday night, there still was a concert at the Grant park band shell last evening. When Giovanni Martinelli's appearance was postponed last week, Irma Cooper and William B. Strom, winners of the 11th Chicagoland Music Festival vocal contest, were crowded out of the schedule. Their program, with A. F. Thaviu conducting his band, therefore was given last night, a week later than originally intended.

Of the two contest winners Miss Cooper, a lyric soprano, is farther along the professional course. Her voice is warm and appealing, especially in the medium register, and she sings for the most part with an even scale and uniform production. There is something of a break between the medium and upper voices, however, and a discrepancy in quality can be heard between her E and her F. The top tones incline a bit toward edginess, and should be brought farther forward. Also she needs a more solid breath support.

These details, however, are somewhat clinical, and are not intended to indicate that she has not already become an agreeable and artistic singer. With greater experience she will learn to take fuller advantage of her natural resources, by more effective accentuation and more intensity of delivery.

There can be no denying that Mr. Strom possesses a fine, solid, forthright tenor voice. But it is a little early for him to attempt public appearances that imply full professional training. His tone production, good at its best, tends to be erratic and especially to become tight. He has not yet grasped the essentials of true legato singing, with the result that his style is marred by excessive slurring and other marks of the uncoached amateur. A high note seems to be the inevitable signal for an unabashed play for the audience, so that the taste and integrity of his singing suffer.

Both of the contest winners are full of promise, however, and the judges may rest secure in the knowledge that they selected excellent voices. Now it is back to the studio for both young singers, until they have attained a true professional command of their art.

Since 10 o'clock last night silence has reigned at the band shell, and not another note of music will be heard there for nearly nine months. The 1940 outdoor season is over.

THE STAGE

The Selwyn theater has been renovated and decorated, in preparation for the opening of "The Male Animal" on Monday evening. In recent weeks both the Selwyn and its twin theater, the Harris, have undergone a complete rehabilitation. The auditoriums have been repainted from roof to floor, and new seats, carpets, and drapes have been installed. New carpets and furnishings adorn the lounges. A new and up to the minute air conditioning plant, serving both theaters, has replaced the drafty system previously in use. The Harris theater reopens Sept. 30 with "Ladies in Retirement."

Good Morning!

Nice little screen program at the Oriental this week.

The feature picture is a snappy program "western" staged in the days when dance hall ladies sang "She's Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage." . . . There's an exceptionally tuneful and engaging musical "short"—"Swinging in the Barn"—and then there's "Information, Please," with Fadiman, Levant, F. P. Adams, Kiernan, AND—Wendell Willkie. DID our next President get a hand the morning I visited the theater! He did!

"The Lucky Cisco Kid," with Cesar Romero in the rôle which Warner Baxter once adorned, depicts the western Robin Hood returned to his haunts to show up a villain who in his name has been stealing from widows, burning barns, robbing mail stages, and slaughtering cattle. . . . With him is his henchman, Gorito, handier with a gun than with his tongue. . . .

Two women come briefly into the "Kid's" life, the while he straightens matters out. But he's the boy who can love 'em and leave 'em. . . .

The picture is brief, actionful, and ably acted. The yarn—believe it or not.

See you tomorrow.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Are Their Faces Red

According to CULBERTSON

(Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.)

It is not enough for a player to be able to make correct opening leads. He must also learn to "read" the leads of his opponents. Lack of knowledge, or of imagination, in that respect cost the declarer in today's hand a vulnerable game and a clear "top" on a board.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	Pass	3 diamonds	2 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

It goes without saying that West's double of two hearts was extremely risky. He had opened with one diamond, rather than one club, because he wanted to "dress up" the hand for no trump and wanted to discourage a diamond lead. This was all right, but when South came in with a two heart overcall West realized that further bidding by himself or partner would be highly dangerous, hence resolved to make a "shoestring double." He had four tricks in aces and kings, and if East had any heart honor the thrice guarded heart 10 would account for the fifth trick. Surely, he reasoned, East would have some king or queen that should turn into the setting trick.

When it came to selecting the opening lead West tried a bit of deception. A club lead was most desirable, but instead of making the conventional opening of the club king, West laid down the ace. His reason for this was the fear (or hope) that dummy would show up with just the club combination that actually appeared. East must have sensed what was brewing, because instead of giving a discouraging signal with the club deuce, he furthered West's plot by following suit with the seven. West promptly played the club eight, and declarer "bit," hook, line, and sinker. He called for the ten of clubs. East covered with the jack, winning the trick, and to declarer's great discomfiture, not to say humiliation, returned a low club to West's king. Later the defenders took one diamond and two spade tricks, thereby defeating the contract 200 points for a top score.

West's hoax, altho shrewd, could not have succeeded against an astute declarer. Such a one would say to himself at the second trick, "Well, it's possible that a leader might lay down the ace from a holding of A-K-x, but it's utterly out of the question that any one past the beginner's stage could make an opening lead from such a suit as A-J-x. Hence, West certainly has not got the club jack. He probably hasn't the king, either, but in any case the play of dummy's queen can't lose and may gain." That is the way a master would figure.

Most cooks like to use pancake mixes for their morning "wheat cakes." There are many good ones to be found in the stores, and althe it's not much trouble to mix a batch of pancake batter, it's usually important to save all the time one can in breakfast getting.

So use a pancake mix if you have one, for tomorrow's breakfast. And if you haven't one, mix the dry ingredients in this recipe together tonight, to save precious minutes in the morning.

PANCAKES.

2½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
⅝ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons melted butter

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg, add milk and melted butter. Add to dry ingredients and stir vigorously to mix. Bake on a hot griddle.

If you like whole wheat cakes, substitute a cup of whole wheat flour for one of white, in this recipe, and of you have some of those luscious, fresh blueberries in your refrigerator, add half a cupful to the batter and sift a tablespoon of sugar in with the dry ingredients. Maple sirup, maple-flavored sirup, or brown sugar sirup will be good with these cakes.

CREAMED MUSHROOMS.

To prepare the mushrooms for tomorrow's lunch, wash them and remove brown spots, but don't peel. Slice the mushrooms from top to bottom and sauté the slices in melted butter for three to five minutes, until tender. Season lightly with salt and pepper and add to a prepared, hot, medium white sauce, which you should have waiting in the top of a double boiler. Chopped pimiento may be added to the creamed mushrooms, if you like.

Medium white sauce: 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ teaspoon salt to each cup of milk.

BROWNIES.
[8 inch square pan]

¾ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅜ cup butter or other shortening
2 squares chocolate, melted
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift flour and baking powder together. Blend chocolate and butter. Combine sugar and beaten eggs, then add chocolate mixture, beating thoroly. Add flour, vanilla and nuts. Bake in greased pan at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Cut into squares.

Sukiyaki is the Japanese equivalent of Chinese chop suey. This is an American housewife's version.

SUKIYAKI.
[Serves Four]

2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup green onions, sliced, including tops
1 cup canned bamboo shoots
2 stalks celery, sliced
½ green pepper, sliced
½ cup pineapple, shredded
1 cup cooked chicken or beef cut in thin strips
1 cup meat stock or bouillon
3 tablespoons soy sauce
Salt, pepper

Melt fat in skillet and add sugar and onions. Cook gently for 2 minutes. Add other ingredients and simmer until hot and well seasoned thruout. Serve over hot boiled rice.

APRICOT KUCHEN.
[Serves Four or More]

1½ cups flour, sifted
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons hard shortening
1 egg
⅓ cup milk
Halved fresh apricots
¼ cup butter
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together several times and cut in the hard shortening. Beat egg and add to milk. Stir into the dry ingredients. Spread dough in a well greased baking pan and cover the top with halves of apricots. Cream butter and sugar and add flour. Sprinkle this mixture over fruit. Bake at 375 degrees for about 25 minutes. Fresh plums may be used instead of apricots.

Tailored Daytime Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESSES.

Every wardrobe needs an almost unlimited supply of tailored daytime dresses. We're presenting two today which will find favor because of their long, slim lines. Silks and woolens in plain colors are favored for both models.

At the left, a youthful version of the princess dress, with contrasting Peter Pan collar and hanky to match. Notice the ingenious, sophisticated paneling.

At the right, a shirtwaist design with V neckline adorned with a contrasting collar. Buttons are used down the front of the bodice, which is softly, flatteringly shirred, and fashionably large pockets grace the skirt.

Style No. 3005 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 54 inch material, with ¼ yard of contrasting.

Style No. 3315 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard contrasting.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

The Housewife

Pull on a pair of those convenient latex mitts before you start shampooing the dog, or cleaning the woodwork, or doing any other messy job. You'll save your hands and your manicure and you'll do the work just as efficiently. These household mitts come in a number of colors and the size called "regular" fits practically any hand. You'll find they last a long time.

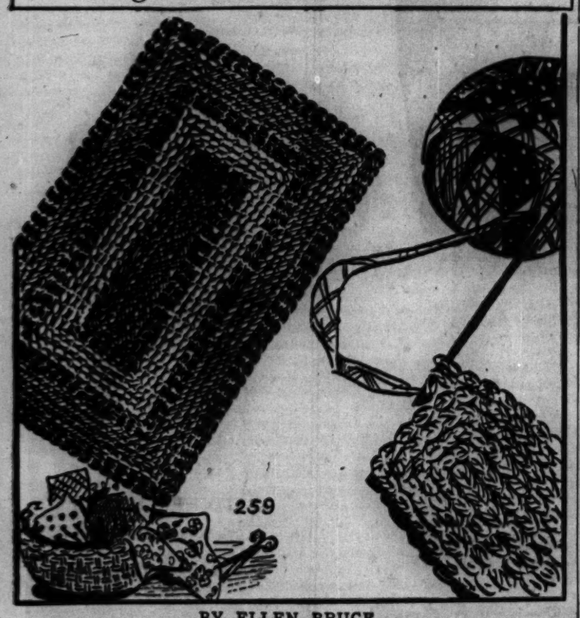
Rug Created from Castoffs



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There is hardly a crochet worker who has not made at least one rug. The rectangular article made from castoff rags creates a good looking scatter rug to be used in any part of the house. If a single color is desired, the rags may be cut in strips and dyed before being worked up. Approximately five pounds of rags are required for a small rug 3 by 4 feet.

For instructions in crocheting the rectangular rug, No. 259, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th Avenue, New York City.

Gift Received for Nearly Depleted Free Ice Fund

A contribution of $2 was placed yesterday in the almost depleted Free Ice fund by a friend identified by the initials E. P. For more than a score of years the United Charities has been supported by Tribune readers in its work of supplying destitute families and needy sick persons with ice. This season contributions have amounted to $1,621.96. Donations to this important philanthropy should be addressed to the Free Ice Fund, Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower.

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.
[Central Daylight Saving Time.]

The music of Wagner, Rachmaninoff, Brahms, and Beethoven will highlight the Pageant of Melody on W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 9:15 to 10 p. m. Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Attilio Baggiore, tenor, will be the soloists. The program, presented before an audience of 600 guests in the W-G-N main studio, will be under the direction of Henry Weber. The orchestra will open the performance with the overture from "Merry Wives of Windsor," by Otto Nicolai. Other orchestra selections will be Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor," Brahms' "Goldenglow," and Lehar's "Russian Peasant Dance." "Elsa's Traum," from Richard Wagner's opera "Lohengrin," will be Miss Witwer's solo. Baggiore will sing Clutsam's "I Know of Two Bright Eyes" for his solo, and with Miss Witwer and the octet will present themes from Beethoven for the evening finale.

Radio's Voice, Guy Savage's interview show from the outer lobby of the Chicago theater, is scheduled at 11:45 a. m. The popular program is broadcast daily except Sunday at the same hour.

The interesting dramatic series, I'll Never Forget, featuring Frank Luther, popular radio tenor, will be heard at noon today. The series, scheduled Monday thru Friday, offers short dramatizations of true stories sent in by the listeners.

At 9 p. m. Billy Repaid will present a quarter hour broadcast of late news, and at 10 p. m. Al Mitchell, the Answer Man, will be heard.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

Sept. 4, 1940.

Universal day—One of those tagend days. Clear summer's accumulation of unimportant details, out of way.

September—Since September is a nine—the ninth month on the calendar—and since whenever you add nine to a number you can reduce it again to its original number, this month is always the same number as the number of the year you are in. It is a good time to review the year, check on your progress and also on the numbers of the other months and what they brought, then to learn in what direction you are going in the coming year. If you work with your numbers you can help to bring out the constructive forces.

Year Ahead—You need to be patient and long suffering for a few months and don't worry if the ground seems to move from under you.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Iowa Girl Vows to Return as Star, and Does

BY BRUCE DENNIS.

Six years ago any one in Davenport, Ia., would have told you Mary Jane Walsh had one of the best voices in town. Then Mary Jane left Davenport to seek a stage and radio career. She vowed to return some day to her native middle west as, in capital letters, Somebody.

Well, she's back, as singing star of "Too Many Girls" at the Grand Opera house. And tomorrow night she will sing on the program In Chicago Tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual network. The program will be broadcast from 7:30 to 8 o'clock from the W-G-N main audience studio.

In Chicago Tonight, produced and directed by William A. Bacher, likewise will bring these outstanding entertainers before the microphone tomorrow: Joe Penner, noted comedian; Eddy Howard, singer of sweet songs, and Duke Ellington, long tops as a composer and orchestra leader. Penner is at the Chicago theater; Ellington opens Friday at Sherman hotel.

The name of Mary Jane's show may be "Too Many Girls," but observers of the W-G-N rehearsal agreed there couldn't be too many girls of her type. She's Irish as Killarney, and has burnished chestnut hair, hazel eyes, and a smattering of forthright freckles.

Mary Jane did her first radio singing while attending Trinity college in Washington, D. C. Her voice was heard next from the Daveport station, WOC, and then she came to Chicago to study and to appear in a hodge-podge of programs over KYW.

Miss Walsh decided she wanted to travel as the vocalist for an orchestra, and maestro Ted Weems offered her the chance. Later she appeared with Seymour Simons and with Shep Fields, reaching Broadway with the Fields organization in 1937.

She talked her way into engagements at the Mayfair and at Ciro's in London, England, during the coronation celebration. The duke and duchess of Kent headed the titled patrons at Ciro's. Of Mary Jane's songs the duke preferred "The Lady Was a Tramp," while the duchess liked "Johnny One-Note."

Returning home, Miss Walsh won a rôle in the George M. Cohan show, "I'd Rather Be Right," but did not join the road company. She was in "Sing Out the News" and then almost a year ago she began the Broadway run of "Too Many Girls."

Eddy Howard is returning to In Chicago Tonight on demand of listeners who overwhelmed W-G-N with letters and phone calls after he sang on last week's program.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

Count Ostrowski to Teach French in Girls' School

Count Stephan Ostrowski, a former member of the Polish consulate here, will remain in Chicago this winter, as he is to teach French at the University School for Girls. Also added to the faculty for the coming school year is Herbert Slade, who will teach diction and practical theater in the absence of Elsa Durand Mower. Count Ostrowski, who holds a master's degree from the University of Paris, and Mr. Slade are the first masculine members of the faculty the school has had in several years. The school will open Sept. 17.

Black Jet Gets Call for Dress Parade Trim

BY REA SEEGER.

The wink and blink of jet is the new pet of fashion! Attached this year of grace with a much lighter touch, nevertheless new dinner and evening clothes trimmed with this twinkling, inky black beading have the same slightly naughty appeal that they had when belles of the old fashioned family album went about in gala apparel.

The seams in one suavely fitted black crêpe dinner gown, for instance, are picked out with narrow jet bead banding. Or it races around black taffeta skirts of rather stately ball gowns. Or it flashes wickedly from brief boleros, on the façade of your best fitted evening jacket of some pale color in broadcloth.

Jewelry, too, comes out in coal black jet that shines as effectively with smoothly fashioned colored wool daytime dresses as it does with dull black. Huge earrings, massive chunks masquerading as clips, chokers, necklaces, pins, and bracelets are made of this anthraciteish jet and the results are eyecatching, to say it meaningly.

When jet is used on dresses or suits it is not shoveled on with old time Victorian abundance . . . this year just enough is applied with a smart deftness to glitter without blinding. Scroll work, leaf outlines, diamond shapes, circles, lattice effects, and the seam outlines make most effective designs.

JOHNSON QUOTED ON OWNERSHIP OF GAMBLING SPOTS

Revenue Agent Tells Jury of Admission.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

Statements made 10 months ago by William R. Johnson, reputed gambling boss, were revived yesterday and used against him by the government in his trial with eight codefendants on charges of conspiracy to violate the income tax laws. In those statements Johnson was said to have admitted owning two gambling places, the Bon Air Country club, near Wheeling, and the Club Western, 9730 South Western avenue.

Johnson is accused of defrauding the government of $1,887,864 in taxes in the years 1936 thru 1939, and his co-defendants are charged with abetting him. The case is being tried before Judge John P. Barnes and a jury in the federal district court.

Thus far the government has tried to show that Johnson owned and operated a chain of gambling houses. Defense lawyers have laid the groundwork for an effort to show that William [Billy] Skidmore, Johnson's reputed gambling partner, is the real owner and operator of several of the gambling places. Skidmore was indicted with Johnson but the charges against him were dismissed last week. Since then the two old friends are reported to have fallen apart.

Revenue Agent Testifies.

The government called Walter A. Sommers, a special internal revenue agent, as a witness yesterday to revive Johnson's statements of 10 months ago. Sommers was questioned by Paul M. Plunkett, an assistant United States attorney.

He testified he and Agents Clarence Converse and Frank Clifford questioned Johnson and Ed H. Wait, a co-defendant with Johnson, in the internal revenue offices last Nov. 3.

"Tell what was said then," said Plunkett.

"I asked Johnson whether he owned the place at 9730 Western avenue," replied Sommers. "He said Goldstein had bought some property there for him and he owned it."

This reference was to William A. Goldstein, Johnson's lawyer, another who was indicted with him and also freed. He testified against Johnson last week.

Bon Air Ownership Told.

"I asked him who owned the buildings on it," continued Sommers. "He said Joseph J. Nadherny, the architect, had charge and could give me the information. He said he also owned the Bon Air club."

"Was anything said about Skidmore owning any of the properties?" asked Plunkett.

"No," replied Sommers.

Nadherny, called as a court's witness Monday, testified Skidmore was the real owner of the Club Western and had paid $22,000 for it. He previously had told the district attorney's office the club was owned by Johnson.

Floyd E. Thompson, attorney for Johnson, cross-examined Sommers and drew from him the admission that "Johnson was not being particularly investigated" at the time of the talk last November.

Point Is Permitted to Drop.

The defense did not press that phase further, apparently being content to let the jury know that some man other than Johnson was the principal subject of the income tax inquiry then.

Other witnesses yesterday included James J. Radomski, an income tax expert, who told of preparing income tax returns for Johnson and seven of the eight co-defendants; three former shills employed by the gambling syndicate; two former colored porters employed by the same outfit, and five men who had done installation or repair work at the Bon Air club.

The testimony of the business men was to show the amount of money spent at the Bon Air. Testimony of the five former employés was intended to link several of the co-defendants —including Jack Sommers and James A. Hartigan—with gambling enterprises.

Government attorneys expect today to reveal how the gambling combine operated a school for shills. Shills are gambling house employés who use house money, pose as patrons, and gamble to stimulate other patrons to play.

The prosecutors also expect testimony describing the syndicate's clearing house operations in its headquarters in the Casino club, 4715 Irving Park road.

Collections of the second instalment of 1939 real estate taxes yesterday totaled $5,611,901, more than a million dollars above the comparable day a year ago. Midnight was the deadline when a penalty of one per cent a month on delinquent instalment payments became effective.

Despite an increase in the day's collections, payments for the year, totaling $117,781,936, lagged $11,203,343 behind 1939 collections of $128,985,279 thru the day second instalments were due.

Yesterday's payments were made on 23,685 paid bills received up till 4 p. m. Collectors remained in the office four hours later to serve late comers, and all remittances postmarked before midnight were exempted from penalty. The lag in payments this year was attributed to the fact that 65,000 complaints made against the 1939 quadrennial assessment are before the board of review.

26 FELONS STILL AT LARGE; 1,000 MEN PRESS HUNT

Posseman and a Fugitive Slain, 9 Recaptured.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Sept. 3 [Special].—More than a thousand peace officers and possemen were on the trail of a scattered band of escaped convicts tonight after death and recapture had reduced the fugitives' ranks from 36 to 26.

Airplanes, bloodhounds, and 100 state policemen formed the bulwark of the hunt in Arkansas, while in Louisiana, where many of the desperadoes were known to have fled, a plea was made to Gov. Sam Jones to call out the National Guard.

Three deaths have been recorded since the 36 felons, most of them long termers, shot their way out of the Cummins prison farm near here yesterday in the biggest break in the state's penal history. A guard was killed in the break, a posseman was slain this morning, and a fugitive was shot to death this afternoon.

Nine Back in Custody.

The nine other convicts accounted for are four recaptured not far from the prison farm; three taken by possemen near Garland City, 100 miles west of the prison, and two taken in a gun battle near Texarkana.

The felon slain was Frank Conley, 34 years old, serving a term of 21 years for kidnaping and robbery. Conley, one of the ringleaders in the break, fell under posse gunfire as he and five other desperadoes held three youthful hostages in swamplands near Columbia, La.

The group led by Conley is believed to be the desperadoes who killed a posseman, Frank Gartman of Columbia, yesterday when he approached the car in which they were holding prisoner two girls and a youth. The convicts kidnaped the young people to obtain their car at Rayville, La.

Conley was felled by the bullets of several possemen as he raised his gun to fire at pursuers in an effort to break thru a tightening cordon. He died about 50 yards from where Gartman was slain yesterday.

Surrounded in Woods.

An armed posse of 500 to 1,000 men surrounded the fugitives in a heavy wood but were afraid to fire because of the possibility of shooting the children. A leader of the posse said they could have killed all the convicts had it not been for the hostages.

Gov. Jones of Louisiana sent 100 state policemen to the scene after Sheriff G. E. Erskine appealed to him to send National Guard troops.

The three convicts captured near Garland City, in the extreme southwest corner of Arkansas, were ringleaders in the break. They are W. E. Barner, serving 15 years for murder; Walter Magby, serving seven years for grand larceny, and Leon Johnson, serving 43 years for burglary. Barner and Magby were trusties, serving as armed guards. Johnson was not a trusty, but disarmed a guard and took his gun.

Two other fugitives were captured last night near Yancopin, on the Arkansas river, not far from the prison farm. They are Perry Williams, serving 15 years for killing his cell mate in a county jail, and H. H. Free, serving six years for grand larceny.

Two others, Otis Hankins and Raymond Hodge, returned voluntarily to the prison farm shortly after the break. They were serving only short sentences.

A POLICE STATION PHOTO DEVELOPS INTO A MYSTERY

Whether the Morgan Park police station might be considered a military objective will be decided Friday by Municipal Judge Leroy Hackett. Peter Pasarich, 46 years old, of 27 South Halsted street, was arrested Friday for photographing the station with a German make camera. He also carried a tear gas pencil and a list of other public buildings he said he intended to photograph as part of a WPA project. Agents of the federal bureau of investigation questioned him, but decided he wasn't violating any law. Police told Judge Hackett yesterday that they have corroborated the fact that Pasarich was a WPA worker, but that no such photography project as he had mentioned existed. Pasarich was released on $25 bond while police developed his films.

STUDY MYSTERY NAMES IN BRIDLE PATH MURDER

The body of a man about 65 years old was found yesterday on the sanitary district bridle path about 150 feet north of Peterson avenue, west of Lincoln avenue, near the drainage canal. A knife was beneath the body, and there were apparent knife wounds in the back of the head. Lieut. Thomas Brennan of the Albany Park police and Coroner A. L. Brodie said the man probably had been slain elsewhere and his body dumped on the bridle path. Police investigating the mystery said a name, apparently "Charles Demsil," was sewed into the lining of the victim's clothing. Another name, deciphered as "Joe Deneifel," was on a name tag in the topcoat on which the body lay.

28 DAY MEETING TO OPEN TODAY AT HAWTHORNE

Inaugural Handicap Draws Sprinters.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

(Picture on next page.)

Hawthorne will open its 28 day race meeting this afternoon with a program headed by the $1,500 Inaugural handicap, a six furlong event which has drawn a good field of sprinters. For the first time in many seasons there was a lapse in Chicago's racing schedule yesterday, Washington Park having terminated its meeting on Monday.

The first of a series of seven stakes will be run on Saturday. Racing Secretary Julius Reeder has arranged a program which will bring out sprinters and distance horses, juveniles, 3 year olds, and handicap performers in the course of these events.

The Hawthorne handicap, Saturday's $5,000 stake, will be a gallop of a mile and a furlong for 3 year olds and up. The juveniles will have their day the following week, the $5,000 Hawthorne Juvenile handicap, a six furlong sprint, being scheduled for Sept. 14.

Meeting Closes Oct. 5.

Two $2,500 stake events will be run off on Sept. 21, the Hawthorne Endurance handicap at two miles and a quarter, and the Illinois Owners' handicap at a mile and a sixteenth. The following week, the main event will be the $5,000 Autumn handicap at a mile and a sixteenth. On Oct. 5 the meeting will come to a close with two $2,500 stakes, the Au Revoir and the Hawthorne Speed handicap, the former being at a mile and a sixteenth and the latter at six furlongs.

Due to the fact that Hawthorne was unable to get Labor day in the allotment of dates this season, the management has found it necessary to drop the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup from its schedule.

The inclusion of a race at two miles and a quarter in the Hawthorne stake program was good news for the handlers of Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put, which distinguished himself in the distance series conducted at Washington Park. His owner may send him into that event as a prelude to trying for Belmont Park's $50,000 stake over the same route.

Stake Stars Are Ready.

Shot Put also is among the nominees for Saturday's Hawthorne handicap. Other stake eligibles on the grounds are Charles S. Howard's Advocator, winner of Arlington Park's Stars and Stripes handicap, B. F. Masterson's Busy Morn, which scored in the Beverly stakes at Washington Park, Mrs. Edith Oros' Bucking, Shandon farm's Burning Star, Paul Kelley's Kings Blue, and Mrs. Joe Grossman's Valdina Star.

President Charles Krutchkoff has assembled an official family headed by Secretary Reeder, who also is a steward. C. Bruce Head will be one of the other stewards and C. J. Fitzgerald will be the steward representing the Illinois Racing commission.

Larry Boganschutz, Bob McAuliffe and Sidney Brown will be placing judges and Bill Hamilton will be the starter.

This will be the next to last meeting of the Chicago season. The Sportsman's Park track will run from Oct. 7 to the first Saturday in November.

Armstrong-Zivic Match Runs Into Contract Snag

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP).—A hitch developed today in plans to have Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong defend his title here late this month against Fritzie Zivic in a part-charity bout. Co-Promoters Art Rooney and the Dapper Dan Charity club of Pittsburgh were notified Promoter Mike Jacobs of New York was insisting Armstrong fulfill a contract, made before the recent bout with Lew Jenkins, to defend his title in New York under Jacobs' promotion.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—All big league ball clubs carry insurance against injury to the patrons. . . . It is an expensive type of protection because there are no set rates. . . . If the number of injuries rises, so does the premium. . . . A provision in the policy prohibits throwing the last ball of a game into the stands or bleachers, which was a common practice in the old days. . . . Mike Jacobs has assured the champions under contract to him—Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Ken Overlin [New York style], and Henry Armstrong—winter title fights in Madison Square Garden. . . . The main questions are: Who will meet Joe Louis and should the meeting be called a fight?

. . . Stanley Harris, who has been a major league manager for 16 years, never has seen one of his teams finish in the cellar. . . . Each year the Auburn and Alabama Alumni associations hold a joint football rally and discuss the splendid relations between the two schools but they have not met on the gridiron since that 6-all tie in 1907, which wound up in one of the hottest fights since Gettysburg. . . . Alice Marble, Helen Wills, and Helen Jacobs, tennis stars, all have written books. . . . Ted Williams, the Red Sox rebel, told a Boston columnist last week he hated all sports writers. . . . Which is somewhat similar to a grocer saying he has no use for cash customers. . . . Carl Hubbell never has been in a fight on the diamond and he never has been put out of a game. . . . Big league scouts are swarming around Earl Cook, 28 year old Buffalo pitcher who has turned in three straight shutouts without issuing a base on balls. . . .

Bert Humphries of East Orange, N. J., manages to keep busy over weekends. . . . On Saturdays he pitches for a semipro club in his home town and on Sundays he preaches in Baldwinsville, N. Y. . . . Vern Olsen, the Cub pitcher, and Al McCoy, light heavyweight boxer, are married to sisters. . . . The Dodgers, who still vision themselves as pennant contenders, have lost more games than they have won since mid-June. . . . Babe Ruth received 2,056 passes during his major league career and covered slightly more than 35 miles in free trips to first base. . . . Hugh Barber, Columbia end and captain-elect, is fully recovered from an appendectomy. . . . Mel Ott's chief ambition is to exceed Rogers Hornsby's National league record total of 1,582 runs batted in. . . . Mel is around the 1,500 mark. . . . Billy Sunday, who started in baseball before turning evangelist, is credited with the expression "Charley horse" for a pulled leg muscle. . . . When Sunday was playing with Cap Anson's Chicago White Stockings in 1886, he and a group of his teammates picked a horse named Charley to win a race at Washington Park. . . . The horse went lame during the stretch drive and finished last. . . . A few days afterward, when George Gore, one of the White Stockings, strained a leg muscle rounding the bases and limped across the plate, Sunday is said to have remarked: "Look, fellows, here comes that old Charley horse again. . . . Lou Boudreau of the Indians is a pinball addict. . . .

Heavy Rains Today.

Whenever it's a rainin' hard
I somehow think o' Maw
An' how she always used to watch
So closely after Paw.

If even it suggested rain
She'd always make him tote
His rubbers an' umbrella
Or his rainproof overcoat.

He used to call her silly
But she would smile an' say:
"The paper says to be prepared.
For heavy rains today."

An' even tho she seemed to Forever in the right,
He'd never even mention it
When he came home at nigh.

Last night I heard him prayin
As he knelt beside his bed
An' I am sure I can repeat
The very words he said:

"Dear Lord, please take me . . to her—
I want to hear her say:
'The paper says to be prepared
For heavy rains today.'"

Reds Win, 4-3; Season's 32d 1 Run Victory

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 3 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, today when 40 year old Jimmy Wilson doubled in the eighth inning to score Morrie Arnovich with the deciding run. The victory put the Reds eight games ahead of Brooklyn in the National league.

The game was the 32d the Reds have won by one run this season and their 11th triumph out of the last 15 starts. It also was Joe Beggs' ninth triumph in a relief rôle.

Wilson resumed duty as catcher yesterday in place of Ernie Lombardi, out with an injured finger.

The Cardinals got off to a lead with a run in each of the first two innings, ending Rookie Johnny Hutchings' mound effort. Jimmy Ripple put the Reds back into the game with a homer in the fourth, scoring Frank McCormick.

Rookie Witt Guise filled the bases on singles and walked in a Cardinal run in the seventh. Score:

CUBS TAKE UP CHORES TONIGHT WITH CARDINALS

They're a Bit Saddened by .485 Percentage.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—The downtrodden Cubs are here for a lot of pondering of their fate and incidentally a couple of widely spaced baseball contests with the Cardinals, the first tomorrow night, the second Friday afternoon. Saturday they will be welcomed home by a band playing muted instruments, but Sunday night they will depart on their last eastern trip of the season. O, lackaday.

The erstwhile proud Wrigley chattels, still wealthy young sportsmen withal, tho cheered somewhat by ending a six game losing streak in Pittsburgh, limped into this charming Mississippi river spa well wedged into sixth place. They aren't likely to fall behind the Bees and the Phillies tho both those trailing outfits are rated much better teams than the Cubs.

Four Games Under .500.

Today the Cubs, with a .485 percentage, are four games under the .500 mark and four and a half games out of the first division. You have been reading recently that the Cubs haven't been out of the first division of the National league since 1925, but has any morbid cuss brought to your attention specifically how much worse off the Cubs are now than they have been in their many recent years of pennant contention?

Maybe it isn't a very cheerful thing to do, but history is history we always say, so here's some of it, let the hot needles penetrate where they will. Here is how the Cubs have finished in the last 14 years:

Pos.	W.	L.	Pct.
1926—4th	82	72	.532
1927—4th	85	68	.556
1928—3d	91	63	.591
1929—1st	98	54	.645
1930—2d	90	64	.584
1931—3d	84	70	.545
1932—1st	90	64	.584
1933—3d	86	68	.558
1934—3d	86	65	.570
1935—1st	100	54	.649
1936—tie 2d	87	67	.565
1937—2d	93	61	.604
1938—1st	89	63	.586
1939—4th	84	70	.545

Have 24 Games to Play.

The Cubs have 24 games to play. If they won them all, which isn't deemed likely, they would finish with a total of 87, which would just tie the total they had when they finished second in a tie with the Cardinals four years ago. They would be 13 under their total for 1935, and 11 under their total for 1929, in which years they finished first.

The night game with the Cardinals holds some promise of momentary happiness, for Claude Passeau will make a bid for his eighteenth victory. Bob Bowman will start for the Cardinals. So far this year the Cubs have done pretty well against the Cards, losing only 7 out of 13 with the St. Louisans. The teams have one more series in St. Louis at the close of the season and another in Chicago.

PASTOR WINDS UP WORK FOR CONN MATCH FRIDAY

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—Bob Pastor today finished his training for his 15 round bout with Billy Conn Friday night. Pastor boxed three rounds, two with Tommy Tucker and one with Max Minnich. He scaled 183 pounds.

James J. Johnston, his manager, said Pastor hoped to weigh the same when he enters the ring in Madison Square Garden.

Conn went thru a brisk seven round drill at another gymnasium. He boxed three rounds with Willie Pavlovich, two with Bob Smith, and two with Georges Hughes. Conn weighed 179 pounds. He will continue his training today.

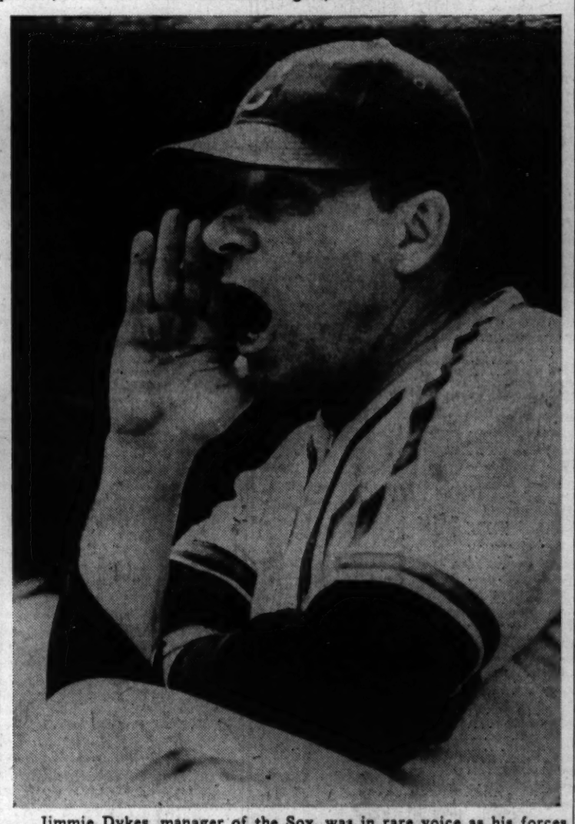
White Sox Heap Injury on Insult to Tigers

Barney McCosky, Tigers' center fielder, gets relief in Comiskey park dressing room after suffering side injury trying to make a diving catch of Taft Wright's double in the second inning of yesterday's game with the Sox. Assistant Trainer G. F. Nemitz does the work under supervision of Trainer Denny Carroll (rear). Al Benton, Tiger pitcher, looks on. Sox humiliated Tigers, 10 to 2.

Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, who had to stand out on the coaching lines yesterday and take a verbal beating from the White Sox bench jockeys while his players were routed on the field.



Jimmie Dykes, manager of the Sox, was in rare voice as his forces won their eighth straight from the Tigers, who came to town Monday as pennant contenders and left last night in third place. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Notre Dame Eleven Loses Petschel, End, to Air Corps

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 3 [Special].—Howard Petschel, Notre Dame sophomore right end in 1939, advised Coach Elmer Layden today that he is entering the army flying service and will not be back this fall. He will report at Randolph field in San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 11. Petschel won the spring practice medal for ends for blocking tackles and was regarded as the most improved end on the squad.

SAN DIEGO WINS FIRST GAME IN JUNIOR SERIES

Albemarle, N. C., Sept. 3 (AP).—San Diego, Cal., defeated Albemarle, N. C., 6 to 5, today in the opening game of the American Legion's junior baseball tournament.

The California Juniors, national titlists in 1938, routed J. W. [Lefty] Lisk in the fifth with a seven hit barrage and five runs. Clyde Dick, who relieved Lisk, allowed only two hits for the remainder of the game. Dick and Bill Williams of San Diego tied for hitting honors with three singles apiece. Score:

DAUGHTER ILL, DEMPSEYS ARE UNITED BRIEFLY

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—Jack Dempsey and his estranged wife, Hannah Williams, were reunited briefly today thru the illness of their 4 year old daughter, Barbara.

Barbara was stricken with a throat infection three days ago while traveling east from Salt Lake City with her father and sister, Joan, 6, and had to stop over in Chicago for treatment.

The trio was met at the airport by Miss Williams, who is legal custodian of the girls.

"Don't let her get too warm, honey," said Dempsey, as he handed Barbara to her.

IT'S CHICAGO'S 8TH STRAIGHT OVER DETROIT

Knott Has Shutout Until Ninth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who have worked most of the season on the two sided job of keeping Cleveland's Indians in first place and Detroit's Tigers out of it, yesterday strengthened the barricade against the latter. The Sox, getting an early start with a riproaring seven run first inning, whipped their cousins, 10 to 2, in the series final. It was their eighth in a row over the Tigers, 10 out of the last 11 from them, and a season's count of 13 out of 20.

Jack Knott, the big man who hadn't finished nine consecutive starts, altho winning five in succession, not only went the distance, but was so near perfect that for eight innings he surrendered only four hits. In the ninth he felt safe enough to ease up a bit and all that it cost him was the added honor of a shutout in his season's 10th victory.

13 Sox Bat in First Inning.

The opening inning was such a stampede that 13 batters were involved. With this many fellows streaming to the plate as batters, not to mention streaming across the plate with runs, there naturally had to be a few enemy pitchers in service. It took three of them—Fred Hutchinson, Hal Newhouser and Clay Smith—to subdue the assault. But all the runs were charged against the first pair, who knew so little about control that the Sox scored their first seven runs on four hits. And while Smith escaped safely in the opening barrage, he got his eventually, being succeeded by Tom Seats.

As proof of the Tiger pitchers' wildness, not only at the start but thruout the nine inning journey, there were 11 passes issued by them. Hutchinson gave three of these, as well as two hits before he was yanked with one out in the first. Newhouser issued three more, also two hits, before Smith came to his aid. Three of the others were gifts from Smith later on and just to prove he subscribed to the idea, Seats dispensed a pair in his one inning of labor. The chief beneficiary of this bad aim was Mike Tresh, who drew four of the gratuities.

Barney McCosky, the Tiger center fielder, twisted his back trying a diving catch of Taft Wright's low liner in the second inning and had to retire. He will be out for a week, another unhappy item for the Tigers.

The Big Parade Is On.

The giddy first inning opened with passes to Webb and Kreevich. They were pushed along by Kuhel's bunt. The Tigers didn't suspect real trouble was afoot when they gave Solters an intentional pass, filling the bases. Appling slapped a slow bounder toward right, but Gehringer isn't the man he used to be and the ball rolled off his glove tip for a single, Webb and Kreevich scoring.

The next bit of business was Wright's single to right, Solters scoring and Appling going to third. Fox threw to the plate and Tebbetts whipped the ball to second hoping to catch Wright, but the throw was bad and Appling raced home from third. This was where Hutchinson got word he was excused.

The switch from Hutchinson to Newhouser made no noticeable dif-

22 CLUBS JOIN FOR DOG SHOW ON NOV. 30-DEC. 1

Leading Breeders Will Exhibit in Coliseum.

BY BOB BECKER.

Twenty-two dog clubs, composed of breeders from many sections of the country, will hold their combined dog shows at the Western Specialty Clubs' association event in the Chicago Coliseum Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, according to A. F. Kramer, president of the associated clubs.

The association, which last year put 1,113 dogs into the judging rings in one of the largest specialty shows in the country, expects a record entry this year. Clubs which already have received the approval of the American Kennel club are busy preparing for their shows.

Many to Participate.

Clubs which will participate in this year's show, and the names of the club secretaries, are as follows:

Western English Setter club and Western Irish Setter club, John H. Morse, Des Plaines; Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West, Doris Flagg, 830 Washington boulevard, Oak Park; English Springer Spaniel club of the Central States, B. F. Genty, Lake Bluff; Central States Dachshund club, Elmer A. Walther, 1642 West 100th street.

Chicago Collie club, Thomas M. Halpin, 141 West Ohio street; Doberman-Pinscher Club of America, Dr. Edward H. Garry, P. O. box 1799, Milwaukee; Midwest Great Dane club, Mrs. Mabel Hale, 329 Elm street, Glen Ellyn; the Central States Airedale Terrier club, M. S. McKay, room 1828 Merchandise Mart, Chicago; Great Lakes Bull Terrier club, Mrs. May G. Ruff, 2941 North Kilbourn avenues; Fox Terrier Club of Chicago, Mrs. Madeleine Rossiter, 324 South Clark street; Irish Terrier Club of Chicago, William A. Butler, 1338 West 98th street; Midwest Standard Schnauzer club, Mrs. H. H. Cooper, 807 Milburn street, Evanston; Scottish Terrier Club of Chicago, Miss Dorothy E. Hall, 2123 Humboldt boulevard; American Sealyham Terrier club, Mrs. R. Holmes Penn, Chalfont, Pa.

Should Write Secretaries.

Chihuahua Club of America, Mrs. Anna B. Vinyard, 1530 Lincoln avenue, East Walnut Hills, Cincinnati; Western Pomeranian club, Miss Helen Nowicki, 7931 South Shore drive; Midwest Boxer club, M. F. Cunillard, 754 North 26th street, Milwaukee; Western Boston Terrier club, Thomas J. Moore, 164 North Loomis street; Chicago Bulldog club, Charles F. Low, 16 North Dearborn street; Mid-States Chow Chow club, Mrs. Lauretta Schmidt, box 305, Tinley Park, and Midwest Schipperke club, Robert H. Dudley, 5802 Bedford road, Detroit.

Prospective exhibitors are urged to write to secretaries of the clubs for information and assistance in entering dogs in the specialty show, Kramer said. Two other specialty clubs are expected to announce their participation in the show within several days.

FIREMEN WORK OUT FOR GAME WITH HOOSIERS

Chicago's fireman ball club held a workout yesterday in Mills stadium, Lake and Kilpatrick, for the intercity benefit game with the Indianapolis Fire Department team Saturday in Comiskey park.

Chicago and Indianapolis met in 1938 and played a tie. Tickets are on sale at all fire stations. Children under 14 may obtain complimentary tickets at the fire station nearest their home.

FOOTBALL CARDS TO PURSUE STUDY ON MAROON FIELD

Prepare for Opener in Pittsburgh Sunday.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Chicago Cardinals, struggling to learn a new system, will repair to the scholastic atmosphere of the University of Chicago today for deeper concentration. On the old Maroon practice field, where once the greats of a bygone era prepared for championship campaigns under the guidance of the venerable A. A. Stagg, Coach Jim Conzelman, a man who is gray enough to be venerable, but who retains the enthusiasm of a sophomore, will attempt to get the Cardinals ready for the opening game of their season Sunday in Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals will practice on the Maroon field until after the baseball city series, when they will move into Comiskey park, their newly acquired headquarters. Temporary residence on the Midway was made necessary by the opening of school at Morgan Park Military academy, where the Cardinals began training under Conzelman, their new coach, several weeks ago.

Conzelman Has His Troubles.

Conzelman, frightened at the prospects of having to send a group of youngsters against the Steelers who beat the Chicago Bears recently, is having his troubles assembling a football team from the flock of earnest but unqualified candidates he inherited when he signed as the Cardinal coach last spring. So far he has been unable to discover a suitable left half back except on somebody else's roster. Marshall Goldberg, starting his second season of professional football, is the best bet, but Goldberg does not pass and as yet Conzelman has not been able to muster enough good blockers to make Goldberg a sure thing as a ground gainer on running plays alone.

Frank Patrick, a teammate of Goldberg's at Pittsburgh, who has been an ordinary player in other seasons, was placed on the waiver list last night. If no other team claims him, he will be released. Waivers also were asked yesterday on six other men. They are Tom Roberts, De Paul guard; Jim Thomas, Oklahoma guard; Ed Norris, De Paul half back; Tackle Frank Zelencick, End Pep Kelly, and Half Back Ernie Wheeler. Norris displayed considerable promise and figured prominently in Conzelman's plans until he suffered a recurrence of an old shoulder injury. The injury is of such a nature that Norris realized he would not be able to play and agreed with Conzelman that a release was the only way out.

Barbartsky Due Today.

Al Barbartsky, former Fordham tackle, who will be a regular if and when he gets into shape, is due to report today. Barbartsky was detained somewhere between New York and Chicago and has missed several weeks of work. It is not likely that he will see action against the Steelers in Pittsburgh, altho he insists he has been working out daily and needs only to learn the signals.

GOLDEN GLOVES BOXER KILLED IN CRASH AT MOLINE

Moline, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP).—Orville F. Hendrix, 21 years old, of Silvis Heights, finalist in the 135 pound division of the 1940 Davenport, Ia., Golden Gloves tournament, died today in a hospital of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident. His brother, Irvin, 23, and two girls, were hurt.

The accident occurred last night when Orville's machine struck an object on the pavement near Moline and went into a ditch. Orville was trying to give his brother, who was operating another cycle, room to pass him.

SIX TEAMS OPEN K. OF C. SOFTBALL MEET TONIGHT

First round play in the eighth annual Knights of Columbus four day softball tournament opens tonight with three games on Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets.

St. Cyr, twice winner of the title, meets St. Phillip Neri in the first game at 7:30; Hughes, champion in 1936, plays Fort Dearborn, also a two time champion, at 8:30 and Cardinal faces Marquette at 9:30.

Ohio Commission Lifts Suspension on Walker

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 3 (AP).—The Cincinnati boxing commission today lifted a suspension imposed on Jack Walker, Ohio heavyweight, but ordered him to pay $100 to Promoter George Nicholis for failing to go thru with a match against Eddie Simms of Cleveland last week. Whitey Morrett, Walker's manager, agreed to match the Negro against Simms here Sept. 9. Morrett contended that Walker was too ill to fight last week.

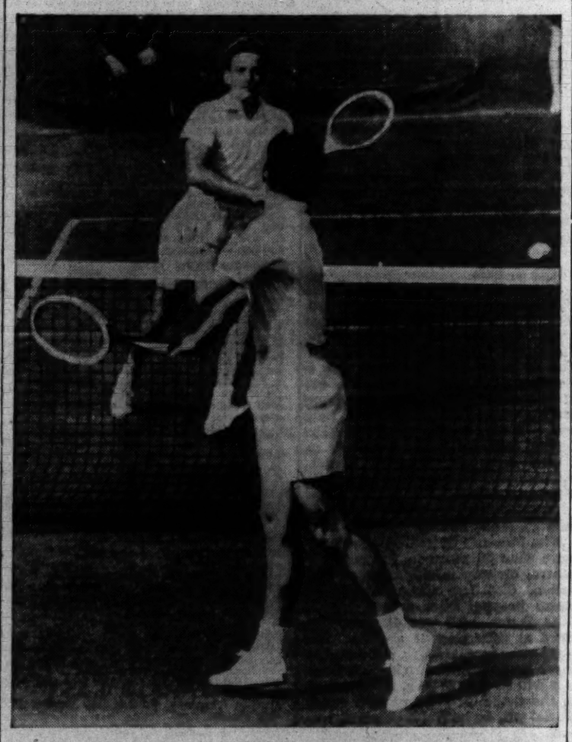
Riggs Starts Like a Champion



Bobby Riggs of Chicago (foreground), national tennis singles champion, is seen as he moves to victory over Ernest Sutter of New Orleans yesterday on the Forest Hills courts, New York. Riggs won his opening match in the national tournament, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6.

Everett Puts Out Van Horn in Title Tennis

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—Welby Van Horn, who set the tournament on fire last year, was the only victim among the seeded stars on the second day of the national singles tennis tournament today at Forest Hills.

Van Horn's conqueror was 22 year old Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla., University of North Carolina star.

The scores in the hours long match were 3-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-0, 15-13. The defeat, not unexpected, brought to a drab conclusion the year's career of the Californian who last year was a finalist here, losing to Bobby Riggs.

Otherwise the favorites easily disposed of lesser known competition.

Riggs Ready to Go Far.

However, standing out in sharp contrast to the rest of the matches was the manner in which Riggs opened the defense of his title. Pitted against Ernie Sutter, the former intercollegiate champion, Riggs showed a game ready to carry him far in this meet. He exhibited almost no flaws as he won 6-2, 6-2, 8-6.

The two opponents expected to give him the most trouble—Frank Kovacs of Oakland and Don McNeill of Oklahoma City triumphed, too—but in widely separated manners. Kovacs laughed his way to a 6-1, 2-6, 6-1, 10-8 victory over the former Dartmouth captain, J. Norman Andersqn, while McNeill was a cautious workman in beating Joe Fishbach of New York, 6-4, 6-4, 9-7.

Parker Defeats Segura.

They were joined by Frankie Parker, who beat back the two handed South American champion, Pancho Segura, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5, and by Joe Hunt, Henry Prusoff, Bryan Grant, and Elwood Cooke, none of whom looked good enough to give Riggs much trouble.

Hal Surface of Kansas City, who yesterday knocked out Gardnar Mulloy, today stopped Frank Guernsey, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9.

The women's seeded stars swung along effortlessly. Helen Jacobs taught Cecile Bowes of Philadelphia, the national squash racquets champion, a lesson, 6-1, 6-0. Alice Marble defeated Josephine Sanfilippo of Brooklyn, 6-0, 6-1, and Sarah Palfrey turned back Nina Brown of England by the same scores.

Advance Thru Defaults.

Dorothy Bundy and Virginia Wolfenden had the easiest time, getting into the third round thru defaults of opponents who decided to play in the national girls' tournament in Philadelphia. Pauline Betz, looked upon as the most serious threat to Miss Marble, triumphed impressively, beating Mrs. William V. Hester of Glen Cove, N. Y., 6-2, 6-1.

Leading matches for tomorrow follow:

Joe Hunt, Annapolis, Md., vs. Martin Buxby, Miami, Fla.

Don McNeill, Oklahoma City, vs. George Toley, Los Angeles.

Bobby Riggs, Chicago, vs. William Talbert, Cincinnati.

Jack Kramer, Belvedere Gardens, Cal., vs. Sidney B. Wood, New York.

Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., vs. E. Victor Seixas, Philadelphia.

Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., vs. Eunice Dean, San Antonio, Tex.

Pauline Betz, Los Angeles, vs. Norma Taubele, New York.

Sox Score 7 in First; Rout Tigers, 10 to 2

ference. The rescuer walked Tresh. Kennedy knifed a two bagger, Wright scoring. Knott fanned, but the second pass of the inning to Webb filled the bases and two of the men were driven home when Kreevich singled to center. Kuhel walked, reloading the bases. Smith was summoned and he ended the violence on Solters' foul to Tebbetts.

Sox Pick Up Three More.

The Sox recovered their wind in the fourth and scored their eighth run, which was the first off Smith. Tresh walked with two out, went to second on a wild pitch and home on Kennedy's single into Greenberg's precinct. The two runs in the fifth weren't earned, altho the Sox did their part with three hits. Kreevich, who singled with one out, was forced by Kuhel. Solters singled, but on the throw in was trapped between first and second. He dodged around until Kuhel broke for the plate and when this happened Meyer threw to Tebbetts, but the latter dropped the ball. Solters scored later on Appling's single.

The Tiger ninth opened with Meyer doubling to left. In his anxiety for a base hit, Greenberg bunted with his team ten runs behind. It was unexpected and Hank beat it for a hit. York walked, filling the bases with none out. Higgins was hit on the left elbow by a pitched ball, Sullivan running for him and Meyer scoring. After Tebbetts fouled to Solters, Greenberg scored while Croucher was grounding out. Averill, batting for Seats, walked and Kreevich ended the game by taking charge of Fox's tall fly.

CALIFORNIA PREP STAR BARRED AT 2 UNIVERSITIES

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 3 (AP).—John Petrovich, Alhambra High school football star, was declared ineligible to participate in athletics at either University of Southern California or U. C. L. A. because the universities offered to finance his post graduate work in another school, Edwin N. Atherton, commissioner of the Pacific coast conference, disclosed today.

Atherton declared Petrovich and nine other prep school stars ineligible to play for three conference members on the ground the schools violated provisions of a new antiproselyting code adopted last January.

The Petrovich case raised a furore in collegiate athletic circles in southern California, but in releasing his report Atherton pointed out this and other cases could be appealed to the conference and reversed if the conference disagreed with his opinion.

Petrovich was promised expenses for additional post graduate study at California Institute of Technology in aeronautical engineering if he enrolled at Southern California.

PROBABLE MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS IN TODAY'S GAMES

LAIN TO JOIN GUNNERS.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3 (AP).—Signing of Ernie Lain, former Rice institute full back, was announced today by the St. Louis Gunners professional football team. Lain is expected to report to the club this week.

Browns, Sox Open 3 Game Series Today

The St. Louis Browns, who rested in Chicago yesterday after the double trimming they gave the Cleveland Indians on Monday, will open a three game series in Comiskey park today. Thornton Lee will be on the mound for the Sox and Bob Harris for the visitors.

Fred Hutchinson came within a hair's breadth of missing his pitching assignment yesterday. A half hour before game time a ball thrown by Birdie Tebbetts plunked the costly chattel on the nose and he was hustled to the clubhouse. Cold applications stopped the bleeding. It wasn't long before he was back in the clubhouse—but for a different reason.

CHAMPIONS WILL RIDE TONIGHT IN BICYCLE DERBY

Five national bicycle champions will race tonight in the C. Y. O.-Barrett A. C. derby in the Humboldt park bowl. The C. Y. O. will honor George F. Barrett, sponsor of the annual Elgin to Chicago event, with the running of intraclub matches and a one hour team race. The first event will start at 8:15 p. m.

John Crowder of Buffalo, N. Y., winner of the two and ten mile national championships, will team up with Jack Buesch, also of Buffalo, in the one hour contest. National A. A. U. road and Olympic track champion, Ed Carfagnini, is paired with Bob Cass, another Chicagoan who made the 1940 Olympic team. The third star team will be Marvin Thompson, quarter mile record holder, and Earl Kelly of the C. Y. O., Central A. A. U. road title holder.

Twelve strong teams are entered. Among them will be the brother combinations of Erwin and Fred Pesek, Frank and Bill Bina, and Ed and Bill Kuehn.

Small College Coaching Jobs Are Safest

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—Almost any football coach will tell you that an easy way to grow gray is to take up his profession. But for the benefit of interested parties, it might be pointed out that it's possible to become gray serenely by accepting a job at some good small college.

Changes in the coaching ranks haven't come as rapidly in the last few years, but for the most part it's the small college coaches who stick in the same place season after season. The men who take on the big jobs are the ones who have to produce winners.

Only Five Freshmen.

A survey of the coaching status of 78 eastern colleges this year reveals that the men starting the 1940 season have been on their present jobs for a total of 458 years. That's an average tenure of 5.87 years, and at least one more season is to be added for practically all of them.

Only five are first year men—Bill Kern, who shifted from Carnegie Tech to West Virginia; Dr. E. B. Baker, his successor in the deemphasized Carnegie post; Ray Morrison at Temple; Dud de Groot at Rochester, and John C. Evans at Vermont. Evans, incidentally, was advanced from an assistant coaching job he had held for several seasons.

Serving their second terms are Frank Leahy, Boston college; Maj. E. E. [Swede] Larson at Navy, Buff Donelli at Duquesne, Charles W. Bowser at Pittsburgh, and W. D. Mansfield at Bates.

Keaney Is Veteran.

In contrast to these comparative strangers are Frank W. Keaney, who is starting his 21st year at Rhode Island State, and Fred Brice, beginning his 20th season at Bates. Brice has one assistant who's been on the job with him for 11 seasons.

Among schools which support major teams, Tuss McLaughry of Brown leads with 14 seasons on one job. But that can be beaten by C. B. Ross of West Virginia Wesleyan and Jack Stoeber of Thiel, both 15 year men, and tied by A. F. Rohrbaugh of Glenville [W. Va.] State. Hen Bream of Gettysburg and Lou Oshins of Brooklyn college all are starting their 14th season.

Andy Kerr [in his 12th year at Colgate] and Lou Little and Bob Higgins [10 years each at Columbia and Penn State] are others who have had notably long careers at larger colleges.

They Stay Put.

These figures, of course, don't cover all the colleges in the east. But as far as they go, they show 34 coaches who have been less than five years in their present positions and 16 who have been on the job 10 years or more. And most of those 16 are small college coaches.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3 (AP).—Johnny Vernon Welch, 33, former pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Chicago Cubs, died in a hospital here today. He had been ill two years. Welch was with the Cubs from 1925 to 1928, later playing four years with the Red Sox and his last season, 1936, with Pittsburgh.

BOXERS RETURN TO DRILLS FOR MARIGOLD CARD

Barbara Shows Vigor in Preparation for Bivins.

Rival contestants in four bouts of 10 rounds featuring the show in Marigold outdoor arena Monday returned to training chores yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium after taking a holiday on Labor day. The fighters included Milt Aron, who meets Steve Mamakos, Washington, D. C., welterweight; Pete Lello, who opposes Young Kid McCoy, Detroit junior welterweight; Johnny Barbara, who faces Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland middleweight, and Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., 135 pounder, and Nick Castiglione.

Mamakos and McCoy are scheduled to arrive tomorrow, and Bivins is due Friday.

Barbara Shows Speed.

None surpassed the vigor displayed by Barbara in yesterday's drills. Johnny, who will be trying to avenge a two round knockout at the hands of Bivins in an earlier meeting Aug. 5, punched hard and stepped fast in a five round workout against two sparmates.

Barbara blames overconfidence and lack of proper condition for his setback by Bivins. Eddie Purvis, Barbara's trainer, said two conquests of Fritzie Zivic scored prior to meeting Bivins may have been the reason for the Chicagoan's attitude.

Believes Weight a Handicap.

Barbara weighed 158 pounds for the first bout with Bivins, five more than his normal fighting poundage. Purvis charges this excess weight had a tendency to slow Johnny down and made him an easy target for Bivins' crushing rights to the jaw.

Bivins remains undefeated in the professional field, Barbara being his 14th consecutive victim.

At the next meeting of the Illinois [Whitewash] Athletic commission on Sept. 17, Irving Schoenwald will apply for Oct. 4 on which to promote a card in the Coliseum.

The Swedish Angel, heavyweight wrestler who defeated Juan Humberto in White City on Monday, will return for a one hour bout against George Dusette in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight. Other matches:

Fred Grubmier vs. Juan Humberto.
Tarzan Krause vs. Dizzy Davis.
Pete Baltran vs. Cecil McGill.
Jerry Mecker vs. Pierre La Belle.

Thorston Ahlbeck stopped Jerry Pittron in the first round of a scheduled five round amateur bout in Legion stadium, Devon and Western avenues, last night. George Johnson defeated Wendell White in five rounds in the semiwindup.

DRIVE LAUNCHED TO END KILLINGS BY TIPSY DRIVERS

State, Coroner and Mayor Act in Youth's Death.

A drive to halt the highway slaughter by drunken drivers was announced yesterday by Merwin M. Hart, secretary of the Illinois Liquor commission, and Coroner A. L. Brodie.

Brodie took action at the inquest into the death of William Duclos, 16 years old, Carl Schurz High school student, of 1734 Roscoe street. He continued the hearing until Sept. 17 and directed police to determine who sold drinks to Erwin Boeglin, 34 years old, an ex-convict of 3901 Sheridan road.

Hits Groups of Cyclists.

Boeglin's weaving car crashed into a group of eight youths as they rode bicycles in the 4100 block on Marine drive on Monday afternoon. Duclos was killed and Miss Kathe Zoder, 16, of 1717 Henderson street, was critically injured.

Boeglin, who told the coroner's jury he was "drunker than a billy goat," crashed into two cars, overturning the second, in an attempted escape after the accident.

Hart said investigators for the liquor commission had been ordered to investigate the case.

"We can take no action," he said, "until the local authorities have made a decision in the case of a retailer. But when cases of this kind occur, we renew our drive for immediate revocation of a license where liquor has been sold to an intoxicated man."

Mayor Kelly also promised action. "If there is proof that this man was sold liquor while intoxicated the license of the tavern where it was sold will be revoked," he said.

Memory of Crash Hazy.

Boeglin, apparently still shaky and dazed from the three day spree which was climaxed by the death of the Duclos boy, took the stand at the inquest and said he did not remember the crash.

"I went to the Lake Side tavern, 4010 Broadway, and had some drinks," he said. "Then I went to the home of a friend and started back to the tavern. After that I don't remember much. Next thing I knew I was standing in the street by an overturned car. I remember the wheels in the air."

As he testified, Mrs. Saraphina Duclos, mother of the victim, moaned as she listened to the story of the accident. She was comforted by her daughter, Eileen, 22 years old, and her husband, Jean, a porter for the Continental Baking company.

"It is God's will," said Duclos.

Order Bartender Brought In.

Coroner Brodie ordered police to bring in the bartender at the Lake Side tavern. The bartender, Henry E. Valintini, 540 North Drake avenue, said that Boeglin first appeared at 9:30 Monday morning.

"He and three others had two or three rounds of drinks. They left and he came back again about 10:15 and had another drink and left. He came back at 12:15 and I refused to serve him because he had had too much to drink."

Boeglin had told police a conflicting story about his drinking. At Town Hall station he said he had 10 to 15 drinks of bar whisky and then said he had but three drinks. He also said that he had drunk some whisky at home and had taken several drinks from a bottle of wine.

CAR KILLS GIRL ON WAY HOME FROM CLASSES

Adriann Roak, 7 years old, was killed by an automobile yesterday as she was returning from the opening of Everett grammar school. The accident occurred near her home at 2428 34th place. The car was driven by Mrs. Annette Palubicki, 30, of 3225 South Paulina street. Informed that Mrs. Palubicki had no driver's license, Coroner A. L. Brodie said he would conduct the inquest, which will be today.

Bert S. Feltes, 45, of 6662 North Central avenue, was killed last night when his car was struck by a train at Devon avenue and the North Western tracks between the 4400 and the 4500 blocks.

The body of a man killed Monday by an automobile at 16th and Canal streets was identified yesterday as Carmen Vallo, 40, of 550 Taylor street. Vallo was unemployed.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 561 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 414 were killed in Chicago, where 15,657 were injured in the same period.

WOMAN ROBBED OF $7,700 GEMS, MONEY IN HOME

Jewelry valued at $7,400 and $300 in cash were taken last night by two robbers who held up Mrs. Dorothy Davies in her husband's automobile finance company, 2209 South Michigan avenue. One of the gunmen stood guard over two customers, Mr. and Mrs. George Lavery, 7819 Euclid avenue, while the other took Mrs. Davies to her apartment on the second floor of the building and ransacked it.

During the holdup she slipped two rings from her finger and put them in a pocket of her dress. They are worth $15,000, she told Pekin Ihn police. Afterward the Laverys and Mrs. Davies were bound with tape and the robbers were driven away by a third man who had waited outside in a car.

WARREN LAMSON FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Warren A. Lamson, La Salle street commodity and security broker, who died Monday night, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the Congregational church in Winnetka. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery.

Mr. Lamson suffered a heart attack early Monday in his home at 940 Sheridan road, Winnetka, and was taken to Presbyterian hospital. There he had a second attack which proved fatal. He was 58 years old.

As president of Lamson Brothers and Co., Mr. Lamson headed one of the largest grain and security brokerages in the country—a company established by his father and uncle in 1874. He was a member of the board of governors and the executive committee of the Chicago Stock exchange, and he also held membership in the New York Stock exchange.

MILK CONTRACT DENIED; BIDDER TO SUE COUNTY

A contract for supplying milk to the Oak Forest infirmary was awarded yesterday by the county board to the Capitol Dairy company, 4326 Wabash avenue, over protests of the Farm Food Stores, Inc., 6520 South Cicero avenue. The Farm Food company offered to supply the milk at 23½ cents a gallon, ¾ cent a gallon less than the Capitol company's bid.

Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke said the board's policy always has been to reject bids when it does not appear that the bidder is able to carry out the contract. He said the Farm Food company has only stores and no plant.

Attorney Joseph Lustfield, counsel for the Farm Food company, said he would sue to restrain award of the contract to the Capitol company.

Two Motorists Sentenced to Jail as Drunk Drivers

Two motorists were sentenced to jail on drunken driving charges yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Safety court. A 10 day sentence was imposed on John Gilham, 58 years old, 4731 Kenmore avenue, a salesman, who was accused of driving at high speed thru a stop signal in a station wagon. John Savage, 40, of 2013 Canalport avenue, was sentenced to 15 days after witnesses said he was weaving thru traffic.

DAIRY TO FIGHT CITY BAN OVER PAPER BOTTLES

Say Druggists Send Out Milk in Them.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Officials of the Dean Milk company announced last night they will fight the revocation last Friday by the city of the company's permits and licenses to operate in Chicago. The revocations were voted by the board of health and issued by Mayor Kelly after the company sold milk in paper bottles at a company owned store in Chicago.

Before the sale began S. E. Dean Sr., president of the company, said he invited a test case with the city on the interpretation of the city ordinance which says milk shall be sold in "standard milk bottles." The corporation counsel has interpreted the ordinance to mean glass bottles and has ruled against the use of paper. Dean claims the ordinance means any standard milk bottle and contends paper bottles are now standard thru usage and recognition by the United States Public Health service. Paper containers are used in Chicago suburbs.

Decide at Legal Parley.

Dean's announcement last night followed a conference with company attorneys.

"Public health was not involved in the action of the board of health last week," Dean declared. "The board followed the advice of Barnet Hodes, city legal department head.

"We had hoped Hodes would follow the common sense, everyday interpretation of the penalty clause in the milk ordinance and arrest a member of the firm. We invited just that at the board meeting.

"Instead, Hodes construed the law to suit himself, and avoided a test case by putting us out of business in Chicago.

Firm Pays Union Wages.

"Later Hodes told the press he didn't want to make an arrest because he wouldn't arrest '$12 a week clerks.' We had no $12 a week clerks employed. All of our employés receive recognized union wages."

Dean challenged the city for ruling against paper milk bottles and for failing to establish standards for other types of paper food containers.

"City 'experts' have appeared in court with trumped up arguments against sanitary qualities of paper milk bottles, and yet they permit drug stores and restaurants to deliver milk, milk shakes, and malted milks in paper containers," Dean said. "There are no standards or regulations for those containers.

Claims Drug Stores Get By.

"Last week the health board and the mayor revoked permits and licenses on our store because we sold milk in paper bottles. We also sold butter, eggs, and cheese at that store. I have yet to hear of the city closing a drug store because it sends out milk shakes in paper containers.

"In like manner, the city has no standards or regulations governing types of caps for glass milk bottles. Most of the suburbs which permit us to use paper milk bottles have standards for caps."

Dean said that Dr. Lloyd Arnold, board of health member, has been conducting tests on milk bottle caps for more than two years and yet the board has formulated no regulations. "Evanston was able to establish strict standards on both caps and paper bottles following six months of careful tests," Dean said.

MORE LOW BIDS FOLLOW PAVING RACKET DECLINE

Additional evidence that the grip of labor unions over the street paving business in Chicago was broken by the death a month ago of Michael Carrozzo developed yesterday when bids on a concrete paving project were opened by Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt.

Hewitt estimated that the low bid, made by the Standard Paving company, was 15 to 20 per cent less than low bids for comparable projects taken before the death of Carrozzo, who was boss of the street laborers' union and 24 others.

The Standard company bid $81,943 on the project, which calls for repaving Division street from Pulaski road to a point 875 feet east of Cicero avenue, a distance of five-sixths of a mile.

Hewitt said the saving to taxpayers resulting from yesterday's low bid will run from $12,291 to $16,388, compared with former prices. The saving on four bids taken two weeks ago was $56,000 to $75,000, Hewitt estimated.

MRS. GOODRICH, 91, SURVIVOR OF 1871 FIRE, DIES

Mrs. Carrie A. Goodrich died yesterday at the age of 91 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eveline L. Hatton, 2438 Fullerton avenue. Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Mrs. Goodrich was only 5 when her family moved here in 1854. She was married in 1865 to George W. Goodrich.

Her home was destroyed in the fire of 1871. She escaped with three small children—the baby, whom she carried in her arms, and two others who were tied to her waist by a shawl. Three daughters, Mrs. Hatton, Mrs. Carrie Rinn, and Miss Florence Goodrich, survive. There are 9 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

EDDIE COLLINS, VETERAN MOVIE COMEDIAN, DIES

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 3 (AP).—Eddie Collins, who was the inspiration for the dwarf "Dopey" in the Disney motion picture and who portrayed the original "Jiggs" on the stage, is dead.

The veteran comedian died of a heart attack at his home in Arcadia Sunday. He played the part of the dog in the recent Shirley Temple picture, "The Blue Bird." He was currently at work in "Chad Hannah."

Walt Disney selected Collins to provide the pantomime for the cartoon character of "Dopey" in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The cartoon role led to film parts as a featured comedian. Among his pictures were "In Old Chicago," "Sally, Irene and Mary," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Little Miss Broadway," and "Young Mr. Lincoln."

Collins is survived by the widow, Mrs. Florence Evelyn Collins; a daughter, Margaret, and a son, Edward Bernard Collins III.

James M. Seymour Jr.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 3 [Special].—James M. Seymour Jr., one of the early associates of Thomas A. Edison at Menlo Park, died last night in his home here. He was 79 years old. Mr. Seymour was retained by Mr. Edison as an assistant in the Edison experimental laboratory. Among many of Edison's inventions, Mr. Seymour worked on the incandescent lamp, the phonograph, and the carbon telephone transmitter. Later Edison sent Seymour to Europe where he supervised installation of electric light systems.

Henry Litchfield West.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 [Special].—Henry Litchfield West, former commissioner of the District of Columbia and a newspaper man, died today at the age of 81 years. He was managing editor of The Washington Post in 1892 and resigned to do free lance work. He became associated with the Forum in 1891 and specialized in political writing. From 1902 to 1910, he was a commissioner of the district, but resigned to join the Washington Herald. Mr. West was president of the Gridiron club in 1900.

Mrs. Anna Boyd Copeland.

Mrs. Anna Boyd Copeland, 83 years old, died yesterday in the Evanston hospital after a brief illness. She was the widow of Frederick Kent Copeland, who was president of the Sullivan Machinery company. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Margaret C. Blatchford, and a son, Frederick W. Copeland. Memorial services will be held at 4 p. m. Sunday in the home at 665 Prospect avenue, Winnetka. The family has lived in Winnetka since 1889.

William J. Butler.

William J. Butler, 60 years old, an employé of the Illinois Bell Telephone company for 37 years, died yesterday in his room at 4359 Wilcox street, apparently of a heart attack. The funeral will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday from the residence of a sister, Mrs. Fred Miller Jr., 1638 West 92d place, to St. Mel's church, with burial in Mount Carmel cemetery.

GEORGE S. WARD, BAKING COMPANY FOUNDER, DIES

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—George S. Ward who, with his elder brother, founded the Ward Baking company, died today at his home in Havana, Cuba, where he moved in 1926 after retiring. He was 73 years old.

Mr. Ward was a pioneer in the expansion of the baking industry and aided in the research which increased the vitamin content of bread.

After gaining experience in the business started by his father, Hugh Ward, he joined his brother, Robert, and organized the Ward Baking company in 1911. Large plants were built, their combined output being 500,000 loaves of bread a day.

Mr. Ward was instrumental in establishing the American Institute of Baking in Chicago, which conducts a program of scientific and educational research in this field.

Ward's wife, the former Mrs. Donna Leslie, and two sons, Ralph D., president of Drake Bakeries, Inc. of Brooklyn, and Walter S. of Havana, survive. Funeral services will be held in New York on Friday.

Slaying of Young Hunter Held Accident; Pal Cleared

The death of Arthur Beinlich, 15 years old, of 671 Dundee road, Northbrook, who was shot by a companion while hunting Sunday near Northbrook, was held an accident yesterday by a coroner's jury sitting in the town hall at Northbrook. The boy was shot by Leonard Helke, 17, son of the chief of police of Glencoe. Helke testified that he and Beinlich, with their fathers, were hunting doves, and that as a covey flew overhead, he stumbled just as he fired and shot his friend.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

KAMHOLZ—Bertha Kamholz. In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away three years ago today.
Long days, long nights, you bore your pain,
Waiting for cure, but all in vain;
God saw that you were suffering,
And that the hills were hard to climb,
So He gently closed your eyes
And whispered "Peace be thine."
LOVING CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

KIST—Harry Kist. A loving tribute to the memory of my husband, who passed away Sept. 4, 1936. WIFE, TENA.

NOVAK—Joseph F. Novak. In loving memory of our dearly beloved husband and father, who passed away two years ago Sept. 4, 1938:
Two years have passed since that sad day
The one we loved was called away.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts he liveth still.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

SCHILLER—Paul Schiller.
In fond, loving memory of our dearly beloved husband and father, who passed away three years ago Sept. 4, 1937:
Three years have passed since that sad day
The one we loved was called away.
God took him home—that was His will,
But in our hearts he liveth still.
Gone but never forgotten.
LOVING WIFE, SON AND DAUGHTER.

LOCKHEED'S NET EARNINGS SOAR WITH ITS SALES

Profit in 6 Months Is $2,022,619.

Robert E. Gross.

Profits of Lockheed Aircraft corporation in the six months ended June 30 totaled $2,022,619 after all charges, including provision for federal income taxes, and equaled $2.02 a share on the capital stock, according to the semi-annual report released to stockholders yesterday by Robert E. Gross, president. In the first half of 1939 profit was $508,860, or 66 cents a share.

Sales of airplanes, spare parts, and assemblies for the half year aggregated $19,268,434, compared with $12,565,117 for the corresponding 1939 period. Unfilled orders as of June 30 totaled $169,845,415, including foreign military orders amounting to $135,686,738. American military purchases of $6,386,481, and $27,772,194 of commercial orders.

Stresses Nonmilitary Work.

While Lockheed has a predominance of military business at the moment due to the rising tempo of the European war and the United States defense program, Gross emphasized the company is keeping up its activity in the commercial and nonmilitary fields in which he said interest continues to increase. To fortify its technical progress, one of the largest and most modern private wind tunnels in this country is being built.

During the six month period the company delivered a total of 168 twin engined airplanes of all types. Of these, 139 were Lockheed Hudson bombers to the British air ministry and the rest were commercial or private aircraft.

British Buying Exceeds 1,300.

Revealing for the first time officially the extent in which his company was participated in the recent British business, Gross said Lockheed has received orders for more than 1,200 airplanes for the British purchasing commission since the beginning of the year.

A slight decline in earnings was reported by the Diamond Match company, New York, large manufacturer of matches and a producer of lumber, building material, and chemicals.

Consolidated net profit for the six months ended June 30, the company reported, was $1,003,236, or 79 cents a common share, compared with $1,048,247, or 85 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 period.

Midwest Coal Rate Reduction Plea Renewed

The Interstate Commerce commission yesterday received from the Illinois coal traffic bureau a petition requesting reconsideration of a decision against the proposed lower rates for hauling coal by rail from midwestern mines to Chicago for transshipment by lake.

The commission found in June that the rates, proposed by railroads serving this area, would be "unjust and unreasonable" because the average level was a little lower than and "improperly related" to lake cargo rates from eastern mines to Lake Erie ports.

Opposes Examiner's Report.

The majority decision and the order canceling the rates were issued despite the recommendation of the examiner who presided at the hearings that the commission find them satisfactory, according to Charles W. Stadeli, attorney for the bureau.

Declaring that the majority of the commission misunderstood the real issue in the case, Stadeli in the petition said that the decision is "legislative and not administrative, arbitrary and unreasonable," and contrary to the public interest.

The cancelation, he contended, deprives midwestern mines of their right to compete at lawful rates for even a small part of the lake cargo coal business, which is now dominated by eastern mines and railroads.

Would Help Miners.

The proposed rates, he asserted, would enable mines of this area to operate during the spring and summer months when they are practically idle while eastern mines are running full time. They would be able to employ many of their workers who have been idle and on public relief during those months, Stadeli said.

I. C. C. rejection of the rate reduction prevents midwestern railroads from establishing charges which have not been shown to be unlawful and which would enable the carriers to increase their tonnage and revenues and use much equipment now idle, Stadeli declared.

He asserted that eastern mines furnish all of the coal used at all of the Lake Michigan-Lake Superior dock cities, except for a small amount in Milwaukee, and 87 per cent of all of the coal consumed in Wisconsin and Minnesota, despite the long distance from the mines.

Eastern Interests Protest.

Eastern rail carriers, which for many years have maintained lake cargo coal rates from the mines, and eastern coal operators protested the reduced rates proposed for the midwestern area. Eastern mines which would be affected by the midwestern cuts are in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, eastern Kentucky, and Tennessee.

The proposed schedule for the midwestern area, for example, would reduce from $2.05 to $1.55 a ton the rail transportation charges on coal coming from southern Illinois to Chicago for transhipment by lake. No lake cargo rates have ever been in effect here.

The Illinois Coal Traffic bureau is an association of coal producers operating chiefly in the southern Illinois, Duquoin, Centralia, Danville, and Peoria areas.

55 YEAR AUGUST LOW SET BY MEAT ANIMAL RECEIPTS AT CHICAGO

Receipts of meat animals at the Chicago stockyards last month dropped to the lowest August volume in 55 years. The aggregate total of cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, at 627,320 head, compared with 665,308 in August last year and 756,359 two years ago, decreases of 5.7 per cent and 17 per cent, respectively.

Hog receipts, at 324,420 head, the smallest monthly total of 1940, compared with 293,461 in August last year. Cattle receipts, at 155,326, the smallest August run since 1885, compared with 159,066 a year ago and 183,581 two years ago.

Calves, at 19,379, the smallest for August since 1913, compared with 23,820 in 1939 and 25,926 in 1938. Sheep, at 128,195, the smallest for August since 1887, compared with 186,961 last year and 241,459 in 1938.

Chicago receipts for three years follow:

	1940	1939	1938

RECEIPTS FALL SHARPLY IN THIS CUSTOMS AREA

United States customs collections in the Chicago district dropped to $480,715 in August, from $893,766 a year ago, Joseph A. Ziemba, collector, reported yesterday. July collections had fallen to $555,033.

For the first eight months of 1940, collections amounted to $5,761,896, against $6,288,313 in the 1939 period.

Deputy United States Collector C. A. Stayart said that foreign trade was in "by far the most serious dislocation in the history of the United States." For several weeks no European shipping except British has cleared Chicago customs. Practically all factories not necessary for the production of essential war materials have now been closed in Europe, he said, and even if transportation were not a problem, foreign trade would be almost at a standstill.

Carnegie Settles Steel Processing Patent Case

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP).—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced tonight the settlement with the Cold Metal Process company of litigation involving the Steckel patents for equipment and processes in the cold reduction of steel products. Details of the settlement were not announced.

New Records Set at Airport During Month

A new record was established in passenger traffic thru Chicago airport last month, figures made public yesterday showed.

Departures numbered 35,132, compared with 33,437 in July, the former peak month, and 21,114 in August, 1939. Passengers arriving numbered 34,862, against 32,664 in July and 20,945 in August last year.

Mail handled at the airport amounted to 344,087 pounds, compared with 324,134 in July and 295,903 a year ago.

Elevated, Bus Lines Gain.

Both the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Chicago Motor Coach company reported increases in passenger traffic during August.

The elevated lines had a traffic gain of 0.97 per cent for the month and an increase of 2.85 per cent for the first eight months, by comparison with parallel periods last year.

The bus line carried 4,811,382 passengers in August, representing a 0.75 per cent increase over last year. For the eight months, the total was 39,837,586, a gain of 4.03 per cent.

Air Line Sets Record.

Pennsylvania-Central Air Lines carried more revenue passengers in the first eight months of 1940 than during all of 1939, Edward Sullivan, general traffic manager, announced.

The total was 135,807, against 122,303 in the full year 1939 and 75,712 in the eight month period.

During August the air line transported 24,698 revenue passengers, a 98.06 per cent gain over the 12,470 flown a year ago. New peaks have been established in each of the last six months, Sullivan said.

American Films Banned in Belgium, Part of France

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 [Special].—The exhibition of American motion picture films has been prohibited in Belgium and northern France under an order issued by the German military commander of those areas, Vice Consul E. A. Dow Jr. reported today from Brussels.

BUSINESS ASKS MANY CHANGES IN TAX MEASURE

Senate Group Begins 3 Day Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 [Special].—The probability that substantial changes will be made in the excess profits tax and amortization bill rushed thru the house last week increased today as the senate finance committee opened three days of hearings on the measure.

Strong resistance to the highly complicated house draft was spread further by the testimony of 17 witnesses, each of whom sought some specific change in the bill. Several contended the bill had been turned from an excess profits gatherer into a general levy on corporation profits, whether such profits are derived from the defense program or not.

Some of Complaints Listed.

Some of the complaints, all directed at the excess profits tax section, were the following:

1. The bill does not give to the taxpayer a fair option in computing his excess earnings as between the "average earnings" and "invested capital" formulas, but in fact imposes a penalty on the use of the former method. [Under one method the tax would be paid on the amount by which earnings exceeded the average annual income for 1936 to 1939, inclusive. Under the other method the tax would be gauged according to invested capital—the amount paid in to a business plus undistributed profits. Varying percentage rates would apply to different portions of invested capital. In either case various exemptions would apply.]

2. The tax is unreasonably burdensome on new or growing businesses which have had little profit making history.

3. It penalizes most seriously the middle income corporations.

4. Its retroactive features are unjust because no large profits are being made out of the defense program at present and none could likely be made before next year.

5. The proposed heavy exactions will create fears among prospective investors in new ventures, at a time when development of new enterprises and new articles of manufacture are needed as never before.

Termed Too Complicated.

6. The measure as it now stands is so complicated that no ordinary business man can hope to understand it.

A determination to do something to meet many of these obections was evident among a number of finance committee members. But what they could do to straighten out the mass of highly legalistic provisions remained a question.

Several members nodded assent when one witness, Henry M. Powell, chairman of the tax committee of the Associated Industries of New York, characterized the house draft "a monumental specimen of statutory incomprehensibility."

Others, including Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], committee chairman, appeared impressed with the suggestion of boiling the entire bill down to simpler terms and leaving detailed application largely to an administrative or review agency. This agency,

Accountants Present 18 Points of Objection to Tax Proposal

A memorandum recommending 18 changes in the excess profits tax and amortization bill was presented to the senate finance committee yesterday by the American Institute of Accountants, the national professional society of certified public accountants.

Walter A. Cooper, Scarsdale, N. Y., chairman of the institute's committee on federal taxation, presented the report.

The accountants' views, he said, "are expressed on the basis of as complete a study of a complicated proposal as time has permitted and in the light of experience with corporations engaged in all kinds of business."

The first of the changes recommended was an increase in the rates of exemption on invested capital. The memorandum stated that estimates place revenue from the bill at 900 million dollars a year. On the basis of an average excess profits tax rate of 35 per cent, according to the brief, the estimate would imply annual excess profits of 2 billion 500 million dollars, or almost as much as the 2 billion 800 millions that are being spent yearly for defense.

Levied on Normal Earnings.

"If that be true," the memorandum commented, "the tax will be levied on not merely excess profits but also normal income, or else congress expects the contracting agencies of the government to make contracts with producers at exorbitant prices.

"The minimum 8 per cent rate, which will be allowable in many cases because the average earnings during the base period were subnormal, is less than normal interest rates and less than average preferred stock dividend requirements in most cases."

The other changes recommended were:

"A retroactive excess profits tax law should not be enacted now but time should be taken to develop fair and more equitable legislation which should be made effective Jan. 1, 1941.

"Consolidated returns should be required for income and excess profits taxes.

"Provisions for many different exemption rates and invested capital bases are too complicated and should be simplified.

"Unused exemptions should be carried forward.

"The basis for computing tax for periods of less than 12 months should be modified.

Asks Permission to Change.

"The election to use for any year either the income or invested capital method should not be binding for that or any other year.

"Determination of income in both the current and base periods should exclude losses or deductions arising out of the retirement or discharge of bonds, etc., as well as the income therefrom.

"Long term capital gains and losses on depreciable assets sold for less than unadjusted cost should not be excluded.

"Under the income method taxable stock dividends should be treated as additional capital paid in.

"On the income basis capital reductions should be adjustable for decreases in the inadmissible assets.

"Distributions in the first 60 days of the taxable year should not be automatically deducted as of the beginning of the year.

Average Capital Increases.

"On the income basis recognition should be accorded capital increases over the average base period instead of being limited to increases after the first excess profits tax year.

"Exemptions similar to that granted personal service corporations should be available to all corporations having a limited number of shareholders.

"Insurance companies should be exempt.

"A real equitable relief provision should be added to the law.

"Existing excess profits and capital stock tax laws should be repealed.

"Amortization should not be limited to costs incurred after July 10, 1940."

CHICAGO FIRM TELLS GRIEF IN ARMS CONTRACT

Is Loser; Answers 'Greed' Charge.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

James S. Knowlson, president of Stewart-Warner corporation, yesterday answered the charge that industry is holding back its support of the national defense program and demanding big profits as the price of full participation.

James S. Knowlson.

Knowlson replied to the charge by disclosing the part his company has undertaken in the defense program and its financial experience on such operations to date. On government contracts amounting to approximately $2,000,000 the company had incurred a loss, up to July 31, of $60,000 on goods shipped. In addition the company had advanced funds for the purchase of new machinery costing more than $450,000 without waiting for government aid in financing the operation.

Gives Facts to Workers.

Knowlson reported these facts in a special letter to employés of the company and urged the workers to use them in combating the false charges that are being made against industry.

The claim that industry is motivated by greed and is unwilling to accept government orders without guarantees of handsome profits has been widely made by those urging the enactment of special powers for conscription of industry under the defense program. Similar charges have been made by those criticizing business groups and individuals who have urged congress to avoid enacting an "excess profits" law that would unfairly penalize certain corporations and hamper defense activities.

Knowlson recalled in his letter to employés that the company earlier had pledged to the government the full use of its personnel and manufacturing facilities.

"We and others like us are Ameri-

PEACH AT BREAKFAST COSTS THIS FARMER'S FAMILY JUST $2,200

West Frankfort, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP).—The peach the Sam Moore family ate for breakfast cost approximately $2,200.

Grown from a bud which survived a cold snap last January, the peach represented the entire 1940 yield of Moore's 50 acre orchard near Sesser—an orchard that has produced 10,000 bushels a year and has employed as many as 143 fruit pickers in a single harvest.

The $2,200 was spent for spraying, cultivating, and caring for the orchard since the 1939 crop was marketed.

TRIAL OF HOPSON AND TWO OTHERS IS SET FOR OCT. 1

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—Oct. 1 was set today for the trial of Howard C. Hopson, co-founder of the Associated Gas and Electric system, and two others on charges of using the mails to defraud investors of more than 20 million dollars.

At the same time Federal Judge John C. Knox set Nov. 15 for Hopson's trial on another indictment charging conspiracy to evade income taxes.

Counsel for Hopson, who has been ill, told the court he had been placed "under observation to determine whether he is mentally able to go to trial."

New York Stocks.

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—The stock market kept on the recovery path today, altho the going was a bit difficult at times.

Steels led an early morning push which included most pivotal industrials. The advance faltered after the first hour, however, and extreme gains running to a point or so were reduced or replaced with minor declines in some cases at the close.

The associated press average of 60 issues managed to emerge up 0.2 of a point at 43.8. Transfers of 544,550 shares compared with 563,510 last Friday.

Wall street apparently was unexcited by the principal news of the day involved in the White House announcement the government would lease western hemisphere naval and air bases from Great Britain and transfer to that country 50 over-age destroyers. This was pretty well in line with financial forecasts.

While home business prospects continued as a brightening market influence, brokers suggested the speculative community inclined to proceed carefully pending more light on tax problems and other proposed national legislation.

Steels were not greatly disturbed by an estimated drop of 8.8 points in this week's mill operations. The recession was in line with expectations and was believed due almost entirely to holiday plant shutdowns. At that, United States Steel and Youngstown Sheet were able to retain but ⅛ of a point each of a forenoon jump, while Bethlehem and Republic were off a shade.

Among issues with plus signs were Chrysler, American Telephone, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith Radio, McKeesport Tinplate, du Pont, and Union Carbide.

A trifle behind were General Motors, Santa Fe, New York Central, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, United Aircraft, and American Smelting.

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—Dollar bonds of countries of the British commonwealth of nations and various Latin American issues jumped 1 to 3 points today on news of the swap of United States destroyers for British naval bases. Loans chiefly benefited were Canada 3s, 3¼s, and 4s, New South Wales 5s, Argentina 4s, Buenos Aires 4½s, and 4½s, and Uruguay 3¾s.

United States governments, too, made unusual gains, advancing in some instances more than ½ point.

The market, altho more active than the recent average, still was thin.

Gains of major fractions or more were recorded for American & Foreign Power 5s, International Hydro Electric 6s, Portland General Electric 4¼s, and Remington Rand 4¼s of '56.

Chicago Stocks.

Advances predominated on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume totaled 19,000 shares and the price trend was upward. Four Wheel Drive stock established a new high for the year, closing at 6¼, up ⅛ point.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois shares gained half a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

CHICAGO FIRMS SHARE IN MORE DEFENSE ORDERS

Diamond T Motor Gets Two New Contracts.

Chicago companies received a substantial amount of the orders released by the war department yesterday for materials and services to be used in connection with building up the national defense.

Among the Chicago company awards were the following: Diamond T Motor Car company, two awards, one for $104,584 and the other for $58,401; A. Smith & Co., temporary housing at Fort Sheridan, $286,000; A. and S. Manufacturing company, material for tents, $52,894; Norman A. Siegal [Moto Scoot Manufacturing company], folding steel cots, $65,700; Haggard & Marcusson company, folding steel cots, $33,400.

Biggest Job to Eastern Firm.

The largest contract let yesterday was one awarded the George A. Fuller company, New York, for $5,531,000 for temporary buildings at Fort Dix, N. J. The second largest was for $1,262,000 to George H. Rommel company, Louisville, Ky., for storage warehouses at the Jeffersonville, Ind., quartermaster depot.

Other sizeable contracts included: Bausch & Lomb Optical company, Rochester, N. Y., telescopic sights, $140,831; Continental Motors corporation, Muskegon, motor parts, $146,048; Lehr Construction company, St. Joseph, Mo., temporary buildings at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., $125,766; Joseph Light Construction company, Washington, D. C., temporary buildings at Fort George G. Meade, Md., $255,614, and Yellow Truck and Coach Motor company, Pontiac, Mich., trucks, $921,343.

Canada to Build Three Plants.

Canada's expanding munitions effort was given new strength yesterday with an announcement by the munitions minister that three factories costing a total of $17,500,000 will be built at once.

One of the factories will be an $8,000,000 chemical plant to be located in Alberta and the two others will be a $7,000,000 gun plant and a $2,500,000 rifle plant, both to be located in central Canada. Exact locations were not given for fear of conveying military informations to the Germans.

Mathieson Alkali Works, Inc., announced that it is spending $400,000 on an addition to its Niagara Falls, N. Y., plant for the production of chlorite, the company's new bleaching chemical.

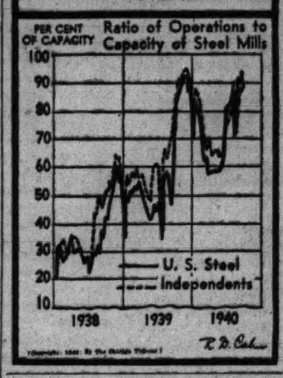
Zinc Firm to Expand.

Expansion was announced in St. Louis by the American Zinc company. The company said it has purchased from the Evans-Wallower Zinc company of Cardin, Okla., the large electrolytic zinc plant at Monsanto, Ill., across the Mississippi river from South St. Louis. Howard I. Young, president of American Zinc, said $500,000 will be spent to rehabilitate the plant at Monsanto and production will be started early in 1941.

American Zinc also stated that it will spend about $300,000 for additional equipment for its plant at Fairmont City, near East St. Louis, Ill.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad announced in Baltimore that it has canceled its intention to furlough between 350 and 400 machinists because of an anticipated demand for an increased amount of locomotives and locomotive parts.

"Big Steel" Leads Independents in Rise



BRITISH CLAIM GAINS IN TRADE OVER GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Harcourt Johnstone, secretary of the overseas trade department, today confidently reviewed the British trade position at the end of the first year of the war.

"The Nazi flag," he said, "has been driven from the seas while our flag flies everywhere." He denied German stories of Lancashire factories being put out of action by air raids and cited figures to show that during the first three weeks of August, normally the slack period, the Lancashire cotton industry delivered 55,000 bales weekly compared with a 51,000 bale average for all of last year.

He said special efforts were being made to supply the dominions, the United States, South American countries, and other parts of the world to which Germany was unable to deliver and generally to maintain Britain's export trade side by side with the intensification of munitions production.

The extent to which Britain's farmers are increasing production was shown in an announcement the country was raising a bumper barley crop this year, totaling well above 1,000,000 tons, against 742,000 last year. It was said this would avoid any shortage of barley for beer production and feed this year.

KNUDSEN SEVERS ALL HIS TIES WITH GENERAL MOTORS

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—William S. Knudsen resigned today as president of General Motors corporation because of his governmental duties as a member of the national defense advisory commission. He had been on leave of absence since June 1.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of directors, said that Knudsen also resigned as a member of the board of directors and of the corporation's policy and administrative committees, severing all official relation with the corporation.

No action was taken on naming Knudsen's successor.

Charles L. McCuen of Lansing, Mich., General Motors vice president, was elected a member of the administration committee, and Harley J. Earl, director of the styling section, was elected a vice president.

MELVILLE SHOE SALES UP.

Sales of the Melville Shoe corporation in July rose 4.6 per cent from a year earlier, totaling $2,386,107, compared with $2,281,876. For the seven months ended July 31 sales were 5.1 per cent higher, aggregating $21,742,801, against $20,679,685.

EGG 'PEG' COSTS 12½ MILLION IN LESS THAN YEAR

Poorer Grade Left for the Public, Traders Charge.

About $12,500,000 has been paid out by the government since Dec. 14, 1939, in its efforts to stabilize egg prices, and $5,000,000 of the total has been spent in Chicago, officials of the Chicago Mercantile exchange estimated yesterday. The department of agriculture announced Saturday that it would wind up its stabilization program, effective as of yesterday.

Since 1933 the department of agriculture has entered the egg markets each spring, the season when production was at its peak and prices were near the lowest levels of the year, to buy the surplus eggs and thus boost the price paid to the farmer. Since mid-December purchases this season have totaled approximately 69,900,000 dozens.

Traders Assail Program.

Wholesale dealers and traders on the exchange have asserted that the consumer paid more for his eggs and received a poorer quality because of the stabilization program. They said the government got the top grades and the city consumer got what was left. The exchange reported the farmer had received consistently less for his eggs this year than he did last year.

The 1939-1940 stabilization program was by far the most ambitious of the egg buying undertakings, according to the exchange. The government purchased 10 times more eggs in the first half of 1940 than it did in the entire preceding year, it was said.

When the government started buying eggs this season, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation acted as purchasing and distributing agent. This was taken over by the Surplus Marketing association on July 1. The eggs were purchased for distribution to persons on relief and could not be resold. The money to pay for the eggs came from an allotted percentage of customs duties.

Buy 13 Million Dozens.

Up to and including Aug. 9, the two agencies had bought 13,000,000 dozens on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Government purchases thru July 30 from Chicago wholesale dealers totaled approximately 12,750,000 dozens.

The bulk of the purchases consisted of fresh graded firsts and extra firsts, with prices ranging as follows for the year: Fresh graded firsts, 15½ to 19 cents a dozen; extra firsts, 15¾ to 20 cents; storage packed firsts, 16 to 17¼ cents; storage packed extras, 16¼ to 17½ cents, and specials, 18½ cents.

On Aug. 1 the government was paying storage charges on more than 1,000,000 cases [30 dozen to a case], approximately 1-7 of all the eggs in storage on that date.

The egg dealers opposed the stabilization program on the grounds that it [1] stifles speculative interest, [2] hurts consumption, and [3] results in unwarranted production.

Investor Function Barred.

The dealers said that price stabilization has removed from the market the investor who used to buy eggs during flush production to carry thru to the lean months in hopes of receiving a better price than he paid originally for the eggs.

According to the dealers, of the 30,000,000 dozens of eggs bought at midwest producing points this year up to Aug. 30, the government took only top grades, leaving the poorer grades to be marketed thru regular channels.

The farmer, receiving the government's high price at a time when production normally would be falling off, invests in additional feed, holds his poultry off the market, or increases the size of his flock instead of letting his production decline, the traders said.

Production Now Low.

The government announced its withdrawal from the markets at a time when production has fallen to near the lowest level of the year. Prices on fresh graded firsts advanced to 18¾ cents a dozen on the Chicago wholesale market yesterday, the highest level since February, and 3 cents above the price at which the government last purchased this grade. Storage eggs sold at the highest prices since July, 1938. Futures rose ¼ cent a dozen.

The department of agriculture made no announcement regarding its policy in the future.

BUSINESS DONE BY CHECK FALLS, BUT EXCEEDS 1939

Business done by check in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Aug. 28, declined 1.1 per cent from a week earlier but was 3.4 per cent larger than in the corresponding 1939 week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Debits to deposit accounts [except interbank accounts] as reported by 158 banks in 41 clearing house cities, amounted to $1,055,182,000, compared with $1,067,374,000 a week earlier and $1,020,164,000 last year. Total debits during the 13 weeks ended Aug. 28 amounted to $15,025,560,000, which is 2.4 per cent more than the $14,672,693,000 of the corresponding period a year ago.

Business done by check in Chicago declined to $596,100,000 in the week from $609,288,000 a year ago.

7,221 Carloads of Oranges Sold; New Monthly Peak

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 3 [Special].—Setting what is believed to be a new record, 7,221 carloads of oranges were marketed in August, the Los Angeles County Chamber of Commerce reported today. The California Fruit Growers' exchange sold 13 per cent more packed oranges than in the 1939 month and 22 per cent more than the five year average for the month.

Year's British Buying Orders in U. S. Placed at 2 Billions

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3 (AP).—Great Britain has ordered a $2,000,000,000 bill of goods in the United States since she declared war on the third reich a year ago today.

British purchasing agents, who gave this figure, estimated that another $2,000,000,000 in orders would be forthcoming in the second war year ahead.

The British have bought nearly everything from fire hose to airplanes. The list runs into hundreds of items, but with the air war relentlessly growing more intense, emphasis has been constantly on planes. About $1,200,000,000 of the first year's contracts were for aircraft. Probably not more than $500,000,000 of the first year's contracts have yet been filled, however.

Many New Factories Built.

In many cases new factories—a number of them paid for by the British—had to be built before a start could be made on the orders. In some cases items had to be standardized with United States needs so that a single factory could handle both, and so delay ensued.

Details on just how many planes have been bought or delivered, their types, and similar information about other purchases are not available. Inquiries bring the polite but firm reply: "Sorry, but you know we are at war."

From other sources, however, indications are that Britain and the empire now are getting about 10 new military planes a day off American assembly lines. By next summer they seem to have hopes for about 70 a day. Expressions of doubt that the war will last that long are laughed at.

To pay the cash required by the neutrality law for their purchases, the British have been sending gold here at the rate of about $100,000,000 a week. It comes fresh from the mines of South Africa and Australia, from the bank vaults of London, but most often from Canada, where much was either stored before the war or landed by convoy afterward.

To transact a purchasing business larger than that of any commercial firm and surpassed only by the United States government's own procurement plans, the British have a rapidly growing staff now totaling more than 1,000 persons, mostly in New York. Most of them are Canadians or other British subjects, but many are Americans, even in high positions.

Arthur B. Purvis is their boss. An Englishman with 25 years' experience in Canada and the United States, he commutes by plane or train two or three times a week between here and New York.

Assumes French Contracts.

For months Purvis' activities were somewhat limited by the necessity of coöperating with a French purchasing mission. But the day that France surrendered, he bought up all the unfilled French contracts—probably a sizable portion of the $2,000,000,000 contract total in the last year.

At first the British purchasing was concentrated on airplanes and equipment which their own factories could not produce in sufficient quantities. With the prospect that some British factories might be bombed out of commission, the second year's program is expanding into new items.

CELANESE VOTES TO PAY CASH AND STOCK DIVIDENDS

Celanese corporation yesterday authorized a cash dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock and a stock dividend of one share of common for every 30 shares held.

The cash dividend is payable Oct. 15 to stock of record Sept. 17 and the stock dividend is scheduled for payment Dec. 10 to holders of record Oct. 11.

The company declared dividends of 50 cents cash and stock of one share for every 40 shares of common in February and June this year.

Dividends announced yesterday with payment and record dates, follow:

NUBBINS AND BIG EARS — THERE'LL BE LOTS OF BOTH

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP).—The federal and state departments of agriculture reported today that "not since 1936 have Illinois corn prospects been as uneven as prevail this year."

Summing up corn conditions in their joint weekly crop review, the departments said:

"The range is from nubbins and half filled ears to large, heavy, well filled ears. The rains came too late to repair drouth damage, altho they will tend to fill out maturing corn.

"This year's crop is later than usual, with about 38 per cent of the crop expected to be safe from frost by Sept. 10 and 64 per cent by Sept. 20.

"More than usual ear worm damage is apparent as the season advances, but recent rains continued to check chinch bug activity."

Of soy beans, the review said color and growth have been improved by rains and cooler weather.

Plowing for wheat was reported 54 per cent completed as compared with 42 per cent a year ago. Pasturage was reported much improved during the week.

BUSINESS ASKS MANY CHANGES IN TAX MEASURE

Witnesses Make Protests Before Senate Group.

is was suggested, could consider the particular problems of the many types of corporations affected by the proposed tax.

Carroad Advances Suggestion.

This idea was advanced by Kenneth Carroad of New York, chairman of the excess profits tax committee of the Federal Tax forum, and seconded by several other witnesses. Carroad proposed that the bill set up a "relief and hardships board" to handle problems certain to come up under such a tax system.

Senator Harrison asked if the commissioner of internal revenue could not be vested with power to pass upon specific cases. While Carroad insisted upon an agency with more independent status than the commissioner of internal revenue, he agreed to submit a draft of an amendment along lines proposed by Harrison. He also agreed to submit a similar amendment naming the board of tax appeals as the arbiter.

J. B. Short of Chicago, president of the J. B. Short Milling company, told the committee that his company expected no direct profits out of the defense program but yet stood to suffer a 72 per cent increase in taxes under the bill. He complained especially about the provision adding 4.1 per cent to the normal tax of corporations electing to take the earned income method of computing excess profits.

Vandenberg Raps Measure.

Short's story of the development of his business and its probable tax experience under operation of the bill provoked Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], to charge that the measure would work the most severe hardships on companies in the medium income brackets.

Kenneth Armstrong of Chicago, controler of Marshall Field & Co., said that the bill would impose taxes at exorbitant rates on his and other companies on the basis of profits which are not excessive. He told how the wholesale part of the Marshall Field & Co. business had been liquidated thru the absorption of much of the liquidating expenses by the retail end. He sketched how the tax would apply and make no provision for that deliberate reorganization of the firm.

Edwin D. Evans of Chicago, partner in the accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co., suggested language for an amendment to make more equitable a section of the bill dealing with the profits and losses accounted for by retirement by a corporation of its bonds or other indebtedness.

Others Ask for Charges.

Henry J. Richardson of St. Louis, representing National Slug Rejector, Inc., and John L. Connolly of St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company, wound up the day's testimony with pleas for changes that would make the bill more equitable in the computation of excess profits.

The house bill had no defenders among the witnesses. John L. Sullivan, assistant secretary of the treasury, is expected to testify tomorrow, along with William S. Knudsen, member of the defense commission, and Colin F. Stamm, chief of staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

Knudsen is expected to be questioned about features of the tax and their possible bearing upon industrial phases of the defense program. He will also be asked about amortization provisions which are designed to permit corporations investing in new plant facilities for defense purposes to set aside tax-free earnings at the rate of 20 per cent a year with which to liquidate this additional investment.

CHICAGO MART'S NEW SPECIALISTS BEGIN OPERATING

The newly appointed specialists and odd lot dealers began operations on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as the rule of the New York exchange went into effect preventing the eastern exchange's members in other cities from "making markets" in New York listed securities.

The Chicago exchange, countering the attempt of the "Big Board" to stop other exchanges from trading in its stock list, appointed 13 Chicago stock brokerage firms and 18 individuals to act as specialists and odd lot agents in those stocks when the eight firms, which were also members of the New York exchange, resigned from activities in those fields here. The new appointees are not members of the New York exchange and therefore are not subject to the rule.

DAIRY PRODUCERS PROVIDE FUNDS FOR AD CAMPAIGN

The executive committee of the American Dairy association, representing ten middle western and western states, has approved a $250,000 coöperative dairy products advertising campaign, Lord and Thomas, Chicago advertising agency that will handle the campaign announced yesterday.

The purpose of the campaign is to increase the sale of butter, cheese, milk, and ice cream.

Dan T. Carlson, president of the association, said that dairy producers in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Washington, and Montana will provide the initial advertising fund. California, North Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, and South Dakota will have funds available in the near future, he said.

Carlson said the association will open headquarters in Chicago soon.

AUGUST CONSTRUCTION IN CHICAGO INCREASES 63 PER CENT OVER '39

Chicago building construction of all types increased approximately 63 per cent in August over last year, Richard Schmidt, building commissioner, reported yesterday. He said permits were issued for 365 buildings to cost $4,174,665. In August, 1929, there were 265 permits for structures valued at $2,563,880. In July of this year there were 424 permits for buildings costing $3,669,299.

Permits issued during the first eight months of 1940 involved a valuation of $25,558,807, compared with $20,263,354 in the corresponding 1939 period.

Permits issued last month for single family homes numbered 275, compared with 363 in July and 201 in August, 1939. For the eight months of 1940, permits for homes numbered 2,020, compared with 1,660 for the parallel period last year.

POORER FAMILY MOST LIKELY TO SAY 'CHARGE IT'

One Out of 6 with $500 Income Has Account.

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—The low income families of the country are the greatest users of charge accounts, according to a survey made public today by the National Bureau of Economic Research. Data were provided in schedules of income and expenditures obtained from 60,000 families in urban, village, and rural areas of more than 30 states.

"From our sample data," said the bureau, "we have estimated that more than 2,700,000 families, or more than 11 per cent of all nonrelief families in the United States, had a net change in charge account debt during 1935-'36.

Frequency of Debt Varies.

"The frequency of such debt change varies according to income level; it was greatest in the lowest income group and declined gradually as income rose.

"More than one out of six families with annual incomes under $500, and almost every seventh family in the $500-$700 class, were indebted for charge account purchases in this period. Of the families with income of $1,000 to $2,000, approximately one out of ten was indebted, and of those with income between $2,000 and $5,000, the proportion ranged from less than one out of 11 to one out of 14.

Fewer in Higher Bracket.

"Of families with incomes of $5,000, only one in 15 was in debt for charge purchases.

"Of the families indebted for charge account purchases in 1935-'36, almost 90 per cent had incomes of less than $2,500 a year and 65 per cent fell below the $1,500 level. These two groups accounted for 85 per cent and 67 per cent, respectively, of the total net increase of $112,000,000 in charge account outstandings attributed to nonrelief families."

IMPORTS OF GOLD TUMBLE IN WEEK TO 36 MILLIONS

Foreign Nations Reduce Earmarked Holdings.

From a recent average of about $100,000,000 a week, gold imports tumbled in the week ended Aug. 28 to $36,549,136, the department of commerce reported yesterday.

Incoming shipments during the week included $23,681,479 from Canada, $4,172,492 from Mexico, $2,916,572 from Portugal, $1,129,695 from the United Kingdom, $1,174,508 from Hangkong, and $1,635,241 from South Africa.

Variations in the amount of gold received in the United States are traceable in a large measure to changes in the amount shipped by the British empire.

Withdraw 36 Millions.

Foreign countries withdrew $36,437,781 from their deposits of gold in the federal reserve system last week, reducing the total of the earmarked metal to $1,644,426,190.

Silver imports gained somewhat to $905,873, including $228,329 from Canada and $489,822 from Mexico. Exports were $7,792 of gold and $1,537 of silver, according to the department.

While the Canadian dollar lost ¼ of a cent to close at 87⅛ United States cents in foreign exchange trading at New York yesterday, the British pound clung at $4.03¼, close to the top price of the year. The Hongkong and Shanghai dollars lost around 1-10th of a cent each to close at 22.49 and 5.35 cents, respectively.

British Restrictions Tightened.

In London, the British treasury announced that restrictions on import of foreign money had been broadened by including Belgian Congo francs, Netherlands West Indies guilders, Newfoundland dollars, Panama dollars, Philippine pesos and Portuguese escudos on the list of currencies which must be offered for sale to the treasury.

United States and Canadian dollars, Swiss francs, Swedish kroner, Netherlands East Indies guilders and Argentine pesos were on the original list.

Call Meeting to Revise Diamond Shoe Capital

New York, Sept. 3 (AP).—A special meeting of shareholders of the Diamond Shoe corporation has been called for Sept. 9 to vote on a recapitalization plan. The plan calls for retirement of the 6½ per cent preferred stock, the issuance of new 5 per cent preferred stock, and a 2 for 1 split of the common shares. Part of the new preferred and common is to be offered for public sale.

FEDERAL CHANGE IN LIVING COSTS DATA CRITICIZED

Manufacturers' Group Analyzes Trend.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association yesterday criticized the United States department of labor's change in the basis of computing living costs as "exceedingly misleading."

"The purchasing value of the dollar on the basis of living costs, according to the national industrial conference board, which in 1923-'25 was 100 cents, was 115.7 cents in June, 1940,' the I. M. A.'s bulletin said. "In June, 1940, a worker could buy the same commodities for $86.40 that cost him $100 in 1923 or 1929.

Says Real Wages Are Up.

"Real weekly wages, or the purchasing power of money wages increased from 120.9 in May to 122.8 in June. In June, 1939, the level of real wages was 118.9. The United States department of labor has recently announced that it will take the period of 1935 to 1939, inclusive, as equaling 100 per cent.

"For years, the living cost index used by the department of labor has been based on costs for the years 1923-'25 as 100. As a result living costs in recent years have shown on the index as 85.

"The truth is that it costs less to live now, altho wages are universally higher than in 1929 and the department of labor has been constantly publicizing and proving this fact.

Change Measuring Stick.

"The only way to get away from it was to change the measuring stick, so the department of labor in its information bulletin for July 1 announced that it has revised its data on cost-of-living to represent more adequately the prevailing consumption habits of wage earners and lower salaried workers.

"It now includes in the cost of living such additional items as automobiles, fuel oil, electric refrigerators, radios, and beauty shop services. Thus the cost of living will naturally hang around 100. On March 15, using the new yardstick, the cost of living was 99.9 instead of the 85 which the old measuring stick indicated."

DIAMOND T.

Have government orders for supply and other types of trucks from Diamond T helped its earnings? What is the financial picture of the company and where is its stock listed? Where is its plant?—G. S.

Answer: In its midyear report the company said that loss of exports as a result of the war had been more than balanced by an increase in domestic sales, and that government orders indicated a substantial improvement in earnings for the second half of 1940.

Net sales of $5,265,763 and net income of $51,872, equal to 12 cents a share, after increased provision for federal taxes, were reported by the company for the first half of 1940. These results compared with net sales of $4,772,933 and net income of $98,928 or 23 cents a share in the first half of 1939.

Net income, earnings per share and dividends per share in recent years compared as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1935	$445,843	*$1.23	$3.60
1936	720,759	*2.02	†
1937	441,306	1.05	1.00
1938	1,154	.005	.25
1939	301,394	.72	.40

*Computed on the basis of the 10-for-1 splitup of the common stock in December, 1936. †Dividend of $5.80 a share was paid in 1936 before and 60 cents after the splitup.

The company is among the more important of the smaller truck manufacturers. Its plant is located in Chicago. Capitalization consists of 421,259 shares of $2 par common stock listed on the New York Stock exchange. Dividends have been paid consistently since 1925.

UNCLE SAM OIL.

Can you please tell me the value of stock in the Uncle Sam Oil company, Arizona, which I bought in 1917?—G. H. F.

Answer: Stock in the Uncle Sam Oil company, incorporated in Arizona, is worthless. The company was placed in receivership on April 20, 1907, according to a manual of extinct or obsolete companies, and the property ordered sold in 1924. After the assets were liquidated and the receiver discharged in 1925, there was nothing left for the stockholders. The company had alleged before its insolvency that it controled a refinery and oil lands at Cherryvale, Atchison, Kansas City, and Nevadosha, Kas., and at Tulsa, Okla.

RECORD DATE.

When must my name be on the books of the United States Steel corporation in order that I will get the recently announced $1 dividend on the common?—V. S.

Answer: On Aug. 20, 1940.

BROKERS FIGHT FOR SHARE OF DWINDLING TRADE

Wall Street Planning New Economy Steps.

New York, Sept. 3 [Special].—Despite languishing volume of business and month after month of operating deficits, Wall street has not given up hope.

Plans are being made to stimulate the securities business, most of them to take effect regardless of the result of the November election. A survey shows that if Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate, should lose, there are firms which will be dissolved, exhausted by 30 months of hoping against hope. There are others which will take the incident in stride.

Perhaps the keynote of these plans is "rationalization." There are firms in Wall street which are planning economies they never thought of before and of simplifying processes. Their attitude is regarded as a determined bid for survival.

Abandons Branch Houses.

One big wire house has decided that branch office business can no longer pay. Virtually all its branches are gone. To replace the lost revenue, it has enlarged its commodity department, has installed an investment advisory service which operates on a fee bases and has gone into underwriting in a modest way. The result, according to its senior partner, is that it is still doing almost as large a proportion of commission business as it did in the past, and thanks to commodities and underwriting, showed a modest profit for the first half of 1940.

Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt, on the other hand, does not feel that the day of branch office business has ended. With 39 branches, the firm has started a drive for the small investor, feeling that this is the field which Wall street has left virtually untouched.

Big Firm Starts Expansion.

Too few houses, it is said, have been geared to handle the $1,000 account at a profit. Now, with a small accounts department and an advertising campaign to persuade investors that their securities can be left safely with broker in custodian accounts, the biggest house in the street has started a strong drive for expansion.

There are other houses which are laying their plans on the basic idea that a Willkie defeat will give them their opportunity. They expect a wholesale exodus, in that event, of the borderline houses which have been holding on with toenails, eyelashes and prayer books for the last couple of years. If they leave the field, these hopeful houses believe, somebody will have to do the business and the strong units able to handle it will move back into the profit column.

Settle Rubber Company Strike; Terms Withheld

The strike which has tied up the Dryden Rubber company, 1014 South Kildare avenue, since Aug. 22 has been settled, it was announced last night by Frank Groser, president of local 108 of the United Rubber Workers of America, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Groser stated some of the company's 900 employés returned to work yesterday and that the others would be back in 10 days. He declined to state the terms of the settlement. The company manufactures rubber parts for automobiles.

Color Map Showing British Possessions in Which United States Will Lease Sites for Naval and Air Bases

NOTE—The British ambassador's note to Secretary of State Hull specifies that the naval and air bases leased to the United States shall be on the Avalon peninsula of Newfoundland and the southern coast of that colony; on the east coast and Great Bay of Bermuda; on the eastern side of the Bahamas; the southern coast of Jamaica; the western coast of St. Lucia; the west coast of Trinidad in the Gulf of Paria; in the island of Antigua; and within 50 miles of Georgetown in British Guiana.

LOCATIONS OF BASES GREAT BRITAIN WILL LEASE TO US ●

OUR PRESENT BASES IN THE GULF OF MEXICO, IN THE CARIBBEAN AND ON THE WEST COAST. (THERE ARE NINE BASES ON OUR EAST COAST FROM PORTSMOUTH, N.H., TO CHARLESTON, S.C.) ■

BASES WE SHOULD HAVE ON AND NEAR THE WEST COAST FOR ADEQUATE DEFENSE OF PANAMA CANAL AND TO PREVENT ENEMY FROM OBTAINING MEXICAN BASES ◆
